MEMORIAL DAY

Perfect Weather on Monday for the Usual Observance by Charles Ward Post, G.A.R.

Memorial Day was observed this morning on Monday, May 31st, and proved to be one of the most beautiful days of the year, so far as the weather was concerned. The exercises in this city were, as usual, under the direction of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., and while numbers were noticeably smaller than there was a larger number who took advantage of the automobiles provided by thoughtful friends, the enthusiasm of the old veterans was as strong as ever and their patriotism, in more ardent, if such were possible, than it was fifty years ago.

The morning was devoted to the sad task of decorating the graves of deceased comrades, the largest detail proceeding to the Newton Cemetery, where 228 graves of Civil War veterans were decorated, 3 of the War of 1812, and 1 each of the Mexican and Spanish Wars.

Another detail under direction of M. Sergeant James E. Reid, decorated the graves at St. Mary's Cemetery, Newton Lower Falls, where Rev. B. White gave the oration and Rev. P. Sharpe offered the prayer. In connection with this service, the usual progressive exercises were held on the steps of the Charles River immediately adjoining the church yard, and the graves were cast into the water in memory of the sailor dead.

Graves were decorated in the Centre Cemetery by Comrade John Wood and in the West Newton Cemetery by Comrade S. A. Langley. Graves about town cemeteries were decorated by arrangements with the local branches of the Grand Army, instead of details from Charles Ward Post.

After the morning exercises the Post was entertained at luncheon by the Newton Centre Improvement Association at the engine house in that village.

The more formal exercises of the afternoon began at the Newton Centre when, where the usual parade was formed under direction of Lieut. Col. E. Cobb of Newton Centre as chief marshal, with Col. Walter L. Thorne as adjutant general and Capt. F. Tandy as chief of staff.

comrades in automobiles, and the city government.

The parade was reviewed by Mayor Childs and the city government at the corner of Beacon and Centre streets, and marched thru Beacon and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery and gathered around the Soldiers' Monument, surrounded by a large number of citizens.

The Misses Helen M. Bosworth, Frances M. Cahill and Agnes I. and Elizabeth K. Sheridan, dressed in white with shoulder streamers of red, white and blue and carrying the national colors served as markers at the four corners of the monument.

The exercises here consisted of reports of the morning work from the various details, prayer by the chaplain, selections by the band, placing of flowers around the base of the monument by the city government and a detail from the Post, the Gettysburg address by little Miss Mary McElroy, a salute to the dead, given by the band and three volleys of rifles, singing of America, a benediction by Rev. G. H. Parkinson of Newton Centre, and "Taps" sounded from different parts of the Cemetery.

The usual banquet was served at 4.30 in Temple hall, Commander J. Coolidge Coffin presiding. After disposing of the good things which were on the tables, Commander Coolidge called for a selection by the band as preliminary to the after dinner oratory.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs was received with three hearty cheers and responded with the best speech of the day. He said in part,—"We are here to honor the living as well as to cherish the memory of the dead. It is gratifying to see that our people are devoting the day more to meditation and sober thinking instead of to merry-making and sports. To day is especially noteworthy for it marks the semi-centennial of the Great Surrender at Appomattox, an event which added new lustre to our country and new glory to our flag. God grant that when the warring factions across the sea terminate that great struggle, they will meet with the same spirit as that which characterized Appomattox. The Mayor compared the loss in the battles of the Civil War with those of other great battles in other countries and showed

NURSES GRADUATED

Interesting Exercises at the Newton Hospital Training School

The Annual Graduating Exercises of the Class of 1915, Newton Hospital Training School, took place Wednesday afternoon at 4.00 o'clock P. M. The large tent erected north of the hospital buildings in which the exercises were to have taken place blew down soon after three o'clock and as a result arrangements were made for the program on the lawn south of the Nurses' Home Building. In spite of the cold and penetrating wind the two hundred and fifty to three hundred friends of the graduates, past graduates of the school and many interested supporters of this most excellent institution found the exercises most interesting and enjoyable.

The exercises here consisted of reports of the morning work from the various details, prayer by the chaplain, selections by the band, placing of flowers around the base of the monument by the city government and a detail from the Post, the Gettysburg address by little Miss Mary McElroy, a salute to the dead, given by the band and three volleys of rifles, singing of America, a benediction by Rev. G. H. Parkinson of Newton Centre, and "Taps" sounded from different parts of the Cemetery.

The procession was then reformed and passed thru Walnut street to the Post hall in the Masonic building at Newtonville, being reviewed by the Chief Marshal and staff near the Newton Clubhouse.

The usual banquet was served at 4.30 in Temple hall, Commander J. Coolidge Coffin presiding. After disposing of the good things which were on the tables, Commander Coolidge called for a selection by the band as preliminary to the after dinner oratory.

PRESENTS FLAG

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R. Furnish Grammar Schools with Flags for each Room

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., of Newton has added to its patriotic work in that city, by presenting 36 flags to the grammar schools in Newton, Newtonville, Newton Centre and the Highlands, so that every room not already provided with one, could be so furnished.

It seems quite necessary in these stirring times, that every means should be used to instill in the rising generation, especially those of foreign birth or parentage, those lessons in the history of our nation and patriotic endeavor, for which our national emblem stands; with the co-operation of our teachers, there is no way in which this can be done and reach so many young people as through the school, and a flag is as necessary a part of the school equipment as maps and books, to properly teach to them, love of country and reverence for that country's flag.

The flags were presented at the Memorial Day exercises, by Mrs. Franklin Smith at the Bigelow school, Newton, and the Horace Mann school, Newtonville, Mrs. Wm. Logan, Newton Highlands, at the Hyde school and Mrs. S. A. Wiswell at the Mason school, Newton Centre.

The staff on which each flag was mounted bore a plate with this inscription:

The gift of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR G. A. R.

The Memorial Service of Charles Ward Post, No. 62, Grand Army of the Republic of Newton, was held in Grace Church last Sunday morning.

The veterans dressed in their complete uniforms preceded the choir boys, and occupied the first seven rows of pews on each side of the middle aisle of the church. The stars and stripes were placed on one side of the chancel, while the naval flag was placed on the opposite side.

Patriotic hymns and anthems were sung by the choir and the congregation, and the sermon by Rev. Laurens MacLure was suited to the occasion.

At the close of the service the bugle calls were given, first from the centre of the church, and then from each side.

Marion Lucile Perry, Jean Alberta Chipman, Dorothy Adams Trites, Lucie Nelson, Anna Louise Daniels, Marguerite Breitzke, Olga Cecelia Engebretsen.

WIN MANY PRIZES

Awarded C. F. Eddy Co. at Boston Work Horse Parade

For several years the C. F. Eddy Company of West Newton has had one of the largest entry lists in the Boston Work Horse Parade held annually on Memorial Day. Last Monday the firm entered nineteen horses, all of which received first prizes, save one. As several of their teams have won three straight first prizes they will probably compete in the 1916 parade for the championship. On account of their long service (27 to 30 years) Mr. Patrick Donahue, Mr. Thomas Clark and Mr. James Spikes were awarded special prize medals for teamsters who had been in service over 15 years. Other drivers who entered were Messrs. James Fox, E. Merritt, William Smith, William Green, William Fitzsimmons, Walter McKay, James Bland, P. Welch, Thomas Rouse, Patrick F. Helton and James Evans. In the old horse division, Major, 18 years old, driven by Michael Fitzsimmons was awarded third prize.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Campaign Committee of the Newton Equal Suffrage League will hold a Rummage Sale at 299 Water-town street, Nonantum, Mass., on June the 10th, 11th, and 12th.

All saleable articles, especially underclothing, men's trousers, women's dresses, shirt waists, children's clothes, etc., are earnestly solicited. Household goods such as chairs, tables, pictures, and vases sell well. Articles hopelessly broken or faded finery are not so desirable, but anything of practical use will be most welcome.

The room will be open on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, June 7th, 8th, and 9th, to receive goods. If it is not convenient for you to send your contribution, kindly mail a post card giving address plainly to Miss Martha L. Lathe, Vernon Court, Newton, and the package will be called for.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE RALLY

Monday evening, June 7, in the hall of the Classical High School, Newtonville, Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard University and the Honorable Charles L. Underhill will speak. Come and hear what 90 per cent of the women in the State of Massachusetts want. Be fair to the majority.

Come and learn the effects of suffrage in the states that are unfortunately enough to have passed the law.

HEAR CITY OFFICIALS

Newton Highlands Residents Learn Something of the Work of the City and Local Plans for Community Day

The Newton Highlands Improvement Association held an interesting meeting on Tuesday evening in Lincoln Hall of that village, when it entertained Mayor Childs and the various city officials of Newton.

Brief remarks were made by the Mayor, Chief Randlett of the Fire Dept., Street Commissioner Stuart, Chief Mitchell of the Police Dept., Forest Commissioner Colton, and Buildings Commissioner Forbush. Numerous questions were asked of these city officials and the whole evening was entertaining and instructive.

President James Kingman was in charge and introduced the various speakers.

Mayor Childs congratulated the Association on its civic spirit and on its accomplishments. He told the audience that ward 5 got its share of city money, although it did not get all it wanted or actually needed. Its aldermen had the "punch" and had been able not only to start things but to carry them thru. He wished the whole city might have the same spirit; that it might become an All Newton spirit and would work for the benefit of the whole city. He believed that the strength of the community did not lie in education, in labor, in industry, in patriotism or in charity, but in the character of its citizenship.

Chief Randlett told of the recent changes towards motorizing his department and of the better fire protection afforded by motor apparatus. 75 per cent of all the fires, he said, were extinguished with chemicals. While the department had made partial inspections for fire prevention for the past 20 years, it now would establish a monthly inspection of the business portions of the city. The principal cause of all fires he declared was sheer carelessness and instanced the month of March when there were 334 calls on the department, 28 coming in one day, and on one afternoon all of the apparatus in the city was at work the entire afternoon.

An amusing controversy over burning of leaves was started by Mr. E. H. Ruby and which involved the Fire, Street and Police departments before it was over. Mr. Ruby believed that the city ought to carry off the leaves or burn them. He was told that it violated the state law to burn them and that it would be quite costly to take them away. He was apparently satisfied when Chief Mitchell intimated that the police did not intend to enforce any law which did not have the support of public opinion.

Street Commissioner Stuart said that his department had appropriations amounting to $293,000 to which would be added the amounts to be used for sewer construction, and explained the different items in the budget. He thought the Maintenance of Streets item the most important in the entire city budget and told how it was expended and said that the poorest streets in the city were south of Boylston street. He had an average of 265 employees, with an average pay of $2.36 per day. He said his department could take care of the leaves if they had the money to do so and said that it cost $3.00 a load to carry off the paper, etc. He answered many questions regarding the oiling of streets.

Chief Mitchell told of the qualification necessary for a police officer and said his 84 men covered as much territory in Newton as would be included in the cities of Somerville, Cambridge and the towns of Brookline and Watertown combined. Some of the routes he said could not be covered in an entire day by one officer. He wanted more money and more men for his department. He urged every citizen to report to police headquarters at once of any suspicious persons or incidents in their neighborhood.

Forest Commissioner Colton said that his department had the charge of shade trees, moth suppression, parks, cemeteries and mosquitoes. The money for mosquitoes was entirely inadequate to do effective work and he had found it difficult to obtain the co-operation of land owners. He estimated the value of the shade trees on the public streets at a million and a half dollars and said that trees were valued on the basis of $1.00 per square inch of a cross section of the tree, one of 15 inches in diameter being valued at $176. Newton had 15,700 trees on its streets of an average diameter of 10.8 inches, or $92 per tree. His department had but nine sprayers and as the spraying season was only 6 weeks it was quite a job to cover a city the size of Newton. The department was basing its assessments for moth work this year on a fixed charge of 40 cents an hour. In answer to questions Mr. Colton said that the lead used for spraying does not injure fruit, and that he knew of only two or three cases of chestnut blight in the whole city.

Commissioner Forbush said that his department tried to make one dollar do the work of two. There were over 60 public buildings valued at two and a quarter millions with an appropriation of $20,000 for incidental repairs and $19,000 in 1914 for special work. There was about $1000 worth of glass broken each year and before motor apparatus was installed something like $1500 was required annually for repairing stalls. He said that the Building Code had worked admirably, and he had had but one prosecution under it. In reply to questions Mr. Forbush said that fire retarding shingles cost no more than the wood; that the asphalt shingle was made of wool waste ground to a pulp, run thru hot asphalt and given a rock surface. In the roll this same material had been in use for 20 years and roof covering which had been down that length

EDITORIAL

Newton Highlands has set a good example to the rest of the city in entertaining the city officials and learning something of the work of the various departments. The average citizen knows so little of what the city can and cannot do, that these meetings would accomplish a great deal of good. There is but one criticism of the meeting at Newton Highlands. Only one side was heard and the impression might be received by the average citizen that not enough money is being appropriated for city business. Each city official, properly and naturally sees first the needs of his own department. Mr. Stuart could spend $100,000 more in meeting the demands for better streets. Mr. Forbush knows where $50,000 ought to be expended in necessary repairs on public buildings. Chief Randlett would like to have motor apparatus all over the city and a permanent fire department. Chief Mitchell could use 50 additional policemen in properly covering a city of the size of Newton. To understand the whole situation, therefore, the well-posted member of the aldermen should be present at such a meeting and tell the people how much time and thought and work is given by the tax levying body in an effort to meet all the legitimate demands for city work, to co-ordinate the city departments and still keep the grand total within the ability of the taxpayers of the city.

That Middlesex County has undreamed of potentialities, politically speaking, is very evident from a comparison of the total votes cast for president in 1912. Middlesex County cast 102,867 votes, a larger total than that cast by 14 of the states of the union ranging from New Hampshire with 87,900 to Nevada with 20,000 and including in order North Dakota, Montana, Louisiana, Rhode Island, Mississippi, Vermont, Florida, South Carolina, New Mexico, Delaware, Wyoming and Arizona. The Middlesex County vote nearly equals that of 104,000 of Idaho and is but a few thousands behind Utah, South Dakota, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas and Maine, the highest of this group with 129,000. How many voters in this city know even the names of our county officials or the extent of their power and influence?

The question of reviving the military drill among the boys in the high schools is one which might be discussed at the present time with a view to learn whether or not the training so given might not be of some value to the community in the future. The Graphic welcomed the abolition of military drill some years ago, but it now recognizes the fact that the present state of war ought to open our eyes to the possibilities which face this country in the future, and believes that an open study of this question might be of service.

Anonymous articles on bathing in the Charles River, an interesting suggestion regarding Nonantum Square, have been received, but as they are not endorsed by the name of the person writing or forwarding the same, it will be impossible to publish them.

The reciting of the Gettysburg address at the Newton Cemetery Memorial Day by one of the pupils of the Bigelow school was a pleasing innovation, and Little Miss McElroy fully deserved the applause which her recitation called forth.

Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, have done the public schools a patriotic service in presenting each of the rooms in the grammar grades with an American flag.

Our state tax continues to mount rapidly. When will it slow up a bit?

ANNUAL FIELD DAY

Newton residents should take particular pains to guard their health next Monday afternoon and evening, as over 40 of the physicians of the city will attend the annual field day of the Newton Medical Club, to be held on the grounds of the Belmont Springs Country Club. The feature of the afternoon will be a ball game between the "Kids" and the "Kidlets," the age of forty years marking the dividing line. The annual dinner will be served in the evening.

SACRIFICE DAY

The next great date on the calendar of Equal Suffrage in Massachusetts will be Suffrage "Sacrifice" Day, June 7th.

On that date collections will be made of all articles that the lovers of the cause are willing to give as their final tribute to swell the campaign fund. Little money is always acceptable, the idea of "Sacrifice" Day takes on a deeper significance than a monetary gift.

June 8 and 9 will be given over to private sales and June 10th (Thursday) will be given over to a public auction at one of the leading auction rooms. The net proceeds of sale will go to the general campaign fund of the State Headquarters.

The leagues throughout the State will work in conjunction with the State Headquarters and hold their public auction at Leonard & Co.'s auction rooms on Bromfield street, Thursday, June 10th.

Already such articles as gold and silver pieces, paintings, vases, rugs, rare prints, books, chairs, desks, hand embroidered sets, Irish lace, curtains, victrolas, pianolas, cut glass, old dishes, rare autograph letters and so on, are being held for "Sacrifice" Day.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

An interesting program was given last week Thursday at the Horace Mann School in honor of Memorial Day and at which Mrs. Franklin E. Smith in behalf of Sarah Hull Chapter D. R., presented the school with flags for each room. The flags were accepted in behalf of the school by Little Virginia Gardiner in the following original speech.

"In behalf of the members of the Horace Mann and Claffin Schools, I accept these banners, which you have so kindly given to us. We extend to you and to the soldiers which you represent, our heartiest thanks and deepest appreciation. May they instill in us that same patriotism, courage and loyalty, which fired the hearts of the brave men who gave their lives, that this nation might live. May we grow to be such strong and noble men and women, that we shall be worthy of our country and the country which it represents."

In addition to the flags the program included recitations and singing.

INSTALLATION

At the meeting of the Daughters of St. George, No. 203, last Wednesday evening, past president and supreme deputy, Mrs. Coley of Boston installed the following officers: President, Mrs. P. Marden; vice-president, Mrs. J. Nevers; past president, Mrs. J. Duke; 1st conductor, Mrs. H. Sheppardson; 2nd conductor, Mrs. S. Shuker; 1st trustee, Mrs. Yates; 2nd trustee, Miss Chadwick; 3rd trustee, Mrs. Heirs; inside guardian, Mrs. C. Fisher; outside guardian, Mrs. J. Heald. The charter is to remain open for six months. It costs $2 to join and $1.00 for doctor's examination. There is $5 a week sick benefit and free service of a physician.

COMMENCEMENT CONCERT

The annual commencement concert by the students of Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, was given Wednesday evening in the School Hall, with a large gathering of alumnae and parents of students present. The program comprised piano, vocal and violin selections by Miss Dale M. Whipple, Marie H. Klenze, M. Adolphia Gamsey, Helen L. Benson, Marguerite Hall, Ethel L. Robinson, Anna L. Cornwall, Ruth Harris, Sarah Hammond, Marion H. Griffin, Katherine A. Hoag, Marion H. Newland, Pauline B. Ray, Irene R. Apfelbaum, Rose Baer, Katherine Dearborn and Helen Benson.

LODGES

The Garden City P. P. B. will have a lawn party next Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Goldie Hoar on Webster park, West Newton. If weather is unfavorable it will be held Thursday evening, June 10th.

CITY HALL

Buildings Commissioner Forbush has made arrangements for an expert examination this month of all elevators and dumb waiters in the city.

DEATH OF MRS. BAILEY

Mrs. Nancy J. Bailey, widow of Otis Bailey, passed away Saturday morning in the 86th year of her age. Mrs. Bailey had resided in Newtonville for many years, where she had endeared herself to a large circle of friends. She is survived by one son, Mr. Thomas Bailey of Washington, D. C., and one daughter, Mrs. Marcellus W. Chase of Newtonville.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at her late residence on Austin street. Impressive services were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. O. P. Gifford, D.D., pastor of the Brookline Baptist Church; Dr. Gifford was a former pastor and an old friend of the family.

Two sacred selections, "Face to Face" and "Lead, Kindly Light," were sung by Miss Gertrude Johnson of Waltham.

There were several beautiful floral tributes, testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances.

The burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The vetoes of Governor Walsh of two of the railroad bills have kept the legislature in session all this week, with conferences and attempts to draft compromise measures to meet the wishes of all concerned. Mr. Henry B. Day of West Newton, one of the Federal trustees of the Boston & Maine Railroad, was one of the speakers at the committee hearings. Governor Walsh has scored a point on the Republican Legislature in his position on these bills and it was not only a mighty poor business, but extremely poor politics to give the Governor the opportunity of which he has cleverly taken advantage.

The state tax of $7,500,000 is exactly one million more than last year and while half that amount is caused by the decennial census, it would seem as if stronger efforts might have kept down some of the additional amounts. Newton's share of this tax is $171,600 or $17,600 more than last year and will affect our present tax rate twenty cents.

MR. PAYNE DEAD

Mr. Edward J. Payne died at his home Friday morning at Newton Centre. Mr. Payne was born in Lowell in 1844 and was the son of the late James Payne of Lawrence. He was connected with the Boston office of the Pacific Mills, where he had been for forty-six years. In 1873 Mr. Payne married Elizabeth Smith, daughter of the late Joel H. Smith, formerly of Newton. He is survived by a widow and a daughter, Mrs. A. W. Rayner of Newton Centre.

ROADWAY TO BE CLOSED

The carriage road on Commonwealth avenue, between the Wauwinnet farm at West Newton and Auburn street, Auburndale, will probably be closed for the remainder of the summer, owing to the construction of a five-foot sewer pipe on the Metropolitan water and sewer system. When completed the system will connect with the system at Weston and extend to Chestnut Hill.

I. O. O. F. MEMORIAL DAY

The several branches of the Order of Odd Fellows in the City of Newton will observe Memorial Day with services in the Methodist Church, Newtonville on Sunday evening, June 6th, 1915, at 7:30 o'clock.

Dreams.

It is a common saying that one dreams of that which one has been thinking most about. This is the exception and not the rule. The dream may be of something that one thought of at some time, but possibly not for years, that would not be recalled in waking hours, which had lain dormant in the mind to be prosaically rehearsed through some operation of physical functions, such as impeded respiration, feverish conditions, some posture of the body, a late supper, possibly ended with dessert of mince pie, stomachic distress, clogging of the circulation or some bodily pain.

World's Oldest University.

Founded in the year 972 A. D., the Mohammedan university of El-Azhar ("the Luminous") is the oldest existing university in the world. It is the Oxford of the Moslem world, and is at present attended by upward of 10,000 students of all ages, and from every eastern country, from the Caucasus to Somaliland. Board and lodging is free. The teaching consists chiefly of Mohammedan dogma, which is laboriously committed to memory from sacred books.

Pipefish Has "Pocket."

The pipefish, as it is called, from the length of its jaws, has a pocket on the under side of its body nearly half its length. It is found in the male species only, and is the only part of its body which is unprotected by large flat plates, which take the place of scales in its protective armor. In this pocket the young fish are carried very similar to the way the kangaroo carries its young.

Impediments.

I cannot call riches better than the baggage of virtue; the Roman word is better, impedimenta for as the baggage is to an army, so is riches to virtue; it cannot be spared nor left behind, but it hinders the march; yea, and the care of it sometimes loseth or disturbeth the victory; of great riches there is no real use, except it be in the distribution; the rest is but conceit.—Bacon.

Worse Than Work.

"After a man has loafed awhile," said Uncle Eben, "he generally decides that he'd rather go to work than be so lonesome."

COOKING LIVER.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Steamed Prunes.
Oatmeal.
Larded Liver.
Toast, Jam or Jelly.
Coffee or Tea.

LIVER is a staple breakfast food, though it gives savor to the mid-day meal as well.

Liver With Toast.—Chop up the liver, mix with some sweet herbs, a little minced onion and salt pork and two or three tablespoonfuls of breadcrumbs. Put all together in a crock, dredge with flour, cover and set in a slow oven for an hour and a half. Remove to a heated dish and serve with toast points and parsley border.

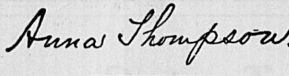

With Piquant Sauce.

Larded Liver.—Take a fresh liver and lard it with fat bacon. Make a pickle of vinegar, sliced onion, thyme, parsley, bay leaf, half a bud of garlic, salt and pepper and put liver into it. Let it stand for twenty-four hours, drain and place in the oven in a buttered roasting pan. Baste with the strained pickle juice. When done place on platter and cover with sauce piquante, made as follows:

Put into a saucepan two ounces of butter, a sliced carrot and six sliced shallots. Add a bunch of savory herbs, half a bay leaf, pepper, salt and a thin slice of lean ham. Let simmer until they form a brown glaze, then add four tablespoonfuls of vinegar and half a pint of good stock, with a lump of sugar. Simmer, skim off fat, strain and when very hot serve with the liver.

An Elaborate Dish.

Braised Liver.—Take one calf's liver, one onion, one stalk of celery, two sprigs of parsley, one pint of stock or water, one tablespoonful of mushroom ketchup, one carrot, one bay leaf, one turnip, quarter pound of larding pork, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoonful of flour. Wash the liver and lard it the same as a fillet of beef. Wash and cut the vegetables into slices and put them in the bottom of a braising pan if you have one, if not in a deep baking pan. Lay the liver on the bed of vegetables, add the stock or water, put a lid over the pan and bake in a moderate oven for two hours. When done put liver on a dish. Put the butter in a frying pan, stir it over the fire until a nice brown, add the flour, mix and strain the liquor from the other pan into this, which should be about a half pint. Stir continually until it boils, then add the Worcestershire sauce and mushroom ketchup. Pour over and around the liver and serve.

FRUIT CHARLOTTES.

THESE dainty desserts may be prepared with almost any fruit. When fresh fruit cannot be had canned fruit may be substituted. Pineapple Charlotte.—Take one cupful of heavy cream and whip it until very stiff, add one-half cupful of powdered sugar, the stiffly beaten white of an egg, one-half cupful of grated pineapple, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice and a little of the grated yellow rind. Line a mold with sponge or other small cakes, fill with the cream and chill on ice.

A Homely Dish.

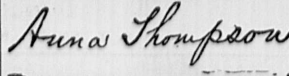

Apple Charlotte With Raisins.—Get a pan of the right size, put a tablespoonful of butter in pan, put in a layer of sliced apples; sprinkle with sugar and grated nutmeg, then add a layer of raisins. Repeat until dish is full, with buttered toast on top. Beat one or two eggs, add two cupfuls of milk and pour over all. Bake until apples are cooked. Serve with cream and sugar.

An Ornamental Dessert.

Orange Charlotte.—Take half a box of gelatin, pour over it half a cupful of cold water and soak half an hour. Then pour over it a cupful of boiling water, adding the juice of a lemon, a cupful of orange juice and a little of the yellow part of the rind grated. Whip to a foam a pint of cream and add to the gelatin mixture. Continue to beat until it thickens and then turn into a glass or china mold lined with sections of sweet orange.

Dainty and Sweet.

Maple Charlotte.—Take one-half ounce gelatin. Soak in cold water. Dissolve by standing it over hot water. Put three tablespoonfuls of grated maple sugar in a saucepan, stir till melted, add one pint of cream. Let the mixture boil gently to a creamy thickness, cool slightly, add yolk of three eggs, four tablespoonfuls of maple sugar, one teaspoonful vanilla, two tablespoonfuls of cold milk beaten till light. Stir in gelatin, set aside to get cold. Line a mold with sponge cake cut in slices. Pour in the cream and cover the top of the mold with thin slices of cake, garnish with spun maple sugar and whipped sweetened cream poured over top of cake. This dessert should stand two hours on ice before serving.

OLD AUBURDALE

At a recent meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. F. N. Peloubet made the following response to the toast of "Old Auburndale."

An old Handbook of Newton published in 1839 gives this description of Auburndale which certainly is humorous, tho' unintentionally so.

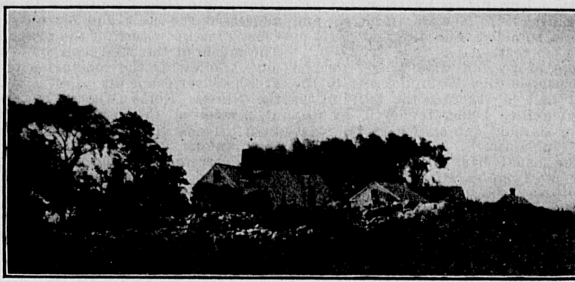

"Auburndale is one of the loveliest villages in America, lying between the shaggy hills that enwall the picturesque bays of the Charles, which bends gracefully around the bold plateau in curves of surpassing beauty."

"Before threading its leafy aisles" it adds "we may languidly glance at the scene and peaceful history of the place." A few bits of this scanty history I am asked to give you.

Auburndale originally belonged to William Robinson who had a farm of 200 acres here in the 17th century and which he bequeathed to his sons. Until 1847 Auburndale was little more than a wilderness.

In 1729 Auburn street was laid out as "a way from the fording-place in Charles river against the town in Weston to the bounty road that goeth from the Lower Falls to Watertown." (Washington street to Weston Bridge). Other roads were simply those which connected houses with the main thoroughfares.

Woodland road (or avenue) was in 1750 the range way (roughly made road) over which the Worcester Turnpike passed from Newton Centre to Weston Bridge along Fuller street and was for many years one of the important highways of the country.

OLD BOURNE HOUSE, AUBURDALE

In 1809 a new road was built by the Upper Falls (Boylston street) and Woodland road (avenue) became little more than a cart path.

Among the earlier settlers were Rev. Mr. Pigeon (for whom Pigeon hill roadside was named), Rev. Mr. Woodbridge and Mr. Partridge.

The Name: These men, it is said, held many consultations in regard to a name for the little hamlet and finally settled upon Auburndale (two syllables) suggested possibly by Goldsmith's poem beginning "Auburn loveliest village of the plain," or the name may have come in this way, one of the Pigeon family while a student at Harvard College went often to Mt. Auburn and noticing the similarity between those hills and those about this place wrote of it as "Sweet Auburn" and later the date was added.

How grateful we ought to be that it was not called Pigeonville or Woodbridge or Partridgeville! The name Auburndale has a most attractive sound and a real charm. Auburndale early received the name of "Saints Rest" because of the number of ministers who settled here "exhausted," as her Handbook says "in their long battle with the Prince of the Powers of darkness."

This name may perhaps have kept some people from settling here and some ministers have hesitated about coming here to live.

A minister in West Newton was urged to move here from that village "away from the world's people," but dryly remarked "I don't know but I like a sprinkling of the world's people."

In 1847 a land company was organized and bought up much of the Auburndale tract and laid it out in avenues and streets and the village began to grow rapidly.

Up to that time there were but six houses in Auburndale and Riverside.

An Auburndale lady said "In these early days she could accommodate in her house to tea all the people in the hamlet."

In this year 1847 Mr. Abijah Johnson, father of Mr. Charles Hubbard Johnson moved here, bought land and erected many houses.

In 1865 the population rose to nearly 700, in 1878 to about 1300, then to 2000.

The Railroad

Railroads were as unknown in these early days as automobiles or telephones.

In 1834, April 7th the first Railroad train "whizzed or wheezed" up to the terminal station at Newton Corner, running no farther. The locomotive was called "the Meteor." The return to Boston was made in 33 minutes. On the second trip it broke down several times. At first three round trips were made daily, fare 75 cents. In 1844 there were flag stations at Newtonville and Auburndale. In 1847 Rev. Mr. Pigeon succeeded in getting a few trains to stop here. It was a wonderful sight to see these trains pass by.

I am told that Mrs. Walker, who at this time lived in Waltham, came from there to Auburndale to see them pass.

The rate of speed of railroads was at first 10 to 12 miles, then 15 to 18.

In 1846 Prof. Louis Agassiz wrote to his mother of our railroad, now the B. & A. "Leaving Boston I went by railroad to New Haven."

"The rapidity of the locomotion is frightful. There is something infernal in the power of steam, carrying such heavy masses along with the swiftness of lightning. 'Never mind,' he says, 'We go fast, we gain time.'"

A little red school house on Auburn street was the first in the hamlet.

The first church (Congregational) was built in 1857.

There were plenty of good times in these early days tho' there were no Bridge parties or theatres or Women's Clubs.

There were picnics and sleigh rides and coasting—informal musicales, church socials held in the private houses and surely chestnutting. The

"MICE AND MEN"

The members of the senior class at Mt. Ida School presented the four-act comedy "Mice and Men," on Tuesday evening before a large and enthusiastic audience. The scenes of the play were "Mark Embury's Study"; the living-room in Mr. Embury's house nearly two years later; the Garden of Belsize House (the Masquerade Ball) and the Garden of the South Cottage.

The characters were excellently portrayed by the young ladies, many of whom displayed an extraordinary amount of talent, and gave evidence of careful training during rehearsals.

The cast included, Miss Ruth Hammond, as "Peter," Embury's servant; Miss Mildred Weston, as "Mrs. Deborah," Embury's housekeeper; Miss Margaret Roberts who was very clever in the role of "Mark Embury," a scholar, scientist and philosopher; and Katherine Austin, who was equally clever as "Roger Goodlake," his friend and neighbor; Miss Beryl Varnell represented "Joanna," wife of Goodlake, and Miss Clara Livingstone, "matron of the Foundling Hospital," Miss Ruth Stevens was Beadle, of the Foundling Hospital, and Miss Clarissa Hazelton, made a hit as "Peggy, Little Britain"; Miss Maude Peacock, as "Captain George Lovell," Miss Edith Phelps, as "Molly," a kitchen maid; and Miss Gladys Tupper, as "Kit Barnier," a fiddler, and Miss Janette Seward as "Sir Harry Trimblestone," played the parts assigned them most creditably.

An interesting feature was the eight little foundlings, the Misses Alma Eichler, Charlotte Woods, Jeanette Hay, Laura Sibley, Gladys Parsons, Clarissa Cornell, Evelyn Holyoke, and Ruth Chenoweth.

The successful comedy was given under the direction of Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, teacher of Elocution at Mt. Ida, and an excellent up-to-date program of music was furnished by Knight's Orchestra.

"OUR FINEST MEMORY"

Rev. Harry Lutz, in his Memorial Day sermon at Channing Church, Sunday, took for his topic "Our Finest Memory," dwelling impressively on the patriotic inspiration in the utterances of Lincoln and the memories of the heroic sacrifices of those who had given "the last full measure of devotion" to maintain the ideals of America. As an instance of what was opposite to the finest memory, he said:

"The bad is conspicuous to attention in the much discussed Photo-play mis-called 'The Birth of a Nation.' It is bad, in the first place, because it falsifies the historic realities. To represent the times when our national idea was on trial for its life as the birth of a nation is untruthful. If it had not been born more than four score years before, and well-born too, of stalwart high-minded, and far-seeing fathers, the nation would not have endured, nor any nation been born, in those times of sectional hatred, and divisional strife.

"The more ingeniously this falsehood is represented, the easier is the decline to the worse way, in the second place; of its initial motive to renew the racial inequality of former days. The more subtly this motive is insinuated into the feelings of the patronizing public, the deeper will be the descent toward the worst way, in the third place, of sectional hatred and racial subjugation; which goes to effect the damage of character and the death of a Nation. Whether or no this Photo-play is to be suppressed (as I believe, in view of the issues it has provoked, it ought to be) there is the one right way for the lovers of the American idea to treat it and that is to give its production—and especially tomorrow—an empty house."

On Tuesday Miss Doonan's English class came into Mr. Thurber's room to hear a debate on the question, Resolved—that there should be censorship of the American press by the government. Miss Leah Gilfix spoke on the affirmative side, arguing that the papers were allowed too much freedom which they took advantage of to exaggerate, slander, and rob men of their reputations. For the negative, Miss Grace Bowen stated that to censor the press would be unconstitutional, and unnecessary. Elliott Stickney, who presided, then announced the subject open for general discussion. Among those who spoke on the affirmative side, were Donald Hunt, William Dalton, Daniels, and Miss Mae Lannigan; while Charles Capon, Miss Marion O'Connell, Miss Josephine Burgess, and Ralph Davis gave arguments against the resolution. Mr. Thurber, head of the English Department, said that the only fair censorship of the press should come through the people; as, when a man does not like the contents of a publication, he refuses to purchase it, thus, he censors it. Public opinion should, and does, rule the press. At the end of the hour a vote was taken which showed that the majority were with the negative speaker, and believed that censorship of the press by the government would not be just, possible or right.

In many of the English classes debates are taking the place of oral themes. These debates stimulate a great deal of interest, and are in every way worth while. Two members of the class speak, one on each side of the question for about eight minutes, then the class joins in the discussion. Each pupil is supposed to come to class with his side chosen and to be able to tell why he believes as he does. The fifth annual Freshman Prize Speaking Contest will be held in the Assembly Hall next Wednesday morning during the regular Hal-Period. As usual, the Senior class offers a number of prizes for the prizes. The Contest is to prompt good oral theme work by the Freshmen, as the eight best theme givers in the different English divisions are chosen to compete in the Contest. Two prizes are awarded; one, to the best speaker of the four boys, and the other, to the best speaker of the four girls. Miss Francis Thayer, head of the English Department, is in charge of this year of what has come to be a very useful, yearly event in the school. Two of the judges are, Rev. A. J. Muste of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, and Mr. H. B. Ehrmann of Boston. All the Seniors always go to the Hall to the Contest.

Tuesday afternoon after school, the Class Party committee held a meeting, and decided upon the program for that great event. There will be general dancing first, then the class prophesies will be read, also the class history, class statistics, and the class poem. There may be some other form of entertainment before the evening closes with more general dancing.

Thursday, Charles Parlin, president of the Student Council, with the members of the Civic Committee, who are Miss Rachel DeRusha, Jack Lewis, Elliott Stickney, and Miss Gladys Kingham, visited the Somerville High School. They will prepare reports on their visit, which should be extremely interesting.

Although it was thought there would be no more Senior assemblies, President Stickney called one, or it was really a class meeting, last Friday the second period. The report of the class secretary, Robert Fairbanks, was read and accepted. The gift committee have practically decided to give the school a new bookcase for the library, a cover for the experiment table in the Hall, a picture of the class framed with a plate on which will be "Class of 1915," and if any money be left, some pictures. The committee on Class Party, consisting of Edwin McGill (Chairman), Miss Grace Bowen, Miss Mary Clifford, Miss McCourt, Miss Metelena Maxin, Elliott Stickney, Roger McNear and William Quinan, brought in a slate of nominees to be elected on the class day officers. Charles Capon, Edwin McGill, and William Dalton were voted on for class statistician. For class poet Miss Bartlett, Miss Hinkley, and Miss Ward were chosen to be voted on. Stewart Murray, Robert Fairbanks, and Francis Quick ran for class historian. To write the prophecy for the boys, the candidates were Mulligan, Rust, and Reilly. Miss Mahoney, Miss Morris, and Miss O'Connell competed for the honor of writing the prophecy for the girls. After the votes had been cast, Stickney appointed tellers, and said the results would be given at the end of the hour. Jos. Hagar urged that contributions be rushed in for the next number of the Dynamo. The meeting ended after the report of the tellers which was as follows: for class statistician, Edwin McGill; Miss Margaret Hinkley, class poetess; Stuart Murray, class historian; Clifford Rust, prophecy for the boys; Miss Marion O'Connell, prophecy for the girls.

N. H. S.

A week ago tonight, a large number of couples assembled in Temple Hall, Newtonville, for the Senior Reception. This year, besides the Seniors, there were members of the lower classes, and a few pupils from the school across the way. Edgar S. Burkhardt, Louis Ranlett, Horace Hawkes, Stafford Brown, Frank Dorney, Harry Carley, Calvin Smith, and Cushman Nathan acted as ushers, introducing each one to the matrons. The mothers of the officers of the class of 1915 officiated as matrons; Mrs. Ranlett, Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Reynolds, and Mrs. Hawkes. Mrs. Adams was also a matron. Spalding's Orchestra rendered excellent music, and was applauded time and time again to play encores to such popular pieces as, "I Want to go to Tokio," and "Sweetheart Mine." Delicious ice cream and cake was served during the twenty-minute intermission. At twelve the dancers departed for their homes in the different Newtons. Financially, and in fact in every way, the annual Senior Reception, this time by the Class of 1915, was a great success. All who attended say they had a "great time."

The Newton Second baseball team was defeated by the Mechanic Arts Third team, 5-0. This was no fault of the pitcher, Kirk, who struck out thirteen men. The Newton men played loosely, and lost through errors. On Thursday, the Second team again faced Mechanic Arts, this time in Brighton.

Kellar won his second game of the year when he held Mechanic Arts to one hit. There was no scoring after the first inning when Newton made her one run. Eleven men were struck out by Kellar, and he issued five passes. Stickney saved the day once, by making a beautiful one-handed catch, and, throwing the ball to King at first base, completing a double play. Gilman took Dalton's place in centerfield, and came across with two base hits.

Although the score, Newton 6, Brookline 0, of the third Triangular League game, sounds one-sided, there were many exciting moments during which it looked as if Brookline would surely score. Comick, who pitched for Newton, made the second home run of the year by boosting the ball over the centerfield canvas. Comick struck out eight men, but gave three bases on the pitch. Kirk, who struck out eleven men, played well, however, he played well, not making a single error. Harris, 3b, stopped one slashing drive with his bare hand, and as the bases were full, by touching third, made a dandy's throw, accepted by the catcher with only one error. Vachon batted for 1,000, and Kellar did some good stick work. The Newton nine as a whole showed marked improvement at the bat. Newton has now won two Triangular League games, and lost one. Newton leads in the League, Brookline coming second, and Cambridge last.

Newton has played eighteen of the twenty-two games on her baseball schedule. It is remarkable that not a single game has had to be postponed on account of rain. Last year rain interfered with quite a number of contests. Now that the team has a good chance of winning the championship of the Triangular League, the games should be well attended.

The Senior class, arranged on the front steps of the school, had its picture taken after school on Wednesday. The graduation exercises in this school will be held Thursday afternoon, June 24. The class party comes Thursday evening of the same day.

The last meeting of the Portia club for the year was held Friday afternoon after school. The election of officers for the year 1915-16 took place; the following being chosen: for president, Miss Evangeline Huntly, vice president, Miss Mary West, and Miss Mary Switzer, secretary-treasurer.

The four classes assembled in the School Hall last Friday morning to celebrate Memorial Day. They started off by singing two verses of "America." A quartet made up of four boys sang "Tenting on the old Camp Ground" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" in which the school joined in the chorus. Miss Francis recited a poem. Then Mr. Adams introduced Mr. Samuel P. Putnam, present chaplain of the G. A. R. Post 62, and once a private in the first Massachusetts Heavy Artillery. Mr. Putnam spoke of the battle between the Merrimack and the Monitor. He gave a very interesting reminiscence. When camping outside Richmond on a beautiful hill, he heard singing. He was in his tent, and wondering where the music came from, looked out. There was a group of soldiers among whom was Mr. Walton, father of our well-known music director. They were singing "We shall meet but we shall miss him, there will be one vacant chair." The song struck home, when a short while later, news came that Mr. Walton had perished in a Rebel prison. Mr. Putnam interested the school, and was well applauded. The period came to a close after the last two verses of "America" were sung.

THE ORIGIN OF THE CLOSET GENTIAN

Once upon a time there lived with her father the chief of a little Indian village, a maiden named Gentian.

Now Gentian was a very great favorite among the people of the village but she was very lazy and always had some one to do everything for her.

Now being lazy was considered very disgraceful but as she was the daughter of the chief no one said anything.

One day the chief and Gentian were walking in the forest. The chief realized his daughter's laziness so he said to the people, "Any warrior who is able to make my daughter industrious will be greatly rewarded."

For a long time the warriors tried but all in vain for Gentian became more and more lazy.

One day when she was eating dinner with her father she fell asleep. He then carried her to her bed thinking she would soon awaken.

Finally the chief became anxious about her for she did not awaken. Then they realized the truth, that she would never awaken again.

The chief mourned over her greatly and often visited her grave.

One morning when he went there he saw a beautiful flower growing there but it was not yet open.

Then he decided that it was not going to and that he would give it a name.

He called all the people and told them about the flower. He thought for a long time then said, "I shall call it Gentian, my daughter and because it does not open I shall call it the Closed Gentian."

PUTNAM HALL VS. CEDARVILLE

There was to be a baseball game that day and the boys had obtained a professional player to umpire.

The umpire called, "Captain Sandy and Captain Blower come here and toss up."

"Heads!" said Sandy. "That's one for you, two out of three though. Tails!"

"That's yours, Blower, you're even now," said the umpire.

"Heads! Oh, no! Tails!" said Sandy.

And tails it was. Sandy said, "I take outs."

"Allright," and Blower shouted, "All my fellows go to the bench."

Sandy was catching and Harrigan pitching for the Maroon and Gold, which were Cedarville's colors.

Then the umpire, "Make it speedy Archie went to bat and knocked a three-bagger to deep left field."

"That's a boy Archie. Do something now, Bob, you know," called Blower from first base coaching line.

Bob was walked and he stole second. Then Harry got up and singled to second base, and the bases were full.

"That's a boy Harry old kid!" came from the grandstand.

"I'll bang out a homer," said Tom, on his trip to the plate.

"Whee! Go on, run Tom run!" yelled the crowd.

And sure enough, it was a homer because Tom was so quick on his feet. If he had been a second later he would have been out. Now the score stood, Putnam Hall 4, Cedarville 0—and no outs. Next time the Putnam Hall man was surprised at being struck out. Then two more followed and the Putnam Hall men took the field.

Come on there fellows, do something, make a hit, anything to tie the score," Sandy's voice came from the bench.

But the score was not tied. It took five innings to do it, and then just by luck, W. Frothingham making a hit with three on, J. Frothingham just knocking the ball out of Tom's hand and touching the plate.

Never mind, stick it out, Harry, never mind," said Blower.

And Harry did stick it out until the Maroon and Gold team was out into the field again.

There was no more scoring until the tenth when Putnam Hall made five runs on errors, making the score: Putnam Hall 9, Cedarville 4, as Cedarville could not score.

NORUBEGA PARK—Never in the history of this popular resort, have so many enthusiastic visitors been entertained during the last holiday period. Always famous for its landscape gardening this year the management takes special pride in its extraordinary display of early summer flowers. In the open air theatre a holiday bill of vaudeville is the big attraction and judging from the applause and whole hearted laughter which greets each performance, is meeting with great favor. Next week the management has secured "Bob Ott," the king of comedians, in the latest musical comedy production of Matt Ott, under the appropriate military title "On the March." This promises to be one of the best musical hits of the season. Dancing, singing, by a clever group of players, with the assistance of a chorus of pretty girls, this show should make a tremendous success.

HENRY HUDSON'S MEN

The moon shines o'er the Hudson as it gleams along in the dark, 'Tis the time when dusk has fallen, o'er the valley and river bank!

The very town seems abandoned and the air seems quiet and still. The farms and fields seem deserted, but listen up hill and down rill.

You can hear men playing nine pins, it's the sound of Hudson's men. They only come out at twilight, when the moon lights the Hudson again.

OUR SCARE

While camping one summer, on some land that belonged to my uncle, I was awakened one night about one o'clock by a noise outside the tent. It sounded like a person walking around. There was a box nailed on a tree and in it were some things in glass jars.

All of a sudden there was a crash. That was all I heard and after a while I went to sleep. In about half an hour we were all awakened by a terrible blowing. We looked up and could make out a large head in the doorway. My father and I got up and the head disappeared. We opened the tent and before us stood one of my uncle's cows.

A DARING RIDE

It was back in the time of the American Revolution. The scene was laid in a seemingly peaceful town but in fact on the main street an excited orator was flourishing his arms with many queer gesticulations while a crowd cheered and roared. Away from this bustle, on the quiet outskirts, two boys were conversing.

"Thou knowest," said one, "that I am a better rider, we shall see."

At this point a third boy came up. He wore poor but neat clothes and shambled along at an awkward pace.

"Ho," cried the first boy, "Look who comes, it is Short Hannan, champion rider of the town."

"Thou canst not speak for I am better," exclaimed the second.

Short Hannan approached with a cheery smile.

"Well, I can now ride and Col. Strat said I would be a better rider than either of you."

"No, it is not possible, Col. Strat did not say that, you will never ride as well as I do. Moreover, do not get too overproud."

And so they argued.

"Look yonder! See, a cloud of smoke and dust! The British! We must tell the people!" Thus spoke Short Hannan.

"No," he continued. "They are too near; we must hurry to Middleton. Quick, the horses! But, some one must tell the people. John, you go, and Quincy, come with me. We must get to Middleton and tell General Putnam. Hurry, Quincy!"

Securing the two best horses from his stable, Quincy started off for Middleton. Middleton was a town where General Putnam had his headquarters and twelve miles from Short's town, Stratford.

"I will go ahead, Quincy. You follow close, and if I drop out, remember you, the better horseman, must take the message to General Putnam."

So saying, he sped ahead with Quincy following closely. Soon Quincy was lost to sight and dripping with sweat, hat off, legs bare, he flew on.

He must get there; nothing would stop him. After eight miles of riding he was so exhausted that he nearly fell off the horse, but a certain way clinging to the horse saved him.

This clinging made the horse go faster and people about and waved as he passed through village and town. Ten miles and Short felt as if he was flying through the air just after a salt water bath. Just as his horse neared the American camp it stopped short and Hannan weary with riding, fierce with determination literally dropped off.

Only by means of crawling did he reach the camp. A sentry halted him and Short asked to be taken to the general. The soldier had to carry him and all he could say was, "The British are marching on Stratford." Then, sinking onto the general's bed the world was lost to him and he fell asleep. John and Quincy are not envious of the medal Short earned by his daring ride.

McGRATH-KING

The marriage of Miss Julia Elizabeth King, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King of Beacon Street, Newton Centre, and Mr. William Francis McGrath of Cypress street, Newton Centre, took place Wednesday morning at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Rev. James F. Haney officiating.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white silk. She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret King, whose dress was flowered satin.

The best man was Mr. Charles A. Higgins, Jr., of Somerville, a cousin of the groom.

The wedding trip will include a visit to Washington and Niagara. Returning by way of New York City, the newly-married couple will spend a day with the groom's twin sister, Sister Mary of St. Saline, at the mother house of the order of the Good Shepherd, East 90th street.

Cards announced the "at home" of the young people after September 1 at 42 Homer street, Newton Centre, in a handsome house just completed for them.

Among the gifts was a complete outfit of kitchen articles from the school teachers of Peabody, where, up to six weeks ago, the bride taught a sixth grade.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

A meeting of the Newton Branch of the Massachusetts Civil Service Reform Association was held June 2d at the home of Mrs. Arthur C. Farley, on Central Street, Auburndale, at three o'clock. The meeting took the form of a State Council, and Mrs. Charles H. Brock, the Chairman of the Newton Branch opened the meeting, and after the reading of the report of the last meeting introduced as presiding officer Mrs. Richard C. Cabot, the President of the State Auxiliary.

Mrs. Cabot spoke of the valuable work accomplished by the Auxiliary during the twelve years of its existence and the many and various ways in which women were making themselves increasingly useful to the community. Women should stand for service to the city and state, in that service which is civic rather than for that service which is military. Political offices should never be given except for fitness and women can work for the appointment of suitable men for such important positions as inspectors of buildings and plumbing, public markets, public institutions, and even of consuls and ambassadors.

Miss Marion C. Nichols, the State Secretary, reports additional positions put under Civil Service rules, especially those of officers at Deer Island, where conditions have been such that for six years efforts have been made to bring about much needed improvements. Much literature has been printed and distributed in our own and other states and at least 25,000 children in the public schools have through the Civil Service Primer and other pamphlets, been taught the evils of the Spoils System and the righteousness of the Merit System.

Mrs. I. B. Oakley of Philadelphia, formerly Chairman of the Civil Service Reform Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, gave a delightfully entertaining as well as exceedingly instructive address on "The Domestic Side of Civil Service Reform." Mrs. Oakley emphasized the fact that every minute of every day we are each one of us affected by the Civil Service laws which determine the kind of men who shall fill the Government positions. We are vitally affected by the appointment of men who are inspectors of our buildings, public and private, who are our policemen, and fire chiefs; the men who inspect our lighting plants; who determine the rate of taxation; who determine the purity of our food and water and even of the air we breathe, which may be and should be free from smoke. She particularly called attention to the demoralizing results of the Spoils System which is spreading to private business and is poisoning the Public mind. She pleaded for a simple Commission form of government and the short ballot, and her final injunction was to "Skim the politics off the milk."

The meeting was well attended.

MOREY-TUPPER

Miss Sara Frances Tupper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Tupper of Newtonville, Mass., and Mr. Charles Rufus Morey, son of Mrs. A. C. Morey, of Princeton, N. J., were married Saturday evening at 7 Menlo street, Brighton, the residence of the bride's uncle. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Frederick D. Emrich, D. D. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her classmate, Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Lawrenceville, N. J. The best man was Mr. George Macfarlane Galt of Princeton, N. J. The ushers were Messrs. Frederick Leroy Hutton and Augustus Harmon of Princeton University, and Walter Westcott Tupper, Harvard, N. J., of the University of Michigan.

The bride was mistress of ceremonies at Wellesley in the class of 1911. The groom is a graduate of the University of Michigan, held a traveling fellowship for three years, and is now assistant professor of art and archaeology at Princeton University.

Mr. and Mrs. Morey will make their home at Princeton, N. J.

GRADUATING EXERCISES

Graduating exercises of The Misses Allen School were held Wednesday afternoon in West Newton. There was a very large attendance, including many former pupils of the school. Rev. Edward Cummings of Boston gave the address and talked delightfully on "The Art of Living." There were vocal and instrumental numbers by the girls and an exhibition of the work of the pupils in the art department. Following the exercises a reception was given the seniors by Miss Lucy Allen.

The girls graduating were Carol Allen, Virginia Frost, Eleanor Macgowan, Elizabeth Sturgis, Gertrude Millett, Martha Chapman and Edna Maynard, four of whom go to Radcliffe and Smith Colleges.

Tuesday evening the 22nd annual meeting of the Allen School Association was held at the Allen School. There was a supper, business meeting and a dance, over 100 attending. The officers chosen were: President, Edward E. Allen of the Perkins Institution of Watertown; Treasurer, Dr. Edwin B. Nielsen of Boston; Secretary, Miss Marion Richardson.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Following out its policy of presenting each week through the summer a different star in an established success, supported by that excellent stock company, the Longman Players, at the Majestic Theatre, the management announces Richard.

Richard, Richard Harding Davis' screaming farce, "The Dictator," as the attraction for the coming week, beginning Monday, June 7. Mr. Carle is well known to Bostonians as a star comedian who has headed his own companies many times in this city in popular musical comedy successes.

"The Dictator" is the lightest but jolliest sort of farce imaginable. The plot is tacked up in ridiculous knots that could never possibly be untied in a plausible way, but there is never a necessity of being plausible, one hilarious situation being followed by another still more riotously funny, and they keep on piling up, one upon another, until the final curtain.

MARSHALL-CLAFLIN

Miss Mildred Claflin, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adams D. Claflin of Newton Centre, was married to Mr. Henry Herbert Marshall of New York City Monday noon in the Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Lucian W. Rogers. Miss Claflin is well known in Boston and Newton. Her mother's father was the late Hon. Joseph H. Walker of Worcester, and her father's father was the late Governor William Claflin of Newton. Mr. Marshall is a son of S. Duncan Marshall of a distinguished family from Natchez, Miss., who for many years has been a resident of New York.

As only the immediate members of both families were present, most of the church was concealed by a profusion of plants. The chancel was filled with white lilies, palms, and hydrangeas, and at the altar steps there was an arch of pink roses and lilies, under which the couple were married. Miss Claflin wore a gown of ivory satin with full court train and rose point lace, an heirloom of her mother. Her veil was tulle and the bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents on Grant avenue. The bride's parents on Grant avenue. The table decorations were white iris and orange blossoms. The bride's cake, especially designed and made in New York, was placed on a lace centrepiece, one of the bride's gifts. Shortly after the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for their honeymoon. Several members of Mr. Marshall's family are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claflin for several days.

MAY FETE

The annual May fete of Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, Monday afternoon on the school grounds attracted a large gathering. Various styles of dancing were demonstrated. The work of Miss Hala Zach, a Polish refugee, was highly interesting.

The students' procession was headed by Miss Helen Woodward of Brookline. In order came the seniors in caps and gowns, the juniors dressed in white with blue and gold ribbons, the sophomores, also in white, carrying toy balloons, the freshmen in black jackets and blue caps and the special students wearing Irish caps and bodices.

The seniors carried long-stem red roses with which they formed an arch, through which their president marched, escorted by Maude Freeman of Chelsea, Queen of May, and her maid of honor, Isabelle Bradley of Delver, N. Y. After the crowning of the queen and the payment of homage by the members of each class the dances were given.

VINAL—HEALD

The marriage of Mr. Albert Vinal of Ashton park, Newton Centre and Miss Margaret Heald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Heald of Weymouth took place at the Union Congregational Church in that town on Wednesday evening.

The ceremony was performed at 8.15 by Rev. Charles E. Earle, former pastor of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church, Boston, assisted by Rev. Frank E. Butler of the Central Congregational Church of Providence. The double ring service was used and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Frederick C. Coburn of Brookline, a sister of the groom; the maid of honor was Miss Dorothea Heald, a sister of the bride, and Mr. Charles A. Vinal of Newton Centre was the best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret A. Cox of Weymouth, Conn.; Miss Bertha O'Hara of Arlington, Miss Lucille A. Couch of Nyack-on-Hudson, Miss Mildred N. Greene of Waterford, N. Y., friends of the bride at Dana Hall, Miss Marjorie McBride of South Weymouth and Miss Clarisse L. Tirrell of Brockton.

The ushers were Messrs. Chas. Heald and Stanley Heald of So. Weymouth, brothers of the bride; F. Siefert Smith Jr., of Waban, Alfred Pillsbury of Springfield, George Smith of White River Junction, Vt.; Robert Gray of Newton Centre, Halsey Elwell of South Weymouth, Frederick Coburn of Brookline and Stanley Merrill of Newton Centre.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with duchess rose point lace trimmings. Her tulle veil was held in place by lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of the same flower. The matron of honor wore pink taffeta and carried orchids, the maid of honor wore rose taffeta and carried roses, and the gowns of the bridesmaids were of pink and lavender taffeta.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 530 Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinal will be "at home" after Nov. 1 at their new house, 145 Columbia street, South Weymouth.

ANNUAL DINNER

The annual dinner of the United Choirs of Grace Church, took place last week on Thursday evening in the parish house, which was decorated for the occasion with a profusion of beautiful flowers from the conservatories of Mr. Charles E. Riley.

The mantles were decked out with dark red fuchias, and the dining-table was made most attractive with white lilies in effective arrangement with red candles, and silver candelabra, and covers were laid for seventy-nine.

Following the dinner was a very amusing burlesque entertainment, was given consisting of a kitchen orchestra, by 12 or 14 ladies of the auxiliary choir, all talented musicians.

Mrs. Frederick W. Burrows, conducted the orchestra very cleverly, and was the personification of Choir-master Sladen, much to the amusement of all present. Other members of the orchestra, who added to the merriment of the occasion, were Mrs. F. B. Converse, who appeared as an expert cornetist, Mrs. Hodder, who produced strains of music with a fire shovel, and Mrs. Alexander, whose performance on a bass drum, with the assistance of two sauce-pans, and dish-washers for drum sticks, made a decided "hit." The program included a medley of patriotic airs and other popular tunes, and Mrs. George Owen presided at the piano.

Mr. Daniel L. Smith of Watertown, who was the leader of the Men's Burlesque Choir, was also a fine "take off" on Mr. Sladen, and greatly to the gentleman's amusement, gave some clever imitations of the choir-master leading the various choirs.

Miss Amy Hubbard of West Newton entertained the guests with several amusing monologues.

Among the guests at the banquet and entertainment were Rev. Dr. MacLure, the rector, Mrs. MacLure, and Madame MacLure.

This very successful social affair, which closed the choir activities for the season at Grace Church, was given under the direction of a committee of ladies including Mrs. George Owen, Mrs. Frank B. Converse, Mrs. Frederick W. Burrows and Mrs. Louis M. Alexander.

The annual athletic meet, in which all grammar school boys of the city are eligible, will be conducted tomorrow morning on Clavin Field, Newtonville. The meet will be conducted by the Playground Commission and several trophies have been offered for the highest number of points scored by a school and winners of the various events. The meet will be divided into three classes, juniors, intermediates and seniors.

146 entries have been received as follows: Stearns 27, Hyde 9, Peirce 26, Bigelow 9, Burr 10, Mason 37, and Horace Mann 24.

N. H. S.

The school tennis team defeated Arlington High 6 to 0 on the courts of the latter school last Friday. Brown, Jackson, Noble and Rice winning the singles and Brown and Jackson and Daiger and Kepner the doubles.

CELEBRATES FIRST MASS

Rev. E. Joseph Burke, ordained to the priesthood last Friday by Cardinal O'Connell, celebrated his first mass on Sunday in the Church of Our Lady, Newton.

Father Burke was the celebrant of the solemn high mass; Rev. Father Frank L. Thomas of Newton, who was also ordained last Friday, was deacon, and Rev. Father A. S. Malone, curate of the Church of Our Lady, was subdeacon. The master of ceremonies was Rev. Father Joseph Nevins, S. S. D. D., a Newton boy, now professor in St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore.

A reception followed the service at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Burke, 181 Charlesbank road, Newton, and was attended by a very large gathering of friends.

In the home of Father Burke's grandfather in West Newton in 1859 the first mass in Newton was celebrated. Father Burke was born in Newton and educated in the parochial school of the Church of Our Lady. He is also a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, and for several years was organist at the church in which he celebrated his first mass.

Following his graduation at St. Charles' College at Baltimore he entered St. John's Seminary at Brighton to study for the priesthood.

Next Wednesday evening in Nonantum Hall, base ball night will be observed by the Catholic Union of Newton base ball team. Whist will be played from 8-10 and dancing will be enjoyed in the adjoining hall from 8-12. It is expected that several members of the Red Sox and also the Senators will be present.

LADIES' NIGHT

A most elaborate and pleasing program has been arranged for the annual ladies' night of the West Newton Men's Club on Wednesday, June 9th. Instead of being held in the Congregational Church parlors as usual, it will, on this occasion be given in the parlors of the First Unitarian Church Society.

Albert Edmund Brown, the Baritone is the chief soloist of the evening. He is the baritone who toured with Frieda Hempel of the Metropolitan Opera. He took the leading role in the Christmas performance of the Messiah at the Symphony Hall production with the Handel Madyn Society. In his dramatic numbers he fairly revels in dramatic intensity. Especially will this be seen in the famous "Edward" number of Loewe and "Danny Deever" by Damschrodt.

Miss Frank, the soprano, is perhaps the best known soloist in New England today. She has appeared during the past season with the leading Choral Societies of New England, including the Canton, Dover, Lowell and Lawrence societies. She is a member of the Boston Opera Company and is a young American musician who first secured her musical education here and then went to Italy to study with the great masters there.

Madame Berenguer the harpist, has played with all of the leading conductors of the world, in this country and abroad. Her display of technique is only equalled by the big, warm and sonorous tone she secures from this kind of instruments.

Erdine Cowlishaw, the reader has appeared before in Newton and on this occasion will render numbers especially in keeping with the balance of the program.

The concert will be under the direction of A. H. Handley.

that the loss was far greater than in all the history of the world. The Civil War that this nation must be preserved and that no stripe on the flag should be polluted, nor one star obscured. Our motto, "E Pluribus Unum," translated, "Of many, one" meant that of many states we have one nation, of many races, one people, of many creeds, one faith and of many bended knees, one God.

Rev. George H. Parkinson of the Newton Centre M. E. Church said that men should be careful of their public speech in such critical days as these, although he did not believe we would rush into war on account of passion and hate. And yet, with great international principles in jeopardy, with leaders who can show us these vital issues, we will fight to the very last ship and to the very last drop of blood. In that event every hyphen in our citizenship will be dissolved and we shall have one citizenship and one only.

Chief Marshal Morton E. Cobb was received with three cheers and gave a brief speech recalling the former days of the Clavin Guard and the Memorial day parades of a generation ago.

Dr. John C. Ferguson, who has spent a large part of his life in China gave an interesting account of how Memorial Day was observed by the Americans in Shanghai. Continuing he said that we are at Peace, but what kind of Peace? We must remember that Christ said he came not to bring peace, but a sword and that there are times when it is not honorable to make peace. Our patriotism, he said was the result of war, 1776-1812-1861, which have moulded us into one people. We will not have a Peace at any price, neither do we want a commercialized or subsidized peace, purchased by the millions of rich men. But we stand for a peace thru treaty agreements to settle all important questions by international arbitration, and which will make a solid foundation for a lasting peace throughout the world. And then there is Peace with honor, to uphold righteousness, and which is a Peace worth fighting for. We have taken the nations of the earth in this country and fused them into one people. The great nations of the world should be moulded together in a similar fashion. This country should prepare to defend itself. The richer and stronger we become the greater target we are for others and the more vulnerable to attack. Instead of an army of 7,000 we ought to have 50,000 men in the Massachusetts militia. Our boys should be given military drill in the High School. Our militia should be under the direction of trained United States officers, with similar organization in other states in order that when the time comes, a common training would enable uniform work to be accomplished.

Dr. Ferguson was frequently applauded and his reference to military drill in the High School aroused great enthusiasm. Capt. Corners told of the training given the militia and its officers and said that Massachusetts was one of the three best states in the nation in its training. He emphasized the need of training stating that it would take at least three months to put our militia on a war basis and that across the water it had been taken from six to nine months. He believed that the Civil War marked time for two years while the army was training to be soldiers and declared that if there had been 35,000 trained soldiers at the beginning of the struggle there would have been no Civil War. He said that Company C was a good company and that he wanted the support of the citizens of Newton to make it the best in the state.

Alderman Fred M. Blanchard, president of the board of aldermen said he believed that the members of the city government served the city, not for gain or reward but from a spirit of patriotism. He admired men who did things in the honor of the living today, as well as those who had given their lives for their country. We have the same blood today, and if the call comes, men will flock to that standard of peace and liberty—the Stars and Stripes.

Past Commander James H. Wentworth of the Sons of Veterans said his heart had been touched today because of the greatly increasing number of graves to be decorated, and asked "Who will tell the story when the Boys in Blue have gone?" and answered his own question by declaring that the flag will tell the story to the coming generations in the most eloquent manner.

Past Commander W. A. Wetherbee was given three cheers and said he had been a member of the Post for 41 years and had taken part in 44 consecutive Memorial day observances. He called attention to the fact that the Grand Army was rapidly diminishing, losing 1-2 per cent of their membership the past year, but he declared that they were just as young as ever in their hearts and would make the best of everything, with a smile on their faces as long as they possibly can.

Miss Curtis of the Daughters of Veterans, Mr. Samuel Ward and Commander Taylor of the Spanish War Veterans also spoke, and Commander Hoffman read a Memorial Day poem which had been written by the invalid wife of a veteran. The exercises were closed by the benediction by Post Chaplain Putnam.

TREMONT THEATRE—Boston bids fair to equal or exceed the extremely long runs of "The Birth of a Nation" in the East and the West. This is because "The Birth of a Nation" is not a feature in the ordinary sense, but a mighty panorama and pictorial exposition of the most vital points of American history which are particularly interesting to Americans now on account of the threatened complications with a foreign power. Super-added to the history is a delightful love romance of the North and South, whilst the whole is lit up and made fascinating by Mr. Griffith's remarkable gift of quiet humor and keen eye for the slightest significant detail.

The Beautiful Electric and Gas Table and Floor Lamps and the large variety of Androns and Fire Place goods as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, make most useful and practical gifts, from a variety unlimited at prices guaranteed.

WHY PASTEURIZE MILK?

Finding that there are still people who hold out against the need for pasteurized milk, Toronto's Medical Health Officer has issued a bulletin giving some reasons why milk should be pasteurized. He says:

"Probably 40 per cent. of the dairy cows in Ontario are suffering from tuberculosis, and this disease is transmissible to children by means of milk. It has been found that 25 per cent. of all cases of tuberculosis occurring in children under sixteen years of age is contracted from tuberculosis cows, through their milk. This has been positively demonstrated by research workers, among whom are Doctors Wm. H. Parr, Theobald Smith, Ravenel and others on this continent, and Professors Sims Woodhead, Von Bering and many others in Europe. Furthermore, many outbreaks of scarlet fever, diphtheria, typhoid, septic sore throat, and diarrhoeal diseases have been traced directly to milk."

"Hence it was that the pasteurization of milk not coming from tuberculin-tested cattle has been so strongly endorsed by the most authoritative bodies on the continent, including the International Congress of Tuberculosis, the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, the American Public Health Association, the American Medical Association, the Association of State and Provincial Health Officers, the Ontario Agricultural College, where Professor Dean, head of the Dairy Department, says that he regards pasteurization of milk as the greatest possible aid to life-saving; and the American Commission on Milk Standards."

Dr. Hastings goes on to score "irresponsible statements" regarding pasteurization, and says "to oppose such a life-saving campaign is not only an exposition of unpardonable ignorance but is also absolutely criminal."

of time appeared to be as good as new. During the evening there was some discussion on the advisability of extending Delmore terrace thru to Erie avenue in order to give the fire apparatus a more direct route to the thickly settled portion of the village, the children a shorter way to school and to provide a nearer way to the street cars on Boylston street.

The Social Service Committee of the Association thru Mr. Howard Whitmore told of its work in the mosquito campaign, for "Clean Up Day" and swat the fly, and said it hoped to take up the billboard matter in the near future.

The Public Service Committee, thru Mr. E. C. Johnson gave an outline of its plans for "Community Day" to be held on June 17, when it expected to have a tennis tourney, base ball game between the married and single men, and an exhibition by the school children in the morning, games and sports, exhibition by the Boy Scouts, and Camp Fire girls, folk dancing, hurdy gurdy, and possibly an organ recital in the afternoon. Between 6 and 8 it was expected there would be neighborhood gatherings with basket lunch and to be followed by a band concert, illuminations, singing by the Glee Club and possibly dancing. If the 17th was stormy, the program would be carried out on Saturday, the 19th. The Committee wanted suggestions, money and co-operation. The Day had been planned for the purpose of getting the people together, to make them better acquainted and to give an especial welcome to the newer residents.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of The Newton Graphic:—As one interested in the use of metaphors and similes the address of "Mr. George Creel of New York and Denver" on "The New Morality" as reported in The Graphic for May 28 attracted my attention. In it he referred to the gentleman as having "a Mason fruit jar head." And in order that his meaning might be understood Mr. Creel very kindly went on and defined the possessor of such a head as one closed up entirely from the world "and not willing to accept new thoughts and new admissions especially on this question of Suffrage."

To Mr. Creel and his particular audience this "fruit jar" figure of speech and his definition of it were probably eminently satisfactory and probably were considered bright or even brilliant. But opinions differ, and to one who has knowledge of what a Mason fruit jar is used for the metaphor would seem to be a particularly inapt and unfortunate one for Mr. Creel to use. The Mason fruit jar is valuable because it shuts in and preserves the good and shuts out the elements of decay, deterioration and impurity. True, defined a man with "a Mason fruit jar head" would be one with a mind capable of taking in and preserving the truth and shutting out the errors and false conclusions due to inaccurate thinking and general all around ignorance. Mr. Creel might do well to remember that an ill-fated metaphor in the hands of the ignorant is as dangerous as a boomerang in the hands of the unskilled. Both are apt to return and do damage to those who cast them forth.

Mr. Creel further on informed his audience of the passage at arms he had with one whose "greatest asset it seemed to be the fact that he was one of the Morgan partners." The incident is so rich that it will bear repeating.

As reported Mr. Creel told it like this:—"He attempted to show me the error of my ways and attempted to impress on my mind that the home was woman's sphere. I made a statement that the home had changed and, that the State was overruled and needed her assistance. He required my reasons for this remark."

"It had been so long since I had been asked kindergarten questions that I had to stop and think for a few moments before answering. I told him that a few years ago the women had taken the spinning at home in order that people might have clothes to wear. The question of the education of the child is not taken care of in the home. The State now has charge of this and makes laws as to what age a child shall enter school and at what age he shall be permitted to leave school, the length of sessions and so on. We have health laws, pure food laws. We have franchises which tell us how much we shall have to pay for light and for water, two things which formerly had to be taken care of in the home."

"He answered, 'Do you mean to tell me those things are possible?' I answered that they were actual, and he said, 'My God, what are we coming to?'"

Any business man will appreciate that the ability that would carry a man to a Morgan partnership would not put the man in the same class with Mr. Creel. The business man will be able to perceive, what Mr. Creel will not perceive, the chuckle that went with "the partners" exclamation after listening to Mr. Creel's sophomoric reply to a kindergarten question.

JOHN CUTLER.

THE POPS

The Thirtieth season of Pop Concerts in Symphony Hall opened with its usual brilliant success on Tuesday evening, June 1st. The audiences have been uniformly large and a special note is made of the fact that the largest orchestra in the history of the concert is being used, seventy men. Monday night, June 7th, will be the annual "Annerst Night" one of the best of the College Nights. Tuesday evening, June 8th, will be "Tech Night." On this night, as on similar occasions in the past, the entire house is taken by the Institute of Technology for their Alumni gathering, greeting to the graduating class and seniors. Boston College, with good singing, will come Thursday, June 10th. The Roxbury Latin School has taken the entire house for Friday, June 11th, for a benefit. Saturday, June 12th, will be Mr. Maguarre's last concert and he has arranged a special program for the occasion.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ATHLETIC MEET

Horace Mann School Captures School Trophy at Annual Event on Claffin Field

The third annual Newton Grammar School Athletic Meet conducted by the Ground Department was held under most favorable conditions on Claffin Field on Saturday morning. The annual meets were held for a number of years on the Y. M. C. A. grounds. There were 107 entries. The largest number of entries was made by the Horace Mann School. The Emerson and Lincoln Schools did not participate this year.

The Meet was won by the Horace Mann School with a very creditable showing of 60 points. The Peirce School was second with 45 points and the Stearns School third with 36 points. The School Trophy, a handsome engraved shield, was carried off by the proud and happy Horace Mann boys.

Special diplomas for the group winners were issued this year for the first time. The Peirce School carried off the diploma for the Senior group with 30 points. In the Intermediate Group the Stearns and Horace Mann were tied with 19 points. The Junior Group certificate was awarded to the Horace Mann School with 10 points.

There was a small but enthusiastic crowd of spectators. About 250 followers of the various schools graced the bleachers. The individual prizes consisted of ribbon badges. The winners and the schools they represented are as follows:

HIS FIRST MASS
The Rev. Francis L. Thomas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas of New Street, Newton, who was ordained recently by Cardinal O'Connell, celebrated his first mass Sunday at the Church of Our Lady at Newton. The Rev. Joseph E. Burke, another son of the Thomas family, officiated at the mass the previous Sunday, was deacon, and the Rev. A. S. Malone the deacon and Charles Bryson master of ceremonies.
After the service there was a reception at the home of Fr. Thomas's parents. Among the gifts was a chalice, the members of his family.
Fr. Thomas attended the parochial school of Newton, took a course at Charles College, Elliptic City, Md., completed his duties at St. John's Rectory, Brighton. He has been assigned as assistant in the Sacred Heart parish at Malden.

VACATION WEEK
The Directors of the Newton Vacation Week acknowledge with thanks receipt to June 1st of $260, donated by sixty persons and three organizations. If $140 more can be received during the months of June and July, the sum will be sufficient to meet the present worthy appeals arising in their hands.
Small sum is especially needed immediately to complete the admission of an old lady applicant for the Home for Aged People. Any donations large or small may be sent to Elizabeth Spear, Chairman, or to the Committee.

REV. DR. THOMAS DEAD
The Rev. Dr. Jesse Burgess Thomas, theologian and author, pastor emeritus of the Baptist Temple of Brooklyn, died this week at his home in Brooklyn. He was nearly 83 years old.
Dr. Thomas, son of a justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, was born in Edwardsville, Ill. He practiced law in Chicago from 1857 to 1862, entered the ministry thereafter and held pastorates in Chicago, San Francisco and Brooklyn.
From 1888 to 1905 he was professor of church ministry at Newton Theological Seminary, Newton Centre, after becoming professor emeritus. He was the author of a number of works on religious topics.
His wife and four children survive him. His two sons are Baptist clergymen, the one pastor of the church at Port Chester, N. Y., and the other of the Second Avenue Baptist Church of New York City.

MISS GIFFORD'S RECITAL
Pupils of Miss Martha E. Gifford gave a piano recital last week Thursday afternoon at her home on Breemore road. Those taking part in the program were Ursula Hollander, Augusta Hallett, Edson Stevens, Dorothy Brackett, Dorothy Covell, Eleanor and Margaret Steadman, Dunbar and Edith Howlett, Elizabeth and Josselyn Young, Elizabeth Boutelle, Edith Ewing, Charlotte Hill, Charlotte Stevens and Eleanor Wales. Miss Gifford was assisted by Miss Frieda Gerhard of Chestnut Hill.

MURDER COMMITTED

Mr. Walter G. Green Shot and Instantly Killed at Newton Centre

Mr. Walter G. Green, of Ripley terrace, Newton Centre, was shot and instantly killed and Miss Ruby Stewart, a maid employed at his home and as a waitress at his restaurant on Centre street, Newton Centre, was given a scalp wound, last Saturday noon, at Mr. Green's restaurant, by Charles E. Warren of Allston. Warren was captured after the shooting by Letter Carrier John C. Fay, of the Newton Centre station, who held him until officers Hartigan and Enegess arrived.

Warren is said to be a former lover of Miss Stewart, who has been trying to keep her address unknown to him. He recently learned that she was employed at the Green restaurant and driving into Newton Centre Saturday noon, he entered and sat down at one of the tables where he was served by Mr. Green. Miss Stewart was at work in the same room, when Warren drawing a pistol from his pocket began shooting at her. His aim was poor and he missed her. He then turned and fired the third shot, with Warren running after her. Mr. Green, who was then in the kitchen, endeavored to stop him and was shot just below the right temple, and was instantly killed. In the meantime Miss Stewart ran out the rear door and thence into Pelham street with Warren after her. Dr. Loring and his daughter were walking on Pelham street, and Miss Stewart rushed to them, but Miss Loring dropped to the ground and Miss Stewart leaving her ran on. Warren had fired several shots at the girl and was quite near her when he last shot hit her in the side of the head and she fell to the ground. Warren then walked back to his automobile, which he was about to crank up, when Mr. Fay came up and seized him.

There was considerable excitement in the village, for there were several persons in the dining room and the outside of the building attracted quite a number of people. Warren was taken to West Newton, where he was charged with murder and with an attempt to kill. The case was continued by Judge Kennedy on Monday morning until June 16 and he was taken immediately to the jail at East Cambridge. Miss Stewart was taken to the Newton Hospital. It is said that Miss Stewart was at one time engaged to Warren, but had quarrelled and left him. Warren boarded at the home of Joseph B. Abbott on Grant avenue, Allston.

Mr. Green has been a resident of Newton Centre for about three years, coming here from Charlestown, where he conducted a restaurant for some time. He was 55 years of age and is survived by a widow, a son and a daughter.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at his late residence on Ripley terrace and were of a simple nature as Mrs. Green had not recovered from the shock caused by her husband's sudden death. Rev. Perry Bush of the Universalist church at Chelsea officiated and there were vocal selections by Mr. F. L. Hemenway. Delegations were present from the Everett Lodge of Odd Fellows, the Twenty-Two Club of Charlestown and Home Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Newton Highlands. Two men from each organization were bearers. Following the service the body was taken to Glenwood Cemetery, Everett, where the burial took place.

NEWTON BOARD OF TRADE

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, June 14th, at 8 o'clock, in Odd Fellows Hall, Newtonville.
C. M. Goddard, Secretary of the New England Insurance Exchange, and Chief W. B. Handley of the Newton Fire Department, will speak on "Fire Prevention."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEETING

Noted Speakers Address Audience at Newton High School

A meeting in the interests of anti-suffrage was held in the assembly hall of the Classical High School at Newtonville Monday evening and attracted an audience of nearly two hundred representative citizens. Mr. William B. H. Dowse of West Newton presided and the speakers were Professor Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard and Mr. C. I. Underhill of Somerville.

Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard University gave an address, "Is Massachusetts Surpassed by Woman Suffrage States?" He spoke in part as follows: "No single State can be expected to surpass all others in every one of its laws, but the general leadership of the male suffrage states stands out very clearly. Every one of the following important kinds of legislation was first enacted by legislatures elected by men only:
Limiting the hours of women in industry to 54 a week.
Limiting the hours of women in industry to 8 a day.
Prohibiting night work by women in industry.
Prohibiting women's employment too soon before and after childbirth.
Mother's pensions.
Compensating widows and children of workmen killed in industry.
Securing the property rights of married women.
Conferring equal rights of guardianship upon women.
Red-light abatement.
Against the "white slave" traffic.
Providing for effective birth-registration (essential to reduction of infant mortality).
Limiting child labor.
Establishing juvenile courts.
In some important cases—for example, the prohibition of night work by women—these laws have not yet been passed in woman suffrage states. Anti-suffragists challenge their opponents to name a single woman suffrage state in which the laws, taken as a whole, are more humane and of a higher moral standard than those of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

"Daniel Webster once said: 'I shall enter no encomium upon Massachusetts; she needs none. There she is. Behold her, and judge for yourselves. There is her history; the world knows it by heart. The past, at least, is secure.' And when Abraham Lincoln saw the Sixth Massachusetts Regiment, which had mustered on Boston Common within one day of his call for troops, before him in Washington, he exclaimed: 'You are the first real thing!' Our Commonwealth, which the

GARDEN THE DANCANT

Successful Society Event for Worthy Newton Charity

The leading out-door society event of the early summer season was a Garden Dancant, which was held Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Ferrin on Hunnewell avenue, Newton.

The spacious garden with its attractive display of June flowers, and the beautiful outlook across the river, made an ideal setting for this charming affair which attracted nearly 500 dancing enthusiasts from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

Dancing was from four until seven on the large tennis court which was covered with canvas for the occasion, and the orchestra of 15 pieces was in attendance, and furnished an exceptionally fine program of choice musical selections.

The costumes worn by the ladies were beautiful and elaborate and added greatly to the picturesque effect of the scene. A tent was at their disposal which was equipped as a dressing room and everything possible was done for the comfort and pleasure of the guests.

Refreshments were served at small tables arranged on the terrace and ice cream, lemonade, candy and flowers were on sale.

Among the interesting features of the dancant were the exhibitions of the latest society dancing by Mr. Harold Whitney and Miss Le Clair. Mr. Whitney gave a demonstration of the "Charlie Chaplin Fox-trot," in costume, which was greatly enjoyed by those present. He also danced a Mazurka with Miss Le Clair, which was beautifully executed, and Miss Madeleine Coy, a pupil of Mrs. Lilla Viles Wyman, was very charming in a "Spring Dance," in effective costume, and received enthusiastic encore.

This very successful affair was under the direction of the Finance Committee of the Stearns School Centre, of which Mrs. Frank M. Ferrin is chairman; the committee included Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. Samuel W. Bridges, Mrs. Benjamin W. Fredericks, Miss Nellie L. Sherman, Mrs. William Hermon Allen, Mrs. H. B. Green, Mrs. Edward Kimball Hall, Mrs. Atherton Clark, Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd, Mrs. William Estabrook Jones, Mrs. Albert Paine Carter, and Mrs. Eben H. Ellison.

Miss Mabel L. Riley had charge of the flower table and the lemonade table was in charge of Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins and Miss Lucy Cobb.

The refreshments were under the direction of Mrs. William Estabrook Jones, assisted by a committee of ladies.

JITNEYS MUST BE LICENSED

Aldermen Adopt Regulations Governing Automobiles Used For Hire

An important step towards regulating the so called "jitney" automobiles was taken at the meeting of the aldermen Monday evening, when an amendment requiring any automobile used for public purposes for hire to be licensed by the aldermen was adopted.

Another important action by the board was the acceptance of the recent legislative act authorizing the reconstruction of the Weston bridge. This matter, when accepted by the town of Weston, will be carried out by the Metropolitan Park Commission and will cost about $50,000 of which Newton will pay $12,500 directly and its share of half the cost assessed on the Metropolitan park district and of the 15 per cent assessed on Middlesex County.

There was a heated argument on both sides on the petition of Geo. E. Nichols to keep gasoline at a proposed new garage to be erected on Washington street, Newtonville, corner of Bailey place. Mr. D. Frank Lord and Mr. J. E. Crawford appeared in favor of granting the license on the ground that Newtonville needed more than one place to purchase gasoline and that an automobile repair shop was a necessity. Mr. Nichols expected to erect a first-class fireproof building from top to bottom. Mr. J. J. Flynn appeared in opposition for Mrs. S. F. Morrill who owns the business block and tenements on the opposite corner. He said that Mrs. Morrill had recently expended $20,000 on this building and that the tenements would be greatly depreciated if an automobile repair shop was located on the adjoining corner. Mr. Flynn and Mr. Crawford became involved in quite a controversy over just what needed to be licensed.

The taking of land for a sewer in Avalon road, Waban, was favored by Mr. F. S. Small in behalf of the petitioner, Mr. F. J. Stark, who was in California opposed by Mr. W. M. Thompson and Dr. Morse in person and by Mrs. Cummings by letter. Mr. Thompson said there was no need for the sewer as all the houses on the street were connected and that the lot on which Mr. Stark proposed to build was so small and narrow and steep that it ought not to be used for building purposes.

Hearings on petitions of the Edison Co. for poles on Wolcott park, and Hyde street, for underground conduits in Cabot street, of the Edison and Telephone companies for joint poles on Edicott street, on the widening of Hyde street at Centre street, and on the following petitions for gasoline, Dr. W. O. Hunt, Newtonville avenue, F. L. Felton, Chestnut street, Wm. J. Bicknell, Erie avenue, J. W. Moore, Chester street, J. B. Studley, Allerton road, A. S. Williams, Hyde street, W. R. Reed, Rockledge road, J. E. Masters, Centre street, J. W. Crowell, Commonwealth avenue, H. P. Eddy, Gray Cliff road, A. A. Armstrong, Parker street, G. P. Gardner, Jr., Chestnut hill road, Mrs. W. M. Campbell, Hammond street, Wm. F. Bacon, Hyde avenue, and H. B. Day, Chestnut street, were unopposed.

E. M. Francis remonstrated against the gasoline petition of A. D. Handy on Parker street.

Mayor Child transmitted another long list of matters including recommendation of the Buildings Commissioner for $400 to make a larger door to basement of Technical High School.

WE PAY HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR Old Gold, Diamonds THE E. B. HORN CO. Est. 1839. 429 Washington St., Boston

to allow automobiles to enter, relative to pending cases for taking land for sewer at Chestnut Hill, recommending the widening of Nevada street at California street and at Linwood avenue, request of Metropolitan Park Commission to enter sewer at Riverside, relative to charging up the cost of the Saturday half holiday for laborers, relative to $255 excess cost of sewer in Windemere road, relative to acceptance of act authorizing reconstruction of Weston bridge, and petition for sidewalk on Beacon street.

The school committee recommended changes in the Wolcott school at Waban to remedy overcrowded condition and notice was received of a hearing on June 10 before the Public Service Commission on relocation of track of street railway on Woodward street.

Petitions were received from E. A. Robinson for auctioneer license, Hugh Sheridan to run a jitney bus from Upper Falls to Needham, for street sprinkling on Mt. Vernon street, Plymouth road, and Waban avenue, the Telephone Co. for attachments California street and Wolcott park, the Edison Co. for relocation Adams street and attachments on Bowen street, Floral street and Beacon street, Mrs. Eleanor Pyle, objecting to pool room at 322 Centre street, Walker et al. for laying out of Harrington street under the betterment act, of Mrs. Annie Meynell for abatement of betterment tax on Waban Hill road, of the Gas Light Co. to lay certain gas mains, and of Whittemore et al. for change of name of portion of Newtonville avenue to Mount Ida road.

Other petitions were filed by H. L. Swett to run a 13-15 passenger auto between Newton and Waltham, C. G. Newcomb, F. Gasbarri, Johnson & Keyes and W. O. Harrington for liquor transportation permits, H. S. Upham to run a motor boat on Charles River and A. A. Caruso for pool tables on Washington street.

On recommendation of committees, street sprinkling was ordered on Gibbs street, Forest avenue, Carver road, St. James street, Glen avenue and Mt. Vernon street, a sewer authorized in Chestnut street, the Edison Co. granted pole locations on Eastside Parkway, Ionia street, attachments on Floral street, the Telephone Co. granted relocations on Church street and Brae-lan avenue and attachments on California street, $170 authorized for paymaster's auto, $550 to establish a Tuberculosis Dispensary, $255 appropriated for Excess Sewer account Hyde street widened at Centre street, and hearings assigned for June 28 on taking land for sewer in Gibson road, Simpson terrace, Waban hill road, north, for laying out under the betterment act of Terrace avenue, Barnstable road and Harrington street, and for a concrete sidewalk on Hyde street under the betterment act.

An order favorably reported by the Public Works committee but disappeared.

EDITORIAL

The action of the aldermen in amending its regulations governing hackney carriages in this city is due to the fact that, while the city has for several years granted licenses to automobiles and taxicabs used for hire, there is no legal requirement for such licenses, as the former regulations affected only vehicles operated by "animal" power. Under these circumstances it was possible for any form of motor operated vehicles to engage in transporting passengers for hire, without license or any kind of supervision. In view of the imminence of the so-called jitney bus, the aldermen promptly adopted the regulation requiring a license and are now in a position to properly supervise the new method of transportation.

The acceptance of the act to reconstruct Weston Bridge is the end of a long struggle with local and legislative interests. Alderman Early and Representative Bothfield are entitled to a large share of the credit in bringing the matter to a head, although quite a number of others had an important hand in the affair. The new bridge has long been a necessity and it is only remarkable good fortune that a serious accident has not occurred at this unusually congested spot on Sundays and holidays.

The action of the city government in favoring a safety zone in Nonantum square, coupled with a request to the local street railway to stop its cars about 100 feet short of the present terminus, is a long step towards solving the difficult traffic trouble in that place. The result of the experiment will be watched with great interest by many persons who have given the subject considerable thought.

Newton achieved considerable undesired notoriety because of the murder which took place last Saturday at Newton Centre. Letter Carrier Fay deserves the thanks of the community for his prompt and courageous action in capturing the murderer.

Let us all observe Flag Day next Monday.

NINETIETH COMMENCEMENT

The Newton Theological Institution observed its 90th commencement this week. The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday was followed by a memorial service on Wednesday in the Baptist Church, charged by Rev. Henry B. Williams of Woburn, followed by an address in the main auditorium by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of New York City. The alumni dinner was served at noon in Bray Hall and in the afternoon a memorial window for the late Prof. Charles R. Brown was unveiled in Colby Hall. The annual faculty tea was held at five o'clock at Sturtevant Hall and the meeting of the alumni was held in the evening in the Baptist Church at which Rev. George Rice Hovey of Richmond, Va., the president made the address.

On Thursday the graduation exercises were held in the First Baptist Church, a class of nineteen seniors receiving diplomas. The audience included many of the alumni, some of whom came from distant points for the exercises.

The program was simple. Following prayer and the singing of hymns these addresses by seniors were heard: "The Church and the State in Religious Education," Edward M. A. Bleakney; "The Awakening of Modern Russia," Richard J. Inke; "Baptists as Pioneers of the New Age," John M. Kester; "Northern Baptists and a Century of Missionary Beginnings," Frank G. Mayne; "Christianity and the War," Thomas S. Roy; "A Neglected Field," Fred E. Wolf.

Rev. George E. Horr, D.D., president of the institution, presented the diplomas, delivered the address to the graduates and also pronounced the benediction.

Following the graduation exercises the annual dinner of the trustees of the institution was held at Bray Hall and the annual senior reception was held at Hills Library at the seminary.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

"We must not be swept off our feet by prevalent pessimism," said President George E. Horr in his baccalaureate sermon before the members of the graduating class of the Newton Theological Institution Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre. The moral value of the world today is facing a peril greater than the world does not rest with Sir Edward Grey or the German Emperor. It rests with the living God.

President Horr, choosing the text "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God," said in part: "There is no safer cure to the real character of religion or of a philosophy of life than its answer to the question as to the chief good of man. The phrase, 'the kingdom of God,' embraces two ideas—the loving allegiance of men to God and their loving service to one another. Jesus said the greatest thing for men is fellowship with God and fellowship with our kind."

"During the last 30 years, this idea of Jesus has been sharply antagonized by the doctrine of the superman. As against the superman, men have no rights worth mentioning. Men exist for the superman and their so-called rights may be set aside if the advantage of the superman may be promoted. The individual or the nation that counts itself in that class is absolved from every moral obligation. Its chief end is promoting its own advantage without regard to other's welfare. A competition that involved the ruin of its rivals in business is thoroughly justifiable; a violation of solemn treaties is nothing more than tearing up of a scrap of paper. A Lusitania horror is praiseworthy if it aids in achieving a military goal. This war is the ripe, consummate product of such ideals and policies and the world today is facing a peril greater than any loss of life or treasure. It is facing the peril of a permanent lowering of ideals so that men will come to believe that the supreme things are long-range guns, submarines and poisonous gases. There is danger that the world may go back to the African worship of a bloody club as the symbol of the supreme thing in the world."

President Horr closed with an appeal to the men of the graduating class to address themselves like men to the task of upholding the ideas of Jesus as to the chief good; not to shun hardship and self-sacrifice and always to believe that God would be with them and that his cause would prevail.

The KITCHEN GUPBOARD

COOKING AU GRATIN.

DISHES cooked in this style are delicious. It is a simple yet satisfactory way of using left over foods like cold potatoes or vegetables.

Eggs au Gratin.—Cut six hard cooked eggs into halves lengthwise and place in a circle around dish. Prepare a sauce as follows: Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, one-half teaspoonful of water, same amount of cream, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Boil for two or three minutes; add two raw egg yolks. Mix well and pour at once over the eggs. Sprinkle with buttered cracker crumbs and brown in a quick oven.

A Meat Economy.

Kidneys and Onion au Gratin.—Take three or four onions and the same number of sheep's kidneys. Cut the tops off the onions and put them into a saucepan of boiling water with salt. Put the lid on the pan and boil the contents for one and a quarter hours; then take up, remove the skins and slip the center of the onion out. Cut the kidneys in two lengthways. Season with pepper, salt and a piece of butter and put half into each onion. Set the onions on a greased tin with the onions sideways to prevent the juice from the kidneys escaping. Chop the onion centers finely and put as much as possible back into the ends of the onions. Scatter breadcrumbs over all thickly and bake slowly until the onions appear to be thoroughly done.

Novel Way of Using Noodles.

Noodles au Gratin.—Prepare a fairly stiff but smoothly kneaded paste with one-half pound flour, one-half ounce butter, three yolks of eggs and a pinch of salt. Allow the paste to stand for at least one hour; then roll out as thinly as possible. Fold the pieces (rolled out) and cut the paste crossways into narrow strips about one-eighth of an inch wide. Loosen the strips (shake them up and dredge with a little flour). Put the noodles into a pan of fast boiling salted water and boil for about eight minutes; then drain and let cool. Butter a baking dish, spread with a little white sauce, then a layer of noodles, sprinkle with some grated cheese in excess and a few drops of melted butter. Cover with sauce and continue thus until the noodles are used up. See that the last layer is well masked with white sauce, sprinkle over with breadcrumbs, place a few tiny bits of butter here and there on top of the crumbs and bake in a quick oven for ten minutes. The dish is then ready for serving.

DO YOU LIKE FISH?

BREAKFAST MENU.
Baked Apples. Broiled Mackerel.
Boiled Rice. Wheat Muffins.
Coffee.

A GREAT variety of fish is now in the market. So wide is the choice that it seems almost any one ought to be suited. Some ways of cooking the season's fish are suggested.

Baked Fish.
Baked Perch.—Take a dripping pan, put in a row of salt pork sliced thin, cover with perch, put in a little pepper, then another row of salt pork over the perch and keep it up till the pan is half full. Add a little salt on the top.

Baked Pickerel.—Remove the backbone and all the small bones which can be removed without tearing the flesh too much or getting the fish out of shape. Brush the fish with lemon juice and olive oil and let it stand about an hour. Then put very thin slices of pork across a rack in a dripping pan and place the fish skin side down over the pork. Brush with "fried oil" pork and bake in a covered pan for forty minutes. Baste it once or twice while cooking and serve with hollandaise sauce or if preferred with maitre d'hotel butter.

Cooked With Vegetables.
Halibut With Tomatoes.—Take the required amount of halibut steak and put into a buttered pan. Arrange pieces of tomato to cover it and put on top of the tomatoes plenty of green peppers sliced rather thin. Season with salt and pepper and pour over all one-fourth cupful of melted butter. Bake in hot oven thirty minutes, basting frequently. A garnish of sliced hard boiled eggs may be added.

Broiled Spanish Mackerel.—Clean thoroughly, split down the back and remove the backbone. Broil over a clear fire on a well greased wire broiler for ten minutes, flesh side down; then turn for one minute on the skin side. Remove to a hot platter. Season with salt, pepper and butter or with maitre d'hotel butter and garnish with parsley. Make the maitre d'hotel butter by creaming one tablespoonful of butter in a bowl and adding slowly one tablespoonful of lemon juice, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper and one teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley.

CITY OF NEWTON

Publication is hereby made, in accordance with the provisions of Section 24 of Chapter 25 of the Revised laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, of the following:

Standing Regulations of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton relating to Hackney Carriages and Vehicles, as adopted by the Board of Aldermen on June 24, 1912 and approved by the Mayor on June 26, 1912, and amended by the Board of Aldermen on June 7, 1915, and approved by the Mayor on June 9, 1915.

Section 4. Every vehicle except street railway cars and steam railroad cars, whether on wheels or runners, drawn by any animal power or propelled by any mechanical power and used for the conveyance of persons for hire within the city shall be deemed a hackney carriage.

Section 5. No person shall set up, use or drive any hackney carriage for the conveyance of persons for hire within the city without a license for such carriage from the board of aldermen.

Section 6. No person shall set up, use or drive any wagon, dray or other vehicle, whether on wheels or runners, for the conveyance from place to place within the city, for hire, of any goods, wares, merchandise, furniture or any other article of transportation, without a license for such wagon, dray or vehicle from the board of aldermen.

Section 7. The board of aldermen may grant such licenses to such persons and revoke the same at their discretion. For every license so granted there shall be paid to the city clerk, for the use of the city, the sum of one dollar; provided, however, that any owner of a hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle, who is licensed to set up or use more than one such vehicle, shall pay for each additional vehicle fifty cents for each additional vehicle so licensed; and all licenses granted as aforesaid shall expire on the first day of May next after the date thereof.

Section 8. No person under eighteen years of age shall drive or have charge of any hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle, licensed as aforesaid, without special permission of the board of aldermen.

Section 9. No driver or other person having charge of any hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle licensed as aforesaid, shall place the same or permit the same to stand for hire in any other place than the stand assigned to it by the street commissioner.

Section 10. Every driver or person having charge of any hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle licensed as aforesaid, shall, at all times when driving or waiting for employment, wear a badge or number, in metallic figures, not less than one inch in size, and so placed that the same may be distinctly seen and read.

Section 11. Every driver or person having charge of any hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle licensed as aforesaid, shall have the same conspicuously marked with the license number in figures, not less than one and one-half inches long, and when using or driving the same in the night time shall have on each side thereof two lighted lamps with glass fronts and sides, having the number of the license of said carriage painted on the front and sides of said lamps in such manner as to be distinctly seen. Every owner, driver or person in charge of any hackney carriage, wagon, dray or other vehicle, licensed as aforesaid for the conveyance from place to place within the city for hire, of any goods, wares, merchandise, furniture or other articles shall have placed upon the outside of each side thereof the name of the owner and the number of the license, in plain legible words and figures of not less than one and one-half inches in size.

Section 12. The board of aldermen may establish the rates of fare for the conveyance of passengers in hackney carriages, and may revise the same at pleasure.

Section 13. Every owner, driver or person having charge of a hackney carriage shall have placed in some conspicuous place within said carriage a card with the established rate of fare printed thereon.

Section 14. No owner, driver or person having charge of a hackney carriage shall demand or receive a higher rate than that established by the board of aldermen, or shall unreasonably refuse to carry any passenger from any place to any place within the city.

CARRIAGE FARES.

Section 15. The following rates of fare for the conveyance of passengers in this city are hereby established: Between 7 A. M. and 9 P. M. the charge for one passenger with ordinary baggage weighing not exceeding one hundred pounds shall not exceed twenty-five cents for three quarters of a mile or less and shall not exceed twenty-five cents for each additional half mile or fraction thereof; the baggage to be delivered in such place or places as the owner thereof may reasonably request.

Depot carriages per hour $1.50.
Landau service $2.00 per hour for the first two hours, $1.00 for each additional hour.

For funerals, weddings, receptions and parties the charges shall be subject to a mutual agreement.

The above rates of fare with local mail shall be conspicuously placed and kept in each licensed carriage.

PENALTIES.

Section 16. Whoever violates any of the provisions of the standing regulations of the board of aldermen whereby any act or thing is enjoined or prohibited, whether included in these regulations or any hereafter enacted, shall, unless other provision is expressly made, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense.

Ordinance of the City of Newton Relating to the Standing of Vehicles in Public Streets and Ways, as adopted by the Board of Aldermen on May 24, 1915 and approved by the Mayor on May 26, 1915.

Chapter 32, Section 526. No vehicle shall stand in any of the following named streets, ways and squares between the hours of seven o'clock in the forenoon and seven o'clock in the afternoon for a longer period than fifteen minutes, viz: Hall Street, Nonantum Square, Centre Street in Wards one and seven from the Northern side line of the location of the Boston & Albany Railroad to Jefferson Street; Washington Street from Bacon Street to Charlesbank Road. Police officers may, in their discretion, extend for a specified number of minutes only, the time limit herein established whenever in their judgment such extension does not interfere with the free passage of vehicles or pedestrians.

PENALTIES.

Section 9 of Ordinances of the City of Newton, as adopted by the Board of Aldermen on June 24, 1912, and approved by the Mayor on June 26, 1912, and amended by the Board of Aldermen on June 7, 1915, and approved by the Mayor on June 9, 1915.

Whoever violates a provision of any ordinance of the city, whether included in these ordinances or any hereafter enacted, whereby any act or thing is enjoined or prohibited or required, shall, unless other provision is expressly made, be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense.

A CLEVER PARODY

Dr. Oliver Van Dyne of Waverley avenue who has had charge of the class in Freshman Anatomy at the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy at Cambridge was surprised last Saturday when the class sang the following parody on the familiar song "Sailing":
Y'heave Ho, my lads, the wind blows
free,
A pleasant gale is on our lee,
And soon across the ocean clear
Our gallant bark shall safely steer;
But ere we leave "Anatomy" today,
A song we'll sing for our Van Dyne, Hoorary.

CHORUS

Then here's to our Captain, and here's to the heart so true;
We shall think of him the many long years through.
Sailing, sailing, over Anatomy,
For many a dangerous snag we'll meet
More ere we port we see;
Sailing, sailing, over Anatomy.
Our captain's true blue, he'll guide us safe through,
So not a fear have we.
The tide is flowing with the gale,
Y'heave ho, my lads, set every sail.
This last exam we soon shall clear,
Farewell once more, Van Dyne so dear,
For where the tempest rages, loud and long,
Your words shall be our guiding star and song.

COMMUNITY DAY

Residents of Newton Highlands are becoming deeply interested in the celebration of Community Day next Thursday, June 17th. The program is in the hands of competent committees and includes many features of interest.

The finals in the tennis tournament will take place on the Columbus street court at 8 A. M. followed by a contest at the Gun Club at 9 o'clock. At 9.30 there will be a ball game on the Playground between the single and the married men. At the end of the game there will be an exhibition by the school children at the Hyde school including a salute to the flag, singing of America and a fire drill. Everyone is expected to join in a basket lunch on the playground between twelve and one o'clock. At 2 P. M.
there will be basketball and captain ball games by the Camp Fire Girls and an exhibition of the Boy Scouts under the direction of Mr. Carver. A hurdy gurdy will enliven the field events to take place on the playground and there will also be an exhibition of folk dancing. At five o'clock there will be singing by the City Club and an organ recital. The evening will conclude the exercises of the day with a band concert and dancing on the Crane estate on Lake avenue.

VETERAN DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. Erastus Moulton, an old resident of Newton Highlands, died suddenly Wednesday afternoon, while at work in the grocery store of Simpson Bros.
Co. on Lincoln street. Mr. Moulton has been a resident of Newton Highlands for nearly thirty years and formerly conducted a grocery store in Lincoln Block. He was born in Lyman, Me., and was 72 years of age. Mr.
Moulton served in the Civil War as a member of Co. I, 27th Maine and of Co.
E, 8th Mass. and was a member of Charles Ward Post G. A. R. He also served his ward as a member of the Newton Common Council in 1891-92.
He is survived by a widow and one son, Mr. E. Burritt Moulton of Newton Highlands. Funeral services were held this morning at his late home on Walnut street and the burial was at Kennebunk, Me.

Public Service Commission

BOSTON, June 10, 1915

(P. S. C. 970)

On the Petition of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company for approval of location for two additional curved tracks in Commonwealth Avenue, at the Boston line, in the City of Newton, established under an order of the board of aldermen of said City of Newton dated May 24-1915, the Commission will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, No. 1 Beacon Street, Boston, on Wednesday, the sixteenth day of June, instant, at ten-thirty o'clock in the forenoon.
And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by publication hereof once prior to said date in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, to serve a copy hereof on the City of Newton, and to make return of service at the time of hearing.

By order of the Commission.

—The matter of celebrating the Fourth of July in this part of the city has been under consideration by the committee of business men which has had charge of the celebrations the past two years, and there is a general feeling that in view of the business depression that it is inadvisable to attempt a program as elaborate as that given in 1914. Provided enough interest is manifested among the residents of Newton, the committee believes it is possible, and is planning to have an athletic meet and sports in the afternoon, and to give an exhibition of fireworks in the evening. Invitations to contribute to a fund for this purpose are extended to everyone interested, and may be sent to Mr.
Charles G. Newcomb, chairman, or Mr.
H. H. Moore, treasurer, at 402 Centre

DIES SUDDENLY

Friends of Mr. Henry F. Wellington of Hollis street, Newton, were greatly shocked to learn of his sudden death late yesterday afternoon while walking on Commonwealth avenue near Brookline street, Boston. He was seen to collapse and was taken to the Boston City Hospital where it was said that death was due to apoplexy. Mr.
Wellington was born in Milton, Mass., and was 73 years of age. He had resided in this city for about forty years and was a carpenter and builder by trade. He served in the Civil War in the 45th Massachusetts regiment and was a member of Charles Ward Post G. A. R. and of Eliot Church. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Frederick L. Trowbridge with whom he made his home. Funeral services will be held from his late home on Hollis street on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

MEDICAL CLUB MEETS

So far as heard from the community was not seriously affected by the absence, last Monday afternoon and evening of over forty of the physicians of the city who attended the annual field day of the Newton Medical Club at Belmont Springs Country Club. While the most interesting feature of the affair, of course, was the banquet, there was considerable feeling displayed, both at the time, and since (by those who participated) at the ball game between the "kids" and the "kiddies." It is said that the latter won with a score of 25 runs in their favor, while the "kids" claim anywhere from 5 to 15 runs for their side. Another spectacular event of the day was a 50 yard dash (this isn't the right word to use and is merely figurative) between the heavyweight champions of Newton and Newton Centre in which the Newton stalwart won by half a stomach. Liniment and bandages were in great demand the next day.

WINS THREE FIRSTS

John P. Bourgeois' Czarina, Russian Wolf Hound, won three firsts and reserve winners in the dog show of the Ladies' Kennel Association on the grounds of the Woodland Park Hotel, yesterday. This is an exceptionally good record for a nine-months-old hitch and Mr. Bourgeois had many flattering offers made to him.

STRAWBERRY FETE

The Strawberry Fete which was held Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Stetson on Pine Ridge road, Waban, was a very successful social affair and was largely attended.

The grounds were extensively decorated with hunting, large flags of all nations, and illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

Ice-cream, strawberries and candy were on sale, and refreshments were served at small tables arranged attractively on the lawn. One of the most entertaining features, was a delightful program of music by Knight's Orchestra.

The proceeds are for the benefit of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

TREMONT TEMPLE

As long as the great war lasts there will be war pictures—but at the Tremont Temple, Boston, are now being shown the most remarkable moving pictures ever seen in Boston. They are not black and white pictures, but in beautiful Kinemacolor and show the armies and navies of the warring nations of Europe under the title of "With the Fighting Forces of Europe." Torpedoes and submarines as well as Zeppelins and the air craft of Germany, France, England and Japan are all shown in action and it is of the greatest interest to see the soldiers digging trenches, behind earthworks and in the forests. Life-like and life-size are seen the German Emperor on board ship with Admiral Von Tirpitz the "Father" of submarine warfare. Actual photographs are reproduced by the moving pictures of the Serbian army, the Czar and his Cossacks, the Belgian Army, the Grecian army, English, French, German, Turkish, Italian armies and navies and for good measure, Switzerland, Spain and the United States armies are pictured. Two performances are given daily at popular prices.

THIRD WEEK OF THE POPs

Interest in the brief season of Pop Concerts in Symphony Hall increases continually and it will be further stimulated the coming week by the first appearance as conductor of these concerts of Mr. Ernst Schmidt, the assistant conductor of the Symphony Orchestra.

In his first program next Monday night, June 14th, he will devote the second part entirely to Wagner. Tuesday night is a general program; Wednesday night is Soloists' Night when a number of the members of the Orchestra will appear as soloists. Thursday night is a general program and Friday night brings the first French Night of the season. Saturday night will be a typical Saturday night list of works which is always pleasing to the great crowds that come to Symphony Hall on that evening.

HIS WORK APPRECIATED

The following Resolutions were passed at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, June 1st, on the retirement of Mr. A. C. Emery as President of the Association:

Resolved that this Board record its appreciation of the long and earnest service which Allan C. Emery has rendered to the Newton Young Men's Christian Association as its President. Besides performing the duties of that office with ability and faithfulness, he has been the inspiration of every department of its activities and the main factor in gaining the financial support of the community for the maintenance of the work and the erection of its present building. His earnest Christian zeal, his devotion to the interests of young men, and particularly to their spiritual advancement, were the basis of his efficiency and unceasing endeavor. We rejoice that he remains an active member of the Board of Directors.

GRADUATE FROM TECH

Eleven Newton students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology received their degrees Tuesday at the graduation exercises in Huntington Hall, Boston, one of them receiving the degree of M. S. (Master of Science), and ten that of B. S. (Bachelor of Science). Their names and the titles of their theses are here given:

The young man who received the Masters' degree is Elwyn Edward Snyder, Jr., and his thesis were: The Influence of Temperature and Time of Heating upon the Color of Iron Oxide Produced from Ferrous Sulfate, and The Effect of Gas Velocity on the Transfer of Heat from a solid to a Gas (with Clark S. Robinson of South Boston).

The others in the group and the titles of their theses being: From Newton: Mary Elsa Plummer (the only woman graduate of the class), The Adaptability of Calcium Acid Lactate as a Baking Powder Material, Lawrence Humphrey Bailey, The Production of Pure Carbon Monoxide from Producer Gas.

From Newtonville: Donald Belcher, An Investigation of the Rate of Drying of Printing Ink, Charles Howard Wilkins, A Study of the Mechanical and Physical Properties of Asbestos Board, an investigation which he made in collaboration with Frederic E. Waters of Salem, Charles Howard Calder, Effect of Diaphragm Thickness on the Sensitivity of Telephone Receivers.

From Newton Centre: Gaetano Maconi, An Experimental Investigation of the Waterproofing Qualities of Various Substances when Applied to Concrete, a study in which his fellow worker was Henry Niemann of West Newton, Allen Dodge Wheeler, Heat Transmission through Cast Iron Radiators, a study that he undertook together with John C. Holmes, A. B. of Franklin, N. H.

From West Newton: Dean Abner Fales, The Design of a Machine for Determining the Machining Hardness of Metals, a work which he undertook with Wallace Sentmy Thomas of Springfield, O., Eastman Atkins Weaver, The Electrolytic Separation of Nickel and Copper from Commercial Matte and from Monel Metal, which he investigated together with Gardner C. Wilson of Brighton, Henry Niemann, The Waterproofing Qualities of Various Substances when Applied to Concrete, a research in which his collaborator was Gaetano Maconi of Newton Centre.

N. H. S.

In two exciting games the Freshmen have proved themselves better than the Sophomores at baseball. In both, the Sophomores led until the ninth inning. The scene of these thrilling battles was Cabot Park. The first time the teams crossed bats was on Wednesday.

The batting of Hodges in both contests was a feature as he got a hit every time up. Both pitchers deserve much credit as does Hurley for the splendid way he held down third base. The final score was 11-10, the Freshmen overcoming the lead of seven runs that the Sophomores got across the plate in the first inning. The weather conditions were better for the second game which was played a week ago today. The condition of the field, and in short, everything was in favor of a good fast match.

In the first inning the pitchers were apt to be wild, and each nine made 4 runs. In the second, the Freshmen failed to get a man across the plate, while their opponents knocked two more runs to their credit, giving them a lead of two. Both twirlers then tightened and six innings passed without either side scoring. The big question was, could the Freshmen again come up in the ninth and win? It was to be two out of three games, and if another game was not to be played the Freshmen would have to do it. Excitement reigned. Pandemonium broke loose when those unbeatable Freshmen sent four men across the plate giving them an 8-6 victory. Three cheers for the class of 1915. There is material there to make a great nine to represent the whole school in a few years. These two games are to be the only ones played between class teams this year.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"All the Comforts of Home," William Gillette's side-splitting farce-comedy will be the bill next week at the Castle Square Theatre. Of all the successful comedies ever produced on the American stage, this one is voted the funniest. There is a laugh in almost every line. The story concerns a young man who finds himself to be a flat, stony broke and in debt up to his ears. He is in despair when the deus ex machina falls from heaven in the form of his wealthy uncle. Uncle being jealous of his sprightly wife, takes her away on a journey. This is where the nephew seizes an opportunity to enrich himself and repair his losses. He turns his uncle's home into a boarding house, where all sorts and conditions of people come to live—paying in advance. The humorous misunderstandings that arise can easily be imagined.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—For the fifth week of the Star Stock Season at the Majestic Theatre, beginning next Monday, June 14th, the management of the Loneragan Players has secured Miss Edith Tallafiero to appear in the delightful play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," in which she achieved such notable success when she played the part in Boston for the first time in 1910 at the Tremont Theatre. Since then Miss Tallafiero has appeared in divers characters, but none afforded her the opportunity to display all her winsomeness, naivete and charm better than "Rebecca." The play is a simple little pastoral arranged from Kate Douglas Wiggin's famous Rebecca stories by the author and Charlotte Thompson, and those who learned to love Rebecca in the book will find her alive upon the stage, when, in the person of Miss Tallafiero, she moves through four acts of refreshing country life.

A DOUBLE STANDARD

To the Editor of the Graphic: Equal Suffrage, which is one of the leading topics of the day, has become much confused in the minds of many thoughtful people on account of the double standard for men and women set up by those opposing the cause. The anti-suffragists, after a diligent search, claim they have found evidence that some woman in a suffrage state at some time sold her vote, and this alleged fact is made to appear in many of the newspapers throughout the country, and the claim is made that inasmuch as there is evidence that a woman at some time sold her vote, therefore all women are liable to sell their votes, and so women should not be given the franchise. How would it be if a man were found who sold his vote? Why simply a case of corrupt politics. No suggestion would be made that men in general sell their votes, or that they should be deprived of their franchise because one man yielded to a corrupt influence.

A man after qualifying as a voter is left to express his opinion through the ballot box as he sees fit. A woman before being enfranchised is questioned as to whether she expects to vote the Socialistic ticket or the Prohibition ticket, or what new laws she would like to have on the statute books. The question is, "What will she do with the vote after she gets it." Over a century ago women in New England who had been permitted to vote were deprived of their franchise on account of alleged cheating. This event, which occurred in the year 1800, serves as an argument against women having the ballot in this twentieth century. Imagine telling a group of young men qualified as voters that they were not entitled to the franchise because their great-grandfathers once cheated at the polls.

The question of capital and labor has proved a most perplexing problem to men of all classes for more than half a century, yet because the people in Colorado were unable to cope successfully for a time with the conditions resulting from the great coal strike it is argued that women in that state showed themselves inefficient, and that women suffrage proved a failure in Colorado. The women were apparently expected to do what the men were unable to do. It would be just as reasonable to claim that manhood suffrage in Massachusetts has proved a failure because the authorities of the commonwealth were unable for a long time to settle the Lawrence strike, which had led to death and bloodshed, and required the presence of the militia to protect life and property.

Perhaps the most striking instance of the double standard is in the significance attached to the individual opinions of suffragists speaking from a public platform. We know that men holding all kinds of socialistic doctrines and theories, vote, and no alarm for the well-being of society is felt in consequence, yet if a woman expresses any peculiar views in the course of a speech on Equal Suffrage the anti-suffrage party is at once thrown into a panic.

The only reasonable explanation for this alarm seems to be in the idea that while men vote independently, when women vote they will all vote alike. This is certainly quite contrary to the usual opinions of the sex, and also quite contrary to the practical workings of suffrage in Western states, where it is claimed that the tendency of women is to follow a principal rather than a party.

Woman Suffrage is pledged to no political party, to no socialistic doctrines or theories, nor to any cult or faith. The party founded on the principles contained in our Declaration of Independence that "Government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed." This is "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people." Women being people are entitled under a democratic form of government to become citizens, with the same right to express their opinions through the ballot box as men. This is woman suffrage. One of the best results in the equal suffrage states from enfranchising the women has been the doing away with this double standard. It is found that women vote with the same intelligence and the same independence as men. It is not probable that the women of Massachusetts have as much good sense as the women in suffrage states, and it is not probable that the result of woman suffrage here will be substantially the same as the result of woman suffrage in suffrage states.

THE NEWTON CEMETERY

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Dear Sir:—I would like to speak a word of appreciation of our beautiful Newton Cemetery, and to thank the Superintendent and his assistants for their untiring efforts to make the resting-place for our dead, one of the most beautiful of the many charming spots in our "Garden City."

Although it is said "comparisons are odious," I could not refrain from a sense of disappointment and surprise, after a visit to Mount Auburn, that a place so noted for its beauty, should seem to compare less favorably with our own, for the general appearance of its walks and roads, and even private lots, were not, it seemed to me, so well cared for as in our Newton Cemetery, and I thought with great pride and satisfaction of the efficient work done in our own "God's acre," where the sun shines so brightly and the flowers bloom in such beauty and profusion, as to make us rejoice that our dear ones are laid in so lovely a resting-place.

DINNER DANCE

One of the smartest and most delightful out door social events ever held at Brae Burn, Newton's popular club, was the dinner dance on Saturday evening.

In the charming environment of the club, the bowling green, covered with green canvas and attractively illuminated with electricity, and surrounded by the dense groves, served admirably to set off the gay ensemble. Myriads of variously colored Japanese lanterns shining thru the leafy boughs of the trees, together with the wailing strains of music by the 8th Mass. Infantry Band of Lynn, and the sight of hundreds of merry dancers, presented a scene to which no verbal description can do justice.

Altho it was far from being an "ideal" June night, the affair was a gratifying success, and surpassed those of previous years, both in point of enjoyment and attendance, and was under the able direction of Mr. Harry L. Ayer.

Two hundred and sixty guests were served at dinner from 6 until 8 and dancing was enjoyed from 8 until 11 o'clock.

Many of the dinner guests were served at small tables arranged on the broad piazzas of the club and the usual excellent service was maintained.

Among those who entertained at dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. William C. Safford, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Pratt, Mr. Harry L. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Witherbee, Dr. and Mrs. David W. Wells of West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. W. Kirke Corey, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Jones of Auburndale; Hon. Marcus Morton and Mrs. Morton; Mr. George G. Webster, Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Albee, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Russ, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Akroyd and Mr. R. N. Hall, Newton Centre; Mr. F. B. Munroe, Mr. Franklin F. Raymond, Mr. F. R. Chapman, Mr. E. E. Nason, Boston; Dr. and Mrs. Edward R. Utley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dexter, Mr. C. W. Davis, Cambridge; Mr. J. C. Blanchard, Jr., Hyde Park; Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Robinson, Mr. Howard Gilmore, Mr. Lincoln Green, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Eaton, Mr. R. A. Ballou, Mr. E. C. Townsend of Brookline.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS

Woman Suffrage Headquarters, Boston.

A crisp editorial comment that is being widely circulated because of its underlying logic is the following from the Waltham Free Press-Tribune:

"When we read Ex-Lieutenant Governor Luce's strictures on woman's incapacity for official position, we wondered if he remembered that his mother was, not many years ago, an active, capable and esteemed member of Waltham's School Committee."

It looks as though it was up to Mr. Luce to explain away this "stain" upon his family honor or else join the forces that look upon the mothers of men as the mothers of the republic itself.

A FANTASIE

Rhythmic Pantomime and Dance (under the direction of Laura Palmer Ingalls) will be given at Wedgemere, the beautiful estate of Mrs. Edwin Ginn, Winchester (Wedgemere Station) on Friday, June 18, 1915, at 3.30 P. M. for the benefit of the Child Welfare Work of the Father and Mothers Club. Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey, 13 Richardson street.

Should it rain the event will be postponed to Monday, June 21, or the next pleasant day.

Freshman Prize Speaking

The orchestra played a lively march as the pupils collected in the School Hall to hear the fifth annual Freshman Prize Speaking Contest. There were present all Freshmen, about half of the Junior class, and the Seniors. Mrs. C. H. Mills, Mr. H. B. Ehrmann, and Rev. A. J. Muste of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville, acted as judges. Donald R. Hunt, Roger McNear, John Kellar, and Henry Wilson officiated as ushers.

President Stickney of the Senior class said that the class offers two prizes this year as usual; one to the successful girl, and the other to the winner of the boys. "As you all have programs in your hands the speaking will go on without further introduction."

The first speaker, Miss Elizabeth Cooney, gave "Hiawatha's Wooing." Miss Cooney with a clear, full voice recited those beautiful lines of Longfellow with a great deal of feeling. The change of voice for the different characters was very cleverly done.

The contestants being arranged first a girl then a boy, Bernard Smith next stepped forward and recited "The Renting Mob" by Lucy Hooper. The selection was suited to the giver's voice, and his delivery was commendable.

The third speaker, Miss Lila Morrill, selected "Edelweiss" by Mary L. Dickinson. She did not show quite the finish of the others as she had to be prompted once; nevertheless, the closing of her difficult recitation was excellently done.

An extract from "The Man without a Country," given by Frederick Collagan, seemed particularly appropriate because of the terrible conflict in Europe. Collagan showed he felt what he said and he made the words of Nolan very appealing.

Miss Julia Quigley pleased her hearers very much with the way she gave "The Song of the Market-Place" by James Buckham.

The next to speak was a Scotch boy of great popularity in the school, and he brought roars of laughter with "Cuddle Doon" by Alexander Anderson. Lewis is so natural, and his gestures so good that one cannot fail to listen to and enjoy everything he says.

The seventh speaker was Miss Dorothy Wheaton of amateur theatrical fame. Miss Wheaton with well modulated voice, suitable gestures and clear enunciation spoke "The Courtin'" by James R. Lowell.

Miss Francis Thumlin, of the English Department, should be congratulated for her part in preparing the speakers for the occasion.

"The Soul of the Violin" was next given by Robert Perry. Perry spoke this pathetic selection with wonderful clearness, visualizing for his audience the scene, and creating the atmosphere.

Rev. Mr. Muste for the judges said "that the uniform excellence of the interpretation of all the selections make the contest hard to judge; however, the judges have arrived at a unanimous decision. The prize for the girls goes to Miss Elizabeth Cooney. The boy winner is Robert Perry."

N. H. S.

Newton added to their victories when they defeated Dorchester 10-4 on Claffin Field last Friday. Bryson made a corking one handed catch, and touching second base completed a double play unassisted. Both teams were poor at fielding, and it was Newton's thirteen hits that put the game on ice.

The Newton High baseball nine has played twenty of the twenty-two games on its schedule. Not a single game has had to be called off on account of rain. Newton has thirteen victories to her credit over seven defeats. This is an excellent record, and if the team wins the two remaining games it will improve even this record.

Last time Newton crossed bats for this year will be when the team journeys to Beverly to play the local school there. By winning from Cambridge Latin on Russell Field, Cambridge, on Tuesday, the Triangular League championship is practically secured, but should Brookline again beat Cambridge Latin, Newton and Brookline would be tied for first place honors. Cambridge Latin and Brookline clash on Saturday, and a great deal depends on that game. As Newton beat Brookline 6-0 the last time they met them, it is the general belief that Newton could again come out successful.

The May issue of the "Review" is called the "Girls' Number." There are some good stories in it. "Caruso Imitated" by Margaret S. Sampson of the class of 1915, is a very clever piece of work.

The editorial in this issue is exceedingly well written, and worthy of a much older author. The "Ten most useful things in high school" is very witty, and has caused much laughter. Who ever "B. K. B." may be "Love is Blind" is very unique, and is an example of a cleverly constructed story. This number was a great tribute to the girls of the school.

The first magazine ever published by a Junior class appeared lately. "The Harlequin," for such is the name, is chiefly due to the efforts of Mr. Thomas's English division known as 2 English C. The Junior class selected as editor Judith Matlack, and for her assistants, Bartlett Boyden and Dalton Francis, latter also upheld the business end of this successful venture, with the assistance of Harold Brown. The cover is green, and to add a touch of brightness has gold lettering. The magazine contains contributions from all but six members of the English division; three of these pupils handed in work which had to be omitted because of lack of space.

Next week there will be a review of the inside of this paper in this feature column of the GRAPHIC.

WIGGIN-SHATTUCK

The wedding of Miss Edith May Shattuck, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck of West Newton and Mr. Henry Dwight Wiggins, Jr. Harvard, 90, of Hillside avenue, West Newton, took place on Wednesday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at four o'clock at the Shattuck home on Hillside avenue by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of the Unitarian Church.

LASELL COMMENCEMENT

Commencement week at Lasell Seminary began on Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon delivered in the Auburndale Congregational Church by Rev. A. J. Muste of the Central Church, Newtonville.

Mr. Muste said in part:

"Front life bravely, then demand great things of it. Above all, keep your soul clean and high, for if you sin, if you let the body grow weak, the mind dull, the soul dirty, then there is something of all this beauty, knowledge achievement that you will have to miss. Every time you look at an unclean thing it dims your eyes so that there is some beauty in this world they will never see. Every moment you waste means that some truth will never dawn in splendor on your soul. Every time you weaken yourself by sin and unbelief, you put some achievement forever beyond your reach. And this is hell—that there should be beauty and we not see it, truth and we not able to comprehend it, brave work to do and our hands paralyzed."

Mr. Henry Turner Bailey conducted the vesper services held that afternoon.

Class night, gala event in the Commencement exercises took place Monday evening on the school grounds in the presence of a large gathering of alumnae and parents of the graduates.

The exercises were opened with the processionary march, led by Miss Jessie Shepherd, president of the sophomore class, followed by the class of 1915 carrying on their shoulders the daisy chain made by the juniors.

The address of welcome was made by the president, Miss Nellie Woodworth of Brookline, after which came the roll call, during which each senior was presented with some token by Miss Bess Emerine.

A song and the class poem read by the author, Miss Susan Tiffany, were followed by a song by Miss Helen Benson.

The prophecy, featured by stereopticon, was by Miss Doris Waller and Miss Maud Freeman, and the memories of 1915 were presented by Miss Maude Wetherbee.

Miss Florence Evans presented the class gift, a couch and fire set for Gardner Hall. The recessionary march, written by Miss Gladys Wilkes brought the exercises to a close.

The seniors, escorted by the juniors, then made farewell to the dormitories. The farewell to Cushman was by Veda Ferguson, to Gardner by Martha Schumann, and to the Crow's Nest by Evelyn Dunham.

This was followed by the usual bonfire, where, under direction of Miss Kathleen Thorpe, the seniors burned up their pet adversions of the year.

The formal commencement exercises were held in the Congregational Church on Tuesday morning, the musical program including selections by Mr. George Dunham on the organ, a violin selections by Miss Irma Seydel and a baritone solo by Mr. Bernard Ferguson. Prayer was offered by Rev. Lee S. McCollister, dean of Tufts Theological School and the address to the graduating class was made by Dean Charles R. Brown of the Yale Divinity School. Dr. Brown said in part:

"Let me bring you a motto on this Commencement Day. It is the motto of the oldest college for women in America. It is taken from the song of an ancient singer who wished that the daughters of his country might be as 'corner-stones polished after the similitude of a palace.'"

"You have here the three m- elements in the finer type of womanhood—character, culture, sympathy. Let the young woman be in character as solid and reliable as a cornerstone; you always know where to find her. She is not blown about by every breeze of outside influence. She lives by settled principles."

Let her be smooth and fair, graceful and charming after the similitude of a palace! The polish of the granite block is not something laid on from the outside—it is the essential quality of the granite revealing itself in all its beauty. The culture of the true woman is the woman's own inner self finding expression in those ways which add to the beauty and glory of her life."

Let her in the spirit of sympathy be ready to take her place in the wall of the palace. She is ready to subordinate personal preferences and her own selfish convenience that the social structure may thereby be reared in all its noble usefulness. Character, culture, sympathy—these three! If these qualities be in you and about you will without fail make your due contribution to the world's precious store of worthy and gracious womanhood."

Dr. Guy M. Winslow, the principal of the school then presented diplomas to 36 seniors, among whom were Miss Ida L. Beane of Auburndale and Miss Evelina E. Perkins of West Newton. Miss Beane and Miss Perkins were also given certificates in Household Economics, and Miss Helen Pope of Newton Centre was similarly honored. Miss Elizabeth F. Hildreth of Brattleboro, Vt., was awarded the tiny gold loaf for excellence in breadmaking and the silver loaf, or second prize went to Miss Elsie Doleman of Greenwood.

Following the church exercises the girls went to the Crow's Nest, where the class songs were sung for the last time.

MacDOUGAL-ALLEN

In Malden last week Thursday evening Mr. William Wallace MacDougal of Newton and Miss Olive Louise Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eben Allen of 23 Auburn street, Malden, were married by Rev. Richard Eddy Sykes, D.D., of the First Universalist Church. Only immediate relatives were present. Mr. Philip R. Allen, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Helen W. Pierson was maid of honor. Mr. and Mrs. MacDougal will make their home at 511 Hancock street, Wollaston.

TO LAY CORNER STONE

The exercises of laying the cornerstone for the new Second Congregational Church at West Newton will follow the morning services on Sunday, June 13. A special offering is to be taken that day for the spire of the new church.

MILK BOTTLES FROM GARBAGE DUMPS

Milk ordinances without end exist in our big cities and large sums of money are expended in their enforcement. Much larger sums are expended by producers, wholesalers and retailers in abiding by these milk ordinances. Yet it is the practice in many municipalities to reclaim milk bottles from the garbage dumps and to sell them to milkmen, who refill them with milk.

Bacteriological examinations made of salvaged milk bottles after they had been washed and made ready for use in Buffalo, New York, showed many of them to be in no sense sterile. Nor does the danger rest solely in the bacterial content of the salvaged milk bottles. Careless, thoughtless consumers put milk bottles to weird uses. It is not improbable that a person who had used a milk bottle as a container for poison would afterward throw it into the garbage can.

The work of reclaiming milk bottles from the dumps is sometimes carried on by tramps and rag pickers, sometimes by the city itself. One city by an ordinance forbids the recovery of milk bottles from ashes and garbage by any one but agents of the city. But this is not with the idea of guarding the milk supply, for the city itself sells the bottles to a milk-bottle exchange, from which they pass to the milk dealers.

The legitimate activities of city milk-bottle exchanges are by no means to be confused with the questionable practice of collecting and selling bottles found in the garbage dumps. The exchange, accomplished by a valuable service for the city milk dealers.

The bottle exchanges have wagons whose drivers follow definite routes daily, collecting stray bottles at each plant and returning the bottles belonging there. It is not customary for the bottle-exchange operatives to clean milk bottles gathered on the routes, this task being left to the owners.

The City of Boston allows the reclamation of milk bottles, the Inspector of Milk of that city, James O. Jordan, stating: "The use of bottles that find their way to dumps with ashes and other waste is permitted in this city. These milk containers are sorted from the refuse by men who have charge of the dumps, and are then sold to a corporation known as the Milk Bottle Exchange, owned and controlled by milkmen. This concern washes and sorts the bottles and returns them to their original owners for a consideration."

Boston, while condoning the practice, is not oblivious to its undesirability, and the annual report of the milk inspector lays stress upon the misuse of milk containers. Pictures of reclaimed dump bottles are published in the report, and in all instances the statement is appended "these are later to be employed as containers of milk." That the public acquires a needed lesson by this policy is shown by the decrease of recovered dump bottles for successive years. In 1912 the Milk Exchange paid the dump operators $28,927 for the collection of 490,978 bottles. In the year 1913 the corporation paid $152,045 for dump bottles, and 311,061 bottles were obtained. A decrease of 179,917 containers will be noted in the 1913 figures.

The Cities of Rochester and Chicago are the only instances where the collection of dump bottles is prohibited. The Department of Health of Chicago states: "It is not customary to allow the collection of milk bottles from the city garbage dumps by anyone. We are making an effort to eliminate the practice of collecting milk bottles from garbage boxes, dumps and the like as we realize there is a possibility of disease being spread by such practice."

Dr. William H. Heath, Chief Milk Inspector of Buffalo, where the use of milk bottles from the city garbage dumps was lately under investigation, informs me that he considers this practice "as absolutely inconsistent with the theory and practice of the production of pure milk. It is wrong, first, because of the undesirable association of the bottles with the garbage; second, because of the possibility of contamination; and third, because the methods of cleaning and sterilization before use are commonly improper."

It would seem that the last of the foregoing objections is the most valid of the lot. The small milk dealer is not willing to clean and sterilize milk bottles properly, and since many of the reclaimed bottles fall into the hands of such dealers, their use should be prohibited by all. And when the reclaimed bottles are used as milk containers, it should be only after a careful washing and sterilization in a high-pressure steam sterilizer. This can be readily accomplished by the plan that was recommended in Buffalo as the outcome of an investigation. It was decided that it was safe to refill dump bottles if they were properly washed and sterilized.

More cities should adopt the Boston policy of educating the public. Maybe if every city dweller realized that a milk bottle thrown into the garbage can today may, after its passage through the refuse of the city, return refilled to the backdoor step, there would be a more strict observance of the property rights of the milk man.

GIVEN $500 IN GOLD

Mr. William J. Doherty of Broadway, Newtonville, who has just resigned as superintendent of terminals of the Port of Boston, to accept the post of general manager of the Armstrong Transfer Co. of Boston, was honored by Port Directors, customs and immigrant officials, and employees at the Commonwealth Pier, South Boston on Monday afternoon and presented with a purse of $500 in gold. Mr. J. A. Campbell, wharfinger was the chairman and the presentation was made by Mr. J. T. McDonald, who succeeds Mr. Doherty as superintendent. Miss C. I. Allen also spoke for the women employees.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the playing by the bands of the interned German steamships, the Cincinnati and America.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION

A splendid audience of representative ladies and gentlemen were present last night at the Masonic Building, Newtonville, at the public installation of the recently elected officers of Dalhousie lodge of Masons, Rt. Wor. D. G. M. William O. Hunt was the installing officer and he was assisted by Wor. Bro. Fred M. Blanchard as grand marshal. These officers were installed, W. M. Allen D. Cady; S. W. Arthur S. Kimball; J. W. Henry C. French; S. D. Edwin F. Ripley; J. D. Walter L. McCammon; S. S. Charles H. Clark; J. S. Robert D. Diggs, Jr.; I. S. Wm. A. Richardson; Secretary, Edward E. Morgan, Treas.; Edward C. Wyatt; Marshall, F. M. Mitchell; organist, Fred L. Cahill. The tyler, Mr. E. E. Williams was not installed on account of illness and the chaplain Fred W. Orcutt, was not present on account of illness in his family. An interesting feature of the installation was the reception given Mr. Morgan as he was installed as secretary for the 40th year, the applause being long and the quartet, singing "Auld Lang Syne." The retiring Master, Mr. F. S. Fairchild was presented with a Past Masters apron by the new Master, A. D. Cady and with a handsome past masters jewel by Past Master C. R. Hayes.

Mr. Wyatt succeeds Mr. John W. Fisher, who has served as treasurer for 15 years.

Refreshments and dancing followed the installation ceremonies.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin N. Thatcher celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, at their residence on Beacon street, Newton Centre. It was a delightfully informal affair, and attended only by a few neighbors, relatives and intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher received their guests from three until five, and the rooms were attractively decorated with flowers, in a golden color scheme. They were showered with a profusion of beautiful flowers, gifts and congratulations.

Among those who participated in the happy occasion were Rev. Dr. Chaney of Salem, who officiated at Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher's wedding fifty years ago; Mrs. Harry P. Dewey, their daughter, and the Misses Elizabeth, Cornelia, and Margaret Dewey their granddaughters, of Minneapolis. Minn., Hon. Marcus Morton, Mrs. Morton and Miss Helen Morton, and Mr. Charles W. Leonard and family of Newtonville.

SECRETARY APPOINTED

The recently organized Newton Welfare Bureau, which intends to centralize so far as possible, all the charitable work in this city announces the appointment of Miss Margaret E. Rich as a paid secretary and who will take charge of the offices of the Bureau in Clifton Block, Newtonville on July 1st. Miss Rich comes to the Bureau with the best of recommendations and with an experience of four years in Associated Charity Work in Roxbury.

TOM THUMB WEDDING

Three hundred and fifty guests assembled at the West Newton Congregational Church Tuesday afternoon to witness the wedding of Mr. "Tom Thumb," (Marshall Dwinell) and Miss "Jenny June," (Barbara Jack).

The church was very artistically decorated for the occasion, the altar being draped with a brilliant white background of palms and a screen-banked with white snowballs and large vases of the snowballs placed on both sides. The incline which extended to the altar was decorated on each side with masses of yellow fleur-de-lis and the electricity from the foot-lights, shining on the whole, made a wonderfully effective scene and when the bride party assembled the guests were lost in admiration.

Never in the history of June weddings was there a more charming bridal party. The bride, little Miss Barbara Jack, was a most adorable blue-eyed golden haired "Jenny June," fair as a lily, and she wore a beautiful wedding-gown of white nainsook trimmed with lace, her draped veil was fastened with orange blossoms and roses and edged with the blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. She was attended by two little flower girls, Constance Upham, and Elizabeth Moynihan, both wearing pretty dresses of white with pink ribbon bows and carrying baskets of syringa blossoms. Miss Eleanor Cough, a lovely little blue-eyed creature gowned in pink and white, wearing a head band with a diamond butterfly, in the centre, was the maid of honor; she carried a sheaf bouquet of yellow fleur-de-lis and the bridesmaids, six ravishing beauties, were attired alike in surprise dresses of pink with pink ribbon bands across their foreheads fastened with diamond stars, and they carried a bouquet of syringa blossoms. The bridesmaids included Elizabeth Bowen, Dorothy Hincks, Alice Eaton, Betty Lawry, Eleanor Moynihan, and Eileen Park.

Edward Rice was best man and was certainly at his best, but not better than the bridegroom, who, contrary to custom, attracted almost as much attention and admiration as the bride and her attendants.

The ushers were six very dignified little gentlemen wearing the conventional dress suit, each decked out with a white carnation, and "grown ups" could not have acquitted themselves more creditably; they included Neal Lovell, Randall Stratton, Hayward Woolston, William Park, Herbert Holbrook and Reginald Carey.

The bride was given away by her father (Clifton Dwinell) and this very unique ceremony, which was written for the occasion by Mrs. Redfield, was performed at 4 o'clock by Irving Palmer, who assumed the dignity of a very serious clergyman.

As the bridal party entered, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was sung beautifully by two boy sopranos, Alvah Wheeler and Arthur Carter, and the sweetness of their voices aroused the admiration of the large audience, with piano accompaniment by Miss Edith Spenzola and violin obligato by Miss Irene Forti and Charles Laffie. The music was especially well rendered.

As the bridal procession marched into the reception room, Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Redfield as a recessional.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the east parlor. The bride couple were assisted in receiving by their parents, Miss Marjorie Pales, who impersonated the bride's mother, was altogether charming in a gown of pink satin, and Barbara King, as the bride's grandmother, was the dearest little old lady imaginable, gowned in gray silk with old family lace.

Miss Elizabeth Retan, as the bridegroom's mother, was radiant in a wonderful creation of black lace over white satin, wearing jet ornaments in her hair. Miss Eleanor Hartel the bridegroom's grandmother, was exquisite in a gown of black with trimmings of white lace.

Herbert Jenkins represented the bridegroom's father and Munroe Gill, and his grandfather, appeared as a very venerable old gentleman, white haired and of dignified mien.

Among the guests at the reception were Elizabeth Kilburn, Marjorie Turner, Cornelia Moynihan, Betty Larcom, Ruth Holbrook, Bessie Moore, Leora Bacon, Lois Ladd, Betty Granger, Betty Newton, Priscilla Bacon, William Carley, Warren Rogers, Gordon Campbell, Nelson Hatt, John Cole, Walter Woodward, Harold Thompson, Raymond Woolston, Edwin Covell, Nathaniel Ladd, Marshall Glazier and Charles Lucas.

This very successful social affair was under the direction of Mrs. Walton Spencer Redfield, assisted by Miss Dorothy Hartel.

The wedding was so highly pleasing to the audience that it will be repeated by request on Tuesday evening, June 15th, at 7 o'clock, at the West Newton Congregational Church.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL

The fourth annual graduation exercises of the Country Day School were held at the school yesterday afternoon and the graduates were awarded to a class of twelve seniors. Following prayer by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Congregational Church, Newton, the pupils sang a hymn and were then addressed by the head master, Shirley K. Kerns. There were songs by the glee club and selections by the mandolin club. Rev. Albert Parker Fitch, D. D., president of the Andover Theological Seminary, made an address to the graduates and the diplomas were given out by Henry N. Cabot of Brookline.

Following is a list of seniors: Reed P. Anthony of Boston; William B. Bacon of Brookline; Ralph G. Crimmins of West Newton; Freeman L. Curtis of Brookline; Ellison G. Day of Newton; Charles E. Hodges, Jr., of Brookline; John N. Ladd of Boston; John L. Lincoln, 2nd, of Brookline; Eugene D. Morse of Brookline; Charles A. Morris, Jr., of Chest Hill; Augustus Thorndike, Jr., of Boston.

FLINCHBAUGH-MILLS

The wedding of Miss Phyllis Hamer Mills, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills of High street, Newton Upper Falls, and Mr. Donald Forrest Flinchbaugh of Lockport, N. Y., took place Wednesday evening at the Upper Falls Methodist Church which was attractively decorated with mountain laurel and Dorothy Perkins roses for the occasion. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. James T. Carlyon of Malden, a former pastor of the church, officiated and was assisted by the present pastor, Rev. Joseph Stevens.

The bride was gowned in crepe meteor with Alencon lace and chiffon and was accompanied by her sister, Eleanor Mills and Doris Brown as flower girls. Mr. Robert R. Updegraff was the best man and the guests were seated by these ushers, Messrs. Fred H. Mills, brother of the bride and Prescott Gould, Denton Nutter and Winchester Everett, all of Newton Upper Falls.

A largely attended reception followed at the Mills residence on High street, where the floral decorations were sweet peas and roses, the color scheme being pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Flinchbaugh will reside at 31 Harris avenue, Needham, where they will be at home after October first.

DONATION DAY

The Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre held a Donation Day on Monday at the Mothers' Rest on High street, Needham Heights.

The attendance was very good, considering the unfavorable condition of the weather, and there were many generous donations. They included money, household articles, foods and clothing, and among the latter were dresses and nice new sweaters for little children.

Mrs. E. D. Burr, the president of the Association, and Mrs. Taylor, matron of the Mothers' Rest, received the visitors from 3 until 5 and showed them over the Institution.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Maude Flanders and Miss Marguerite Flanders of Newton Centre.

Some new hammocks are needed at the Rest, and they desire very much to have a Victrola and a donation of these would be greatly appreciated.

MINISTER HURT

Rev. James Clement Sharp, the rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd at Waban was badly injured last Friday afternoon, while riding in the automobile owned by Mr. George M. Angier of Waban and operated by Maurice Clark, his chauffeur. While running the machine on Fuller street near Chestnut street, it struck a stone and ran into a tree on the side of the road. Both men were thrown out, Mr. Sharp breaking his left leg, and Mr. Clark fracturing his right ankle and both were painfully cut and bruised. They were taken to the Newton Hospital.

BEAN SOUPS.

BEAN SOUPS are considered nutritious. Made with a rich stock and thickened with beans, these soups are substantial dishes for cold weather.

Baked Bean Soup.—Put in saucepan a cupful of cold baked beans, two cupfuls water and two slices of onion. Bring to the boiling point and simmer half an hour. Rub through a sieve and add one-half cupful stewed and strained tomatoes, two teaspoonfuls each of butter and flour, one teaspoonful chili sauce. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Served with bread or crackers and followed by a light dessert. It provides a cheap and satisfying lunch.

Made With Red Beans.

Bean Chowder.—Wash well one cupful of red beans. Soak over night in a quart of cold water. In the morning add a whole onion and stew until the beans are tender. Add water as they cook to keep the quantity first added. When beans are tender add medium sized diced potatoes, half a pint of strained tomatoes and half a cupful of broken macaroni. Boil for about an hour. Season with salt and pepper. Add diced fried bacon and one tablespoonful bacon fat. Then serve.

Flavored With Herbs.

Kidney Bean Soup.—Take two cupfuls cold boiled kidney beans, four cupfuls stock of water, one tablespoonful grated onion, one tablespoonful butter, one teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful pepper, one-fourth teaspoonful white thyme, one teaspoonful chopped parsley and a dash of paprika. Put the kidney beans on to boil with the stock or water; boil twenty minutes, mash and strain. Return to the boiler, add the onion, butter, salt, pepper, paprika, parsley and thyme; boil a couple of minutes and serve. If pot thick enough add one tablespoonful flour mixed with a little cold water.

Soup of the Fatherland.

German Bean Soup.—Take one cupful of beans, two cupfuls of water, one small onion, one medium sized potato, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two teaspoonfuls of salt, pepper to taste and water as needed. Soak beans over night in a pint of water; in the morning pour off. Measure the beans after they have expanded, add same amount of water, the potato cut into small cubes, the minced onion and boil until tender. When ready to serve add the butter and seasoning. If too thick a little more water can be added. Many like a little vinegar in bean soup, but this may be added at table by each according to taste.

CRANBERRY PIES.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Asparagus Soup.
Veal Stew. Rice Potatoes.
Peas With Butter Bails.
Watercress.
Cranberry Pie. Small Cakes.
Coffee.

WHEN they are in season one should eat of cranberries as often as possible. A good way to use them is in pies. There are several sorts of cranberry pie.

Topped With Cream.

Jellied Cranberry Pie.—Bake a crust on an inverted agate pie tin. When baked fill with jellied cranberry sauce, on which pile whipped cream, sweetened, and just a suggestion of vanilla. Cranberry and Raisin Pie.—Cover the bottom of a pie pan with a plain paste, reserving enough for an upper crust. Make a rim around the edge and pour in a filling made with a cupful of cranberries cut into halves, half a cupful of chopped, seeded raisins, three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of cornstarch and lump of butter. Cover with the upper crust and bake in the oven.

A Good Imitation.

Mock Cherry Pie.—Take two large cupfuls of cut cranberries, a cupful of cut raisins, two cupfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of boiling water, two tablespoonfuls of flour, butter size of a walnut and a dessertspoonful of vanilla. Mix flour with sugar, add boiling water; then add fruit, then butter. Stir until it comes to a boil. Add vanilla. Put in crusts for two pies.

Old Fashioned Pie.

Latticed Cranberry Pie.—Line a deep pie plate with rich puff paste. Stew three cupfuls of cranberries with a cupful and a half of sugar, and when they are tender stir with a wooden spoon until all the cranberry skins are broken. Pour this mixture into the pastry shell. Roll out some paste and cut it into six strips half an inch wide and the length of the pie pan's diameter. Cut another strip big enough to reach around the pan. Arrange three strips one way of the pie and three strips across them to form diamonds. Arrange the seventh strip around the edge of the pie over the others. Beat an egg and mix it with a little milk. Wash the strips of crust with this and bake the pie in a quick oven until the crust is brown.

Slavery Originated in the East.

Absolute slavery seems to have appeared in the eastern colonies some what earlier than in the southern, for slavery existed in New York in 1628. In New Jersey in 1623, in Massachusetts in 1630, in Connecticut in 1631 and in Delaware in 1636. There was a statutory recognition of slavery in Massachusetts in 1641, which was considerably ahead of such recognition of slavery in Virginia or Maryland.

Invented in 1589.

The writing frame was invented in 1589. William Lee, a graduate of Cambridge university and a native of Woodborough, near Nottingham, England. So perfect was the invention in every detail that to this day the essential features of the machine continue in use for the class of work to which Lee applied it.

“Marry a busy man,” advises Helen Rowland. It can't be done legally. All the busy men are married. That's what makes them busy.

Daily Thought.

Politeness appears to have been invented to enable people who would naturally fall out, to live together in peace.

Buy It Now

Farmers must start the ball of prosperity rolling. It's up to them. Let them buy now the things they most need. This will very shortly solve the problem of the unemployed. The country can save the city. Thousands of families are suffering this winter. Are you going to help? Do it for humanitarian reasons if for nothing else.

White House Coffee

The Encyclopedia Britannica speaks of coffee as an "important and valuable ARTICLE OF FOOD used since 875 A.D." Also "Coffee is exhilarating, lightens the sense of fatigue, and sustains strength under prolonged and severe exertion." What better tribute could be paid to coffee than the above from this world-famous authority?

It describes White House Coffee to the letter. We would only add that "White House" has a flavor never approached by any other coffee; its dependable quality and excellence is secured by expert blending of selections from the Mountain Districts of the Coffee World whence come the sweetest coffees, and the White House Brand is prepared for market and delivered to you just as we pack it in a thoroughly up-to-date coffee establishment, where all the weighing and handling is done by automatic machinery, in rooms continuously supplied with fresh air and flooded with sunlight. 1, 2 and 3-lb. sea seal cans only. Never in bulk. All leading grocers. If you have not tried "White House," you have missed one of the joys of living.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

suffragists drape in black in their parades, has more than sustained its great reputation. The achievements in which it has taken the leadership from decade to decade is long and varied. It established the first State Labor Bureau in the world, the first solid savings bank legislation in this country, the first sound standard insurance policy, the first state savings banks and life insurance system, one of the first railroad commissions; and it has, according to ex-President Taft the best legal system to be found. It established the first Board of Charities. It has led in prison reform; Charlestown was the first prison to adopt the honor system; our probation system was the first, and is the best; and Boston appointed the first trained alienist attached to a municipal court. The Boston health statistics are among the few that are carefully and scientifically kept. The Massachusetts Pure Food law antedated the Federal statute; Boston's department of school hygiene is unexcelled; and this State made the first systematic campaign against consumption.

"More than thirty years ago Massachusetts began to appoint women on prison boards, and on boards of overseers of the poor. It appointed women on school boards before women voted for school committees. It established the first probation system for husbands guilty of assault on their families. It was one of the first, if not the first, state to pass a workmen's compensation law; and it took the first step in minimum wage legislation. It has been a pioneer in legislation regarding education and children, its laws with regard to child labor being far in advance of those in many suffrage states. It protects women in industry by its 54-hour law, its prohibition of night work, its maternity law, and its minimum wage commission,—a combination which, when taken as a whole, is unsurpassed by the woman suffrage states. Some of the latter exempt women workers in canneries. Massachusetts refused the jewelry manufacturers an exemption, and also those who asked for an exemption in order to fill emergency war orders.

"In 1912 the American Association for Labor Legislation found that Massachusetts employed one factory inspector for every 234 factories; Colorado one for every 508, Utah one for 749, Washington one for every 735, and California one for every 1,276. The Massachusetts inspectors are under civil service rules; but in four suffrage states neither civil service requirements nor practical experience are demanded. The minimum fine for discriminating against an employee testifying before the Massachusetts Wage Commission is $200; the corresponding fine in Colorado $25, Oregon, and Washington is only $25.

"Suffragists say that the penalty for working a woman or a child more than 54 hours a week is $50 to $100; the penalty for employing a man on public work more than eight hours a day is a fine of $1000 or six months' imprisonment. The comparison is deliberately misleading; it disregards the difference between Federal and state laws, and between maximum and minimum penalties. Laws regarding public work are blanket laws, protecting men and women. For working a man in private employment more than 54 hours a week the penalty is nothing whatever, for there is no law against it. Suffragists have charged that women employees are discriminated against at the State House. This is false. All state departments make a seven-hour day the rule, except on Saturday when employees work three hours. Most of the women are employed as clerks or stenographers. In thirty-five departments or institutions clerks and stenographers are granted one month's vacation; in five others, 3 weeks; and in thirty-one others, two weeks. Laborers, workmen, and mechanics work eight hours; and in many instances receive no vacation. If there is any discrimination, it is in favor of the women. The voting laborers did not get a half-holiday until 1914. The suffragists' charges that Massachusetts is not giving women a square deal are so easily disproved that they will do their cause more harm than good. Massachusetts men resent unwarranted attacks upon their State.

Mr. Charles L. Underhill, who served for ten years as a member of the Massachusetts legislature from Somerville, followed Dr. Bernbaum. He spoke convincingly from the viewpoint of a legislator, and one who had visited suffrage states and could speak from experience as to how the laws were enforced in those states. He said he would give them a toast given by a suffragist—"Here's to woman, yesterday our superior—today our equal."

One very important thing to remember is, that the ballot is not a right, duty, or privilege; it is simply a responsibility, and one that many men shirk—when the women have it forced upon them, about 33 per cent of the number that ought to register, do so, and vote.

The question is—What is for the best interests of the State? You will find reform is a matter of slow growth; it comes from the individual, then the laws come to make the living up to the standard of the majority. Unless public opinion is back of the law it is not worth the paper it is written on, and so many laws in the woman-suffrage states are not enforced. A ballot placed in the ballot box without force back of it is of no use.

80 per cent of the women of the United States are married. A woman can either vote with her husband and duplicate his effort with all the energy consumed, or she can vote against him and disfranchise the family. You can't get away from it, she can't vote any other way.

Men and women are taxed alike and it is spent alike. One woman in ten is taxed—so for every woman who pays taxes and votes, there are ten going to vote who are not taxed.

You can't reform a community by voting. Legislation doesn't pay wages, it's organization. Double the vote and you double the expense; you are the ones who are going to pay for it. What advantage to the state, woman, or man, by doubling the vote?

One of the most puerile reasons given by the suffragist is, that if women had the vote there would be no war.

the ballot and war have no connection whatever. As a united, non-partisan unit, women are strong and can accomplish great humanitarian objects, but in politics they are divided among the different political parties and their strength is dissipated.

When you say it is bound to come, you are not informed; 19 states in the last six months have refused woman suffrage, and you must always remember that with suffrage you include a million socialists who march under the red banner of socialism, with the yellow banner under it of votes for women.

An order requesting the Mayor to establish a safety zone in the North Square and to request the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. to stop their cars about 100 feet short of the present terminal of the tracks was also adopted.

The board adjourned at 9.21.

LADIES' NIGHT

An excellent audience was present in the Unitarian Parish House, West Newton last Wednesday evening, the occasion being the annual Ladies' Night of the Men's Club.

There was a splendid concert by well-known artists under the direction of A. H. Handley. Albert Edmund Brown, baritone, who was the soloist at the last Handel & Haydn performance of the "Messiah" and who toured with Frieda Hempel of the Metropolitan Opera Co. was the brightest particular star. His dramatic intensity, especially in the dramatic setting of "Danny Deever" and "Edward" by Loewe, was thoroughly compelling and stamped this artist as an interpreter of the first rank.

The "Edward" number, a remarkable type of art-ballad was delivered with thrillingly gruesome effect while the "Danny Deever" had an originality about its rendition that made it appeal as if one were hearing it for the first time. Nor was it in dramatic numbers alone that Mr. Brown shone. In the "Honor and Arms" from Samson, he displayed a rich sonorous baritone. In fine declamatory phrases. In his singing of the Ode to English and Modern American Songs there was an infinite variety of tonal color and perfectly finished legato revealed. All of his numbers were received with much applause and he had to respond to several encores.

Ethel Frank, the prima donna from the Boston Opera was in good voice. She sang a group of modern songs and another group with harp accompaniment. It was a pleasure to hear this splendid artist sing. Her control of tone, being a fine example of musical finish. Her diction is of the kind easily appreciated and the sweetness and absolute pitch of her upper notes, gave pleasure to her audience.

Erldine Cowley read an excerpt from Bernard Shaw's "Man & Superman." She also gave a reading from Noyes "Highwayman" to an encore of which she responded with "The Little Red Hen." Miss Cowlishaw is always a favorite and she added again to her laurels.

Madame Amelia Conti-Berenguer, the famous pianist, gave a most pleasing performance in her display of modern songs. She played Hasselman's "Christian Story" for her chief number and as an encore, gave a rhythmic Italian waltz number with splendid effect. The full, rich tone she draws from her instrument makes her playing unique and distinctive in the realm of harpists.

CORB-CONVERSE

Notable among the June weddings was that Wednesday afternoon at Boulder farm, Oak Hill, Newton Centre, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, when Miss Gertrude Converse, daughter of Mrs. Shaw by the latter's first marriage, was married to Mr. Augustus Smith Cobb, Harvard '07, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cobb of Adams street, Milton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William H. Lyon of the First Parish Unitarian Church, Brookline, and the bride was given in marriage by her step-father.

The bridesmaids were Misses Kathleen Cobb of West Newton and Louise Converse of Westwood, cousins of the bride. The best man was Dr. Stanley Cobb, Harvard '10, brother of the groom. At the ceremony only relatives and intimate friends were present, but a large out-door reception followed at which there was music by an orchestra and dancing.

The affair was at the reception were Messrs. Julius S. Morgan, New York; Robert Athorp of Pittsburgh, formerly of Boston; Benjamin H. Ticknor of Jamaica Plain, Joseph A. Richardson of Concord, E. Clarence Hovey, Jr., of Cohasset and Cleveland Cobb of New York, a brother of the bridegroom.

By order of the Board of Health, ALFRED M. RUSSELL, Clerk.

PAUL-PAINE

The wedding of Miss Alice Paine, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Emmons Paine of Washington street, West Newton, and Mr. Charles Henry Paul of Newton Centre, took place last Saturday afternoon at the Second Congregational Church at West Newton.

Rev. J. Edgar Park, the pastor of the church, who performed the ceremony was assisted by Rev. Theodore P. Prudden, D.D., of Brookline, a former minister of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Dr. Paine, was gowned in satin charmeuse, with corded bodice, rose point lace, a family heirloom, a silk net veil with pearl Juliette cap. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Paine, Wellesley '15, a sister of the bride was maid of honor and wore white crepe de chine, bolero of dresden flowered silk, introducing the colors of the bridesmaids' boleros of yellow, green, blue, pink and lavender. She carried sweet peas. Of the ten bridesmaids, six, Misses Dorothy Summy of Chicago, Gwendydd H. M. Weller of Montreal, Carol S. Williams of Glastonbury, Conn., Helen Cross of Fitchburg, Louise Walworth of Newton Centre, and Katharine Bingham of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were classmates of the bride at Wellesley, 1912, while the others were the Misses Ruth Hypes of Evanston, Ill., Wellesley '13, Katharine M. Forbes of Worcester, Vassar '11, Elinor Prudden of Brookline, Vassar '13, and Dorothy Paine of Atlanta, Ga. They were dressed in white silk net, with boleros of crepe de chine with two each of yellow, green, pink, blue and lavender.

The best man was Mr. Edwin A. Strout, Jr., of Seattle, Wash., a classmate of the groom at Yale, '12, and the ushers were Messrs. Arthur Howe of South Orange, N. J., captain of the Yale football team of 1911, Alexander C. Tener of Sewickley, Pa., Yale '12, Rev. Archibald McClure of Chicago, Yale '12, Donald R. Hyde of New York City, Yale '12, Edward B. Twombly of Summit, N. J., Yale '12, William L. York of Ardmore, Pa., Yale '12, Sydney D. Chamberlain of Springfield, Amherst, '14, John Chandler of Sterling Junction, Mass., Yale '12, Richard W. Foote of Cambridge, Dartmouth '12 and Henry A. Street of Pawtucket, R. I., Yale '12.

An informal reception followed in the church parlors, after which the bridal party and the immediate families enjoyed a wedding supper at the Paine residence on Washington street, West Newton. An interesting feature of the supper was the announcement by Dr. Paine of the engagement of his daughter Miss Mary Paine, the maid of honor, and Mr. Sydney D. Chamberlain of Springfield, Amherst, '14, one of the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul will make their home in Seattle, Wash., where the groom is practising law, and they will visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition on their wedding trip.

ROOFING
COSTS MORE - WEARS LONGER

We have stamped RU-BER-OID "O. K.—A. I." because we know it is the square deal roofing. Customers tell us so right along. It is fire-resisting, weatherproof and wear-proof and it saves repair bills wherever it is used.

In many instances RU-BER-OID is still weatherproof after more than 20 years of service. You can buy cheaper roofings—but sooner or later you are bound to find out why they are cheaper.

COMMUNITY DAY

Agreeable Weather has no Effect on Newton Highlands Enthusiasm

In spite of the unfavorable weather conditions yesterday, Newton Highlands carried out a portion of its program for Community Day and the spirit of the occasion was as enthusiastic and as warm as anyone could wish.

The morning events of tennis finals, shooting and a ball game were very much in evidence, three in all were played of the ball game there was some trap shooting, tennis finals were postponed until Saturday afternoon together with field events. The committee in the afternoon proposed a party in the hall and the children had just had a time inside as they probably had had in the open. Weather conditions changing it was decided to have the exhibition and drill of the Scouts and the ball game be a part of the Newton Highlands theme of Newton Centre on the ground. The attendance was very enthusiastic at both events.

A Boy Scouts, Troop 4 of Newton Highlands under command of Scoutmaster Percy W. Carver, gave a good exhibition. The events included tent pitching by four different squads, one erecting its tent in minutes. There were yells by different patrols, reception of the Scoutmaster, the scoutmaster's law, exhibitions of first aid, showing how the scouts would care of a broken thigh, an injured foot or arm. There were also interesting exhibitions of signalling.

CURRIER-LAMPREY

A wedding of Mr. C. Wesley G. Currier of Humwell Avenue, Newton, Miss Helen Clarissa Lamprey, sister of the late Mr. C. Wesley G. Currier, was celebrated at the Methodist Episcopal Church at Medford last Saturday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank I. Paradise, pastor of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who was in white and carried a shower bouquet of orchids. The bridesmaids, the Misses Draper of Medford, Dorothy of Binghamton, N. Y., Grace of South Weymouth and Arthur Currier of Newton, a sister of the bride, were in white with yellow and gold lace caps. They carried bouquets of white daisies.

Harold W. Tucker of Providence, R. I., a classmate of the groom at Brown University was the best man. The ushers were Messrs. Alfred B. Currier of Cambridge, Webster of Weymouth, Alexander of Newton and Percy A. Currier of Medford. A large attendance followed at the home of the bride on Grand View Avenue, Medford, and Mrs. Currier being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Currier and Mr. and Mrs. Lamprey, a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Currier will make their home in Newton.

CORNER STONE LAID

Interesting Event Last Sunday in the History of the Second Congregational Church of West Newton

At noon on June 13th directly after the service at the church on Washington street opposite Highland street, the congregation proceeded to the site of the new church, a short distance away, at the corner of Highland and Margin streets, for the purpose of laying the corner stone. They were preceded by the minister, Rev. J. Edgar Park, who was accompanied by Rev. Messrs. W. G. Bell, R. H. Gross and C. L. Weaver.

MODEL OF NEW CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, WEST NEWTON

Theodore P. Prudden, a former minister of the church, and by the vesting plan the center of the parish was located.

After much consideration of the merits of the several locations, the Committee on Site recommended the lot at the corner of Highland and Margin streets, which selection was later confirmed by the Committee of Thirty-five. This lot is within a few rods of the center of the parish. Four houses and a stable had to be removed from the lot, the net cost of which was $25,000.

The Committee of Thirty-five also chose a Building Committee, which at the Annual Meeting on Dec. 11, 1908, a Building Fund Committee consisting of Edward B. Wilson, Benjamin S. Palmer, Vernon E. Carpenter and Henry E. Day, was elected for the purpose of taking charge of money for the building of a new church, the intention being to extend the time for the collection of the fund over a period of several years.

In May, 1911, the following committee was appointed, designated as the "Committee of Thirty-five," to have in charge the selection of the site and other matters pertaining to the new church:

Rev. J. E. Park, G. J. Barker, W. F. Bartholomew, B. J. Bowen, C. E. Braman, V. E. Carpenter, H. M. Chamberlain, W. F. Chase, H. M. Cole, W. Davis, H. B. Day, C. L. Eddy, G. W. Eddy, H. E. Fales, G. H. Frost, C. R. Fisher, C. E. Gibson, E. C. Griffin, E. M. Hall, J. W. Hammond, G. P. Hatch, S. E. Howard, L. H. Jack, Wm. Kellar, Dana Libbey, J. N. Lovell, M. F. Lucas, E. A. Marsh, N. E. Paine, B. S. Palmer, H. B. Patrick, C. S. Thomas, S. B. Thomas, E. B. Wilson, Chairman, C. A. Wyman, Secretary.

There is a feeling of sadness which comes over us when we realize that three of this number Messrs. Griffin, Howard and Palmer have been taken from us and that they cannot be with us today except in spirit. Their places the time of building the Church was made up as follows:

Messrs. George J. Barker, Wm. F. Bartholomew, Henry B. Day, Herbert E. Fales, Charles E. Gibson, Edward M. Hall, George P. Hatch, Dana Libbey, William Kellar, Rev. J. Edgar Park, Charles Swain Thomas, Edward B. Wilson.

The Building Committee engaged

Messrs. Allen and Collins as their architects and Mr. Henry Vaughan as their supervising architect.

After many months of deliberation, during which the plans were shown by stereopticon at several meetings of the congregation (the Parish and Church having been meantime consolidated, on April 17, 1914) the present plans were finally adopted; and at a special meeting held Dec. 11, 1914, the Church voted to accept the plans and gave authority to the Building Committee to let the contract, and

FIRE PREVENTION

Excellent Suggestions Given the Board of Trade by an Expert on Insurance Matters

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Board of Trade was held Monday evening at the Board of Trade hall, Newtonville and there was a good attendance. Mr. William J. Cozens, the president, introduced the speakers of the evening, Mr. C. M. Goddard of Newton Centre secretary of the New England Insurance Exchange and Chief of Fire Department Walter B. Handlett, the subject for discussion being "Fire Prevention."

Mr. Goddard said in part: You will all recognize the fact that insurance has come to be largely the basis of credit which must be maintained of the general transactions of merchandising are to be successfully carried on.

No man can carry on a business of any size without danger of catastrophe and ruin from fire unless he be insured and if as is invariably the case with a progressive man, he takes advantage of the profits which he may secure from capitalizing that great asset individual credit, he must base that credit on the collateral of insurance. I am firmly convinced that there is no greater reason for the high cost of insurance than the general misconception or perhaps rather the general lack of conception of what insurance really is.

Insurance is nothing more nor less than a voluntary tax paid by those insured, the proceeds of which are used to reimburse those who contribute in case they suffer loss by fire.

It is evident that the amount of this fund which is required depends upon the amount of losses by fire and as this total fund is made up of the many small contributions of the insured, or premiums as they are called, it is equally evident that the size of these premiums must also depend on the size of the total payments on account of losses by fire.

Such being the case, is it not well worth the while that every business man should interest himself in the subject of "Fire Prevention" to the end that losses may decrease and the cost for the insurance which you must have be kept down to the minimum.

There are, however, other aspects of this question of Fire Prevention which are far more important than the mere monetary consideration of the size of your insurance premium, and which should not be forgotten especially at this time when our President is endeavoring to influence nations engaged in a death struggle to govern their actions somewhat by the principles of humanity.

The only sensible method of operating the Boston-Brighton and the Newton-Cambridge cars of the Elevated system is to start the Brighton line from the Watertown car barn and the Cambridge line from the Oak Square car barn. While this will give double service on about a mile of track, it would save large expenditures for terminal facilities near Nonantum square and would save the present inconvenience of a transfer at the Watertown car barn.

The residents of Newton Highlands are to be congratulated upon the enthusiasm and neighborly spirit aroused by "Community Day" which proved to be a pronounced success in spite of the disagreeable weather and which by the postponement of a part of the program undoubtedly gave wider opportunities than would have been possible under the original plans.

loses the services of a most valuable official in the resignation of Deputy Tax Commissioner Charles A.
Andrews of this city. Mr. Andrews ation, which in this state, are in such a wretched condition.

Mr. C. M. Goddard's address on Fire

BOWLING EVENT

One of the most interesting events of the past week, which closed the bowling season at the Newton Club, was held Friday evening on the Club alleys.

The Championship Cup was won by Mr. C. Kenneth Voe, who also won the cup given for the highest single string. The cup for the lady rolling the highest single string, was won by Mrs. Harry C. Wear.

The ladies winning on the first team were Mrs. T. M. Nagle, Mrs. M. M.
Merrill, and Mrs. Young, and the second team included Mrs. Duff, Mrs.
Dunleavy, Mrs. Foy, Miss Duff, Mrs.
Hubert G. Ripley, who won the cup for the highest pin-fall for ladies.

The men winning on the first team included Dr. Hunt, Mr. Barker, Mr.
Ripley, Mr. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson and on the second team were Mr. Little, Mr. Weinz, Mr. A. I. Brown, and Mr. Whitcomb.

Mr. Carl F. Schippler won the cup for the highest pin-fall for men. The cup for the greatest increase in average during the tournament was awarded Mr. George F. Schrafft.

The two cups given by the president of the Club, Mr. Charles E. Riley, to the "star rollers" were presented to Mrs. G. Lyman Snow, on the ladies' team, and Mr. Charles A. Washburn on the men's team.

Dr. Charles H. Voe, chairman of the Bowling Committee, awarded the prizes.
After the bowling luncheon was served, followed by dancing until a late hour.

It was a very pleasant social occasion, and an excellent program of music was furnished for the dancing, which was enjoyed by about fifty couples.

CHILDREN'S DAY

The Seventieth Anniversary of the Sunday School of Eliot Church will be observed Sunday at the Children's Day celebration.

A very attractive program has been arranged consisting of organ selections, chorus singing by the Sunday School, and singing by Eliot Choir and the quartet. The program will include the Honor Roll from January to June 13, 1915; awarding of prizes for committing Bible verses; presentation of Bibles; presentation of diplomas. There will be songs by the primary department and an interesting address entitled "Seventy Years of Eliot Sunday School."

The programs will contain an Historical Sketch of Eliot Church with pictures of the church, from the first meeting house dedicated in 1845, which cost $7,791, up to the present church, which was built at a cost of $178,007,
also a list of the pastors.

The officers of Eliot Sunday School include Rev. H. Grant Person, presi-

Hodge and the class prophecy by Walter B. Chadwick.

—Miss Malvina Anna Crawford of Georgetown, Mass., and Mr. Bernard Cummings Sherman, son of Mr. A.
Eugene Sherman of 39 Linden street, were united in marriage at St.
Mary's Church, Georgetown, Wednesday morning, June 16, at 8 o'clock.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eugene Crawford, as maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. William Crawford of Haverhill. A reception was held from 9.30 to 11 A. M. at 50 West Main street, the home of Mrs.
Mary O'Leary, an aunt of the bride.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Sherman will reside at 1561 Washington street, West Newton, and will be at home after October 1.

retary, William J. Payne; treasurer, Henry Heald; assistant secretary, John W. Marriott; messenger, Alfred Wenham; assistant messenger, Albert Fisher; chaplain, William Whitman; inside sentinel, Cleveland Elliott; outside sentinel, James Ford. There were speeches by the Deputy and suite and light refreshments were served.

—Enlarged Tonsils and Adenoids.
Before operating to remove adenoids
and tonsils the health of the child should always be built up. If there is an existing cold this must be treated and cured. If the teeth are decayed they must be filled. Treating the teeth and the practicing of deep breathing exercises will be all that is needed to cure tonsil disease if it is strictly local, and not the expression of a systematic condition or some recent infection.

—Weeping Willows.
The weeping willows so-called (scientific name S. babylonica), is a native of China, from which country it has been taken over most of the civilized earth. It varies in height and dimensions, according to climate and soil, and invariably maintains its drooping habit, the chief cause of its attractiveness.

Cooling by Flame.

It is hard to appreciate that fire has widely different degrees of heat, for every burning blaze seems to have the extreme heat of fire, yet the flame of burning alcohol is actually used for cooling purposes in one make of searchlight because the alcohol flame is not nearly so hot as the point of fire at the center of the searchlight.

A good searchlight needs to have its lamp as small as possible, and the nearer it is to just a point of light, though still having intense light, the farther can its beams be thrown. The only way to concentrate the light is to raise the degree of heat of the light source, such as an electric arc, but intense heat is likely to result in melting the whole apparatus.

The above searchlight succeeds in highly concentrating the light source, and then to prevent this concentrated light from melting everything near it alcohol vapor is fed round it. The alcohol vapor burns of course, but as it naturally burns at a temperature far lower than that of the electric arc it acts something like the water jacket of an automobile engine and prevents the metal and glass of the searchlight from becoming excessively hot.—Saturday Evening Post.

Beautiful Kashmir.

It has been said that India is the brightest jewel in the British crown.
But one cannot realize the brightness of the gem to the full until one has so-journd for a space in that veritable dreamland situated in the wedge of mountains forming the north central boundary of that peninsula. No other country in the world can boast of such a diversity of scenery or is so full of beauty spots as the valleys and uplands of Kashmir. Snow covered mountains, pine clad hills, rushing torrents, clear streams, limpid lakes and broad alluvial plains all combine to make up this wonderful, which forms the summer haunt of many fated plainmen from the sultry cantonments of India. Of late, alas, the ubiquitous globe trotter has discovered it, and his excessive supply of cash brings higher prices, silk socks and white waistcoats into a paradise where "boiled shirts" and other appurtenances of an evil civilization should never have been allowed to penetrate.—Wide World Magazine.

Yes, He Was In.

The collector was after a deadbeat, and there were rumors that he was in more serious trouble even than owing debts. The collector was told to get after him at once and run him down before anybody else got hold of him. So he chose a time of day when the deadbeat would be most likely to be at home and went to his house and rang the bell. The man's wife came to the door. "Your husband is in?" he said sternly—he made a statement rather than a question of it. She looked scared and answered, "Yes, sir."

"I want to see him at once," he went on, very severely. "Why, you can't see him," she answered. "He's in, and yet I can't see him? I'd like to know why I can't?" "Because he's in for six months," she sobbed, and shut the door in his face.—Argonaut.

Lyddite.

Lyddite, the powder that has enormous explosive force and can be fired from a gun easily carried about, does not, as has been widely supposed, take its name from a man, but from an ancient town near the coast of Kent, England, the town of Lydd, where there is a government artillery range, where the tests were made that resulted in the preparation of this explosive.

Lyddite has extraordinary qualities aside from its explosive force, since its fumes are so suffocating as sometimes to be intolerable. Lydd shares the notoriety that attaches to the name of Dumdum, that other peaceful city in Bengal, where are manufactured the expanding bullets that attract so much unfavorable comment in war.

Penetrated His Disguise.

The last minstrel stopped at a back door and said to the housewife who greeted him:

"Give me something to eat, fair dame, and I will tickle your ears with a merry tale of romance."

"But why not tell me the tale first?"
the dame suggested.

"No, I must have the food and drink before I talk."

Thereupon the dame slammed the door with the tart retort:

"You're not a merry minstrel. You're an after dinner speaker."—New York

Wellington's Reports Voluminous.

In the campaigns of the past our generals had much more time to write dispatches than now. Wellington, for instance, was able to write a detailed account of the battle of Waterloo on the night following its occurrence, and to read the whole of his dispatches in his various campaigns you would have to wade through twenty bulky, closely printed volumes.—London Chronicle.

The Worm Turned.

Coal Merchant—I say, Premium, I want to insure my coal yard against fire. What's the cost of a policy for £10,000? Insurance Agent—What coal is it? Same kind you sent me last?
Merchant—Yes, it is. Agent—Oh, I wouldn't insure it if I were you. It won't burn.—London Express.

delphia Ledger.

Wearing Flowers.

The kind of flowers that are fitting for a woman to wear depends upon her age and personal appearance. Flou-ers that are becoming to a young girl look out of place on the elderly woman, and the woman who is tall can wear certain varieties which the one who is short cannot.

Banksia roses are for the quite young girl. Violets are charming for either youth or age. Daisies belong only to youth. Pansies seem fitted for rip-er age, though the pansy eyed girl looks well with them. Chrysanthemums look well on youth or maturity, but do not seem to belong to the old. Roses belong to all ages, but need to be chosen with care as to their color and size.

Lilies can only be worn by a tall figure. Neither are poppies for the petite nor things that grow in branch form. Snowdrops that would look foot-ish on a middle aged woman look sweet on a young girl. Lilies of the valley are for youth or middle age.
Mignonette does not belong to youth,
nor do sweet peas and daffodils belong to age, but any one can wear the fragrant carnation.—Exchange.

Unmoral and Immoral.

Are you unmoral or immoral? Do not answer too quickly, for if you are only unmoral you may be able to overcome it. Unmoral stands to immoral in much the same relation as unregenerate stands to degenerate. If you cannot find some act of which the arbiters of ethics disapprove the category that you go in all depends on whether the arbiters have previously brought the ethical constitution and bylaws to your notice. If they have already told you that a certain thou shalt not exists then you are immoral if you disobey it.
If, however, you are still in an untaught state of sheer savagery then you are merely unmoral, and instead of being the victim of exorcration and contumely you are entitled to all the emoluments and perquisites of any other savage. Ignorance of the civil or criminal laws excuses no one, but ignorance of the moral law does count for a little these discriminate days.—

Good Advertisement.

Father is an advertising man and has had the misfortune to be laid up with the rheumatism. For some time, when he has been able to walk at all,
he has limped along at a snail's gait with a cane. Things seemed blue enough, but it was for his small son to point out that "which, in the little boy's mind, was one of the large benefits of the situation.

They had walked down the street together, and dad had been stopped several times by people who wished to know what was the matter or to inquire how the disease was progressing.
"Do you know, dad, this is some advertisement!" said the son enthusiastically.

"What is?" groaned his father.
"Being all crippled up and walking poky with a cane," replied the son.
"I never did see so many people pay so much attention to you before."

Father was so stiff and sore to whip him.—Indianapolis News.

Memory.

Memory is that faculty of the mind which enables us to know that we have forgotten something. Without memory there would be no history;
hence no fiction.

Memory furnishes the only background for fars that is needed. It enables many people to labor under the continuous illusion that there is a past, when in reality there is nothing but a present.

Without memory there would be no future, because worry is fear for the future, based on recollection of what has happened—usually to someone else.
Memory enables us to store our minds with useful facts—until they are proved to be wrong by other useful facts which in turn take their place.—Life.

Lifting Dead Weight.

There is a more or less popular belief that it is easier to lift up a living body and carry it some distance than to carry a small, compact "dead" weight, such as iron dumbbells. Somebody several thousands of years before any art of writing was invented imagined this thing and told it to his next door man.

He told it and so all along the ages and centuries. Pure hallucination, along with hundreds of others now injuring this modern scientific age. If a person weighing 150 pounds appears lighter than anything weighing fifty or seventy-five pounds, it is simply because a distorted mind of some weak man imagined it, maybe 100,000 years ago.

Ornithological Weddings.

There was a poetic appropriateness in two weddings which were celebrated in London some time ago in which Mr. Bird led Miss Linnet to the altar and Mr. Wren was linked to Miss Nightingale.

Although it is seldom that one comes across two of these "ornithological" weddings in one day, they are by no means uncommon.

On one occasion a church near Dublin was the scene of an interesting marriage in which a Mr. Crowe was united to a Miss Crowe by the Rev. Canon Peacock, the wedding march being played by Mr. Rook. Much more remarkable, however, was a match which set Edinburgh in a flutter some years since. The bride was Miss Henrietta Peacock, and the bridegroom was Robin Sparrow. The Rev. Mr. Daw performed the marriage ceremony; Philip Hawk officiated as best man and Miss Larkins as principal bridesmaid, while the marriage lines were extracted by John Crow, session clerk.

Echoes Made to Order.

Are you aware that it is possible to make echoes? It is, indeed, easier to make than to destroy them.

In the past men built their great temples and cathedrals with no thought of acoustics. Hence, when the preacher preached a hoarse roared freely amid the groinings of the roof, down the rows of sculptured columns and round and round the nave.

With wires strung here and with tapestries draped there many of the echoes of the old world buildings have been obliterated. There are echo experts—builders acquainted with the science of acoustics, whose specialty is echoes' destruction. Sometimes their tasks are hard.

Today an architect takes thought of the echo. His building is constructed so as to exclude this intruder. And, knowing how to exclude it, he knows how to welcome it also.

Architects are frequently called upon in landscape work to put up summer houses and arrange rocks around them so as to create an echo there. And this they can satisfactorily do.—London Tit Bits.

An Engine That Wouldn't Down.

A light American automobile was sold to a tenant planter of upper Assam, a region in the Himalayan foothills with scarcely any good roads and a rainfall of from 300 to 500 inches a year.

Six months after it was purchased the planter's native chauffeur drove it into a washout on the Cherrapunji road during a freshet, and it went rolling 500 feet into the rain swollen river. A week's search failed to reveal any trace of machine or driver. At the end of the rainy season the remains of the machine were found several miles below the point where the accident had occurred. The wheels were gone and the body battered almost beyond recognition, and it was only on the score of sentiment that the planter had the pieces gathered up and taken home by coolies. A month later while on a tour of Assam I saw the salvaged engine and part of the transmission gear set up over a well and actually pumping water to the planter's bungalow on the top of a high ridge.—World's Work.

Fog Signals.

All the up to date light stations possess fog signals for warning the mariner of the presence of rocks and other dangers in foggy weather. The larger ones are so powerful that their blasts can be heard twenty-five to thirty miles out at sea. Most of them are worked by compressed air, a gas engine of perhaps twenty or twenty-five horsepower being brought into requisition for this purpose. The siren is blown periodically every seventy, eighty or ninety seconds or so, the actual blast lasting perhaps about two or three seconds. It means that while the siren is running, in the case of the larger apparatus something like 500 horsepower is being expended in the production of sound.—Scientific Ameri-

The Orator Scored.

"Who is there," cried the impassioned orator, "who will lift a voice against

Just then a donkey on the outskirts moment; but assuming an air of triumph, he lifted his voice above the din to say, "I knew nobody but an ass would try it."—London Globe.

JONES—ROQUEMORE

A large company of guests assembled at St. John's Church on Saturday witnessed the wedding of Miss Terrence Roque, daughter of Mrs. John Roque, of West Newton, to Mr. John Clark Jones, Jr., son of Dr. John Clark Jones of Brookline. The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Richard T. King. The bride was attended by Miss Katherine Jones of Boston, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Woolfolk of Montpelier, Ala., and Miss Katherine Roque of West Newton, sister of the bride. Mr. Lewis Switzer Southwick of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. William Morrill Parker of West Virginia, and Hultman of Worcester, Russell Partridge of Dedham and A. Barrack of Brookline.

A large reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the bride's residence on Temple street.

"War Bread" of Soldiers.

The commissary departments of the armies of Europe in supplying "war bread" to troops have sought to give to the men a bread ration of the highest nutritive value as well as of the highest degree of palatability. The war bread is not the bread which is regularly baked in the field bakeries for issue and consumption within the customary time, but is bread that is issued to troops to be eaten when fresh bread cannot be had.

The war bread of the German soldier is made of wheat flour, potato flour, rice, eggs, milk yeast and salt and is flavored with cinnamon and nutmeg.

The war bread of the Austrian soldier is made of wheat flour, potato flour, eggs, milk, yeast and salt and is flavored with cinnamon and nutmeg.

The war bread of the Belgian army is made of wheat flour, sugar and eggs.

The war bread of the French soldier is baked of flour, yeast and water, and the war bread of the British army is thoroughly baked wheat flour put up in airtight tin boxes, which, like the first aid packets, are not to be opened until needed.—Washington Star

What "S O S" Means.

In talking with the wireless operator many ship passengers ask the meaning of the three letters used in the distress signal, "S O S." There seems to be a general opinion that the letters are the abbreviation of three separate words with a definite meaning. Persons of an imaginative trend will tell you that the letters stand for "Save our ship," "Send out succor," "Sink or swim" or some such meaning. The letters signify nothing but that a ship is in distress and in need of assistance. The call is used by all nations as a universal code, so that any wireless operator, regardless of the language he speaks, can immediately interpret the call of distress. Inasmuch as the call is in use by all countries, it can be seen that the signal can have no meaning in any language. The character of the code makes it a call that can be picked out easily from other signals, being composed of three dots, three dashes, three dots.—Ocean Wireless News.

The Way to Boston.

Earlier in the day he had been sixteen miles from Boston. He was now only eleven miles away. The condition of his pockets was such that there was no way for him to reach the city without further wear on his shoes. Several automobiles had rushed past him toward the city, but although he had looked at them appealingly, the drivers had made no sign that they were willing to help the footsore pedestrian.

He grew a little better as he put one foot up and the other foot down on the dusty road. Finally he was hailed by the driver of a car that bore a Pennsylvania license number.

"Hey, there, do you know the way to Boston?"

"Yes, I do. Just follow me. I am going there."

The driver grinned. The tramp reached Boston in twenty minutes.—Youth's Companion.

Round Shouldered Boys.

Head up, chin in, chest out and shoulders back is a good slogan for a boy scout who desires an erect figure. One can scarcely think of a round shouldered scout. Yet there are such among the boys who desire to be scouts.

There is no particular exercise that a boy can take to cure round shoulders. The thing to remember is that all exercise that is taken should be done in the erect position, then the muscles will hold the body there.

An erect body means a deeper chest, room for the important organs to work and thus affords them the best chance to act.

A few setting up exercises each day in the erect position will help greatly to get this result.—Boy Scout Handbook.

He Got There.

The man was reading the front page of the newspaper as he walked across the busy street.

"Gee," he mused, "I'd like to get my name in big type on the front page of a newspaper."

Just then a street car bumped into the man.

He got his name on the front page of the next edition of the paper.

But he missed the story.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Crownwell's Seal.

The seal of Oliver Crownwell, now in the possession of a prominent family in Wales, is a plain, gold mounted corundum stone five-eighths of an inch in diameter. It dates from 1653 and was used on several of Crownwell's deeds. All the Lord's prayer is engraved on it.—London Globe.

Natural Anxiety.

Lawyer to hesitating clients—Revenge is sweet, remember. We'll fight this case to the bitter end. Client—But who'll get the bitter end, the other fellow or me?—Chicago News.

Two of a Kind.

"Bald heads remind me of kind words."

"Why so?"

"They can never dye, you know."—Boston Transcript.

Caustic.

"I wish I had your voice?"

"Yes, no doubt you do."

"Yes. If it belonged to me I could stop it when I liked, you see."

Fusileers.

"Fusil" is the old name for the flintlock to distinguish it from the matchlock, and fusileers were those who carried fusils.

Uncle Sam's Money Factory.

Uncle Sam's great money factory in Washington is one of the wonderful sights of the world. Housed in a building 580 feet long and with four wings each 285 feet deep, it takes 32,840 panes of glass to admit light to its four stories. The structure of the bureau of engraving and printing is built of Indiana limestone and it presents to the shining Potomac, which it faces, a row of columns on the front as imposing as those on the east side of the treasury.

This probably is the finest manufacturing plant in the world in point of scientific equipment to conserve the health and comfort of its inhabitants. Two of the great roofs are given over to the employees for recreation purposes, one for men and the other for the women.

A hospital equipped for surgical operations and physicians of each sex are provided. The hospital treats about forty-five patients a day for accidents and illness, but many of these troubles are of a minor character. As more than 4,000 men and women are employed in the building, some of them working nights, about 1 per cent only require medical attention.—Chicago News.

Schools of Finland.

The folk schools of Finland are particularly fine, with their cooking apartments, gymnasiums, manual training and needlework. Every school has excellent bathing facilities, and the poorest children are fed at the schools. There are little zoological museums in most of the schools.

There are so many varieties of schools, besides the folk schools, elementary and higher; there are lyceums, schools of forestry, of agriculture and of navigation, schools for training teachers, commercial schools, technical, music and art schools, etc. There are three large garden schools in Finland, where boys as well as girls are taught cooking. "They must learn to cook what they grow," said one of the teachers. The dairy schools are particularly interesting. Dairying comes second among the industries of Finland. The pupil must have worked for one year at a butter factory before he or she will be admitted to the school.—Christian Herald.

Tests of Civilization.

It is only vulgar minds that mistake bigness for greatness, for greatness is of the soul, not of the body. In the judgment which history will hereafter pass upon the forty centuries of recorded progress toward civilization that now lie behind us, what are the tests it will apply to determine the true greatness of a people? Not population, not territory, not wealth, not military power. Rather will history ask: What examples of lofty character and unselfish devotion to honor and duty has a people given? What has it done to increase the volume of knowledge? What thoughts and what ideals of permanent value and unexhausted fertility has it produced in poetry, music, and the other arts to be an unending source of enjoyment to posterity? The small peoples need not fear the application of such tests.—James Bryce.

The Blind Need Windows.

Light has use, even if men cannot or will not see it. Barling-Gould tells of an institution for the blind that was built in England without windows. "Why," argued the committee, "should we provide windows for those that cannot see out of them?" So scientific ventilation and heating were provided, but the walls were left unperforated by any pane of glass. But soon the poor inmates grew pale, and a great languor fell upon them. They fell sick, and one or two died. Then it was that the committee decided to open windows in the walls. In came the healing light, and the human plants responded to it at once in revived spirits, ruddy cheeks and restored health. Light is good, the Light of the World is good, even for those who shut their eyes.—Christian Herald.

Scaling Fish.

A Mississippi woman tells as follows in the Woman's Home Companion how to scale fish with a minimum of discomfort:

"Scaling fish as generally done is a disagreeable task, as scales fly in every direction. I have discovered that fish may be scaled without this trouble if they are held under water in a large pan during the operation. Have just enough water to cover the fish nicely."

Sweet Return.

She (tearfully)—Henry, our engagement is at an end, and I wish to return to you everything you have ever given me.

He (cheerily)—Thanks, Blanche! You may begin at once with the kisses.

They are married now.—London Telegraph.

A Back Number.

"I wouldn't dream of marrying him. Why, he said he would do everything to make me happy."

"What is wrong about that?"

"He ought to know that humans are put on earth to fulfill missions, not to be happy."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Jerrold as a Cynic.

Ugliest of trades have their moments of pleasure. If I were a gravedigger or even a hangman there are some people I could work for with a great deal of enjoyment.—Douglas Jerrold.

Not the Same Thing.

"I hear young Spriggins has taken a partner for life."

"Not necessarily, but he's married."

FOURTH WEEK OF THE POPS

No conductor of the Pops at Symphony Hall in recent years has had such a complete and instantaneous success as Mr. Ernst Schmidt, who began his work in this important post on Monday, the 14th. Monday night, June 21, he will devote the second part of the program to Wagner playing some unusual things. Tuesday night will be a general program. Wednesday, June 23rd, will be "Norwegian Night." Scandinavian music will rule and the Norwegian singing Society will be heard in selections. Thursday night, June 24th, brings a Tschalkowsky program, one of the most popular events of the Pop season. The last College Night of the season is "Dartmouth Night," Friday, June 25, and a big crowd of Dartmouth Alumni will be present. Mr. Schmidt will make his last appearance of the season Saturday, June 26th, with a very popular program.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The management of the Lonerger Players at the Majestic Theatre has been most fortunate in securing for the coming week of the Star Stock Season as the visiting star, Mr. Edmund Breese. In "The Spendthrift," the drama in which Mr. Breese will be seen next week, New England theatregoers will find a play written from present day life—that is, a true story. This drama drives home the horror of present day extravagance; the woman from which the play derives its name is a handsome girl who comes with a gift for spending money, making friends, and at the same time constantly fearing what they will think of her. The big truth she drives home is wild extravagance and the wreck it makes of a man's life. Mr. Breese in the role which he originated three seasons ago at the Hollis Street Theatre. Supporting him will be seen the Lonerger Players, including Lester Lonerger himself.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Years of Discretion," is the unusual comedy selected by the Craig Players for their bill next week. It is the tale of a woman in her early forties who determines to become young again, and by the use of cosmetics, tight corsets and beautiful gowns, captures a millionaire. Doreis Oleson, William Carleton, Theodore Friebus, Donald Meek, James Seely, Betty Darnicoat and Mabel Colcord will all have prominent parts. The audience are enthusiastic over the new policy of the movies. Their pictures are taken every day as they leave the theatre, and thrown on the screen each performance the following week.

MOTHERS' REST

The committee in charge of the Mothers' Rest would greatly appreciate the gift of a graphophone, as perhaps someone going away for the summer would like to donate one. Such a gift would greatly add to the enjoyment of the mothers and children. There is always a need for hammocks and baby carriages. If there is anyone who would like to make such donations please telephone Mrs. Sydney P. Meleney, 30 Tarleton road.

The M. I. T. hockey team was made by "Pecker" Gould, class of 1913. A number of Newton men who belonged to the class of 1912 have become again prominent at Harvard for their work on the baseball nine. Deal has done well at third base, as did also Fripp until he was forced to give up on account of scarlet fever. Whitney came into the limelight by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against Williams. Nash has held down first base with his usual excellent playing. It is said that he has participated in every game Harvard had on its schedule for the season. Nash is one of the best, if not the best, college first basemen in the country. The showing of Newton men on the baseball nine is even better than what they did on the varsity football team last year. William Prosser, '14, has made the Freshman Debating Team of Harvard which is to meet the Yale team. The stage manager of the play, "White Feather," given by the Dartmouth Dramatic Association was Channing E. Harwood, '11. Two Newton graduates at Brown have acquired fame. A. T. Rice, '11, as stage manager of the production, "Socks and Buskin," and G. B. Ewing as the publicity manager. Ewing received his diploma in 1912. "Bill" Dorney, '12, is Play-ground instructor for Cambridge. Elizabeth Upham has enrolled among the students of the Henry Jewett School of Acting in Boston. A 1915 graduate, Malcolm Brock, who has been doing very well at M. I. T. has qualified for the track team. On the Honor Roll at Radcliffe appears the name of Evelyn Fuller who graduated in 1912. She has also been chosen editor of the Radcliffe Guild. Edith Thomas, '13, has come well at track in Holyoke as she was chosen captain of her class track team. Hear this about two 1912 graduates. Helen Ganse is head of the department of missions of the Christian Association at Smith, and Alice Shumway has been elected junior member of the Student Executive Board at Wellesley.

The first thing the Junior class publication, "The Harlequin," contains, is "What the Editor has to say" in which is outlined the work taken up during the year in her English division. The history of the class of 1916, under the name of "Memoirs" is an excellent piece of work for which much credit belongs to its author, Miss Mary E. Harrington. Bartlett Boyden, the rising young poet, contributed the "Idols of the Class," and did remarkably well to bring in the names of so many of his classmates. In "Whittier Land" Miss Edith D. Brown tells about her visit to the Whittier Guest House at Hampton Falls, New Hampshire. "The Prophecy of 2 English C. 1916" is a clever and interesting glimpse into the future by Miss Ruth McAllister. Miss Margaret Palmer, who for the past year has been in the English division, "The Harlequin," which describes very accurately a "true Southern plantation." "The Molding," a poem by Dalton E. Francis comes next in "The Harlequin" and is very well written. In "The Puritan Maid," by Miss Marion McPherson, we learn how different the girls of that period were from those living in 1915. Miss Ruth McAllister is guilty of a very unique "Idol" which brings in practically the names of all the English division. The story having the attractive title, "Never Again," was written by Miss Helen Woodbridge, and is as interesting as the name implies. In "A Philistine Breeze" Miss Ruth Kimball graphically pictures a terrifying flood. Tragedy is the key-note of Miss Muriel McCready's "The Night Assault," it depicts the horror of the gas attack against the nobles. "As Others See Us," by "Anonymous and Anonymous," has caused much amusement and is surely very bright. Again a poem, "Sports," by Miss Margaret Gould in which she concludes that the best sport is tennis. "The Magic of Imagination" is unsigned, but claims one's attention as an unusually well expressed and well written poem. "How It Happened" begins with a cable, and then follows the letter. Miss Catherine Patton has shown an excellent choice of words in this letter, and also originality. Miss Anne Weed's contribution is an article on the moving picture, "Submarine films." "A Leaf from a Diary" composed by Miss Dorothy Brooks is very much out of the ordinary and quite pathetic. The last thing in the magazine is "Miss Drury's Story," written for the benefit of her Next Door Neighbor, and written by Miss Ina Clark. Miss Clark's attempt at a mystery story has proved a great success as the solution, not coming till the very end, keeps one guessing all the time.

Newton did not play up to her usual mark on Thursday when Lynn Class won to the tune of 8-1. Keitar pitched pretty good ball striking out eleven men, but the visitors got thirteen hits. Bryson, Vachon, Harris, and Newell each made a hit for Newton. Newton secured its only run in the third inning.

Leonard Chase Kepner is president of the Athletic Committee of the Newton High School. Dr. Oscar Martin is the secretary; the treasurer is Charles D. Meserve. The representatives from the Classical High are Enoch C. Adams, Chas. Meserve, L. Chase Kepner, and George Adams Eske. Irving O. Palmer, Mr. Maxim, J. K. Connors, and E. C. Quick represent the technical High. M. W. Murray, J. R. Farnsworth, and W. S. Smith serve on the committee from the Vocational School. Dr. Martin also represents the Physical Department.

Senior Class Day Officers are: valedictorian, Miss H. L. White, poetess, Miss M. Will; Miss D. Speare, historian; H. G. Hawks, orator; Miss P. Williams, prophet; Clarence Chapin, statistician.

LEONARD-RICHARDSON

One of the largest social functions of the season was the wedding on Tuesday evening of Miss Grace Kyle Richardson, Smith '09, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Richardson of Newton Centre, and Dr. Edward DeWitt Leonard of Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, the son of Mrs. Cora G. Leonard of Brattleboro, Vt. Dr. Leonard is a graduate of Amherst '09 and the Harvard Medical School, '12.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock at the Newton Centre Methodist Church by Rev. Dr. William E. Huntington and Rev. George H. Parkinson, the pastor of the church. The bride was gowned in white lace with satin trimmings and the maid of honor was Miss Grace E. Johnson of Brookline, who wore white tulle trimmed with blue satin.

Dr. DeWitt Leonard of the Massachusetts General Hospital staff was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. George F. Richardson, Jr., Edward T. Richardson, Hughes Richardson, brothers of the bride, Marcella F. Butts and James B. Melcher of Newton Centre, William A. Daniels of Allston, Dr. William P. Bulfinch of Providence, R. I. and Dr. Melvin H. Walker of Westboro. A largely attended reception followed the ceremony at the Richardson residence on Marshall street, Newton Centre. Dr. and Mrs. Leonard being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Cora G. Leonard and Miss Grace E. Johnson. Dr. and Mrs. Leonard will reside at 681 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre.

BAND CONCERT

The first band concert given by the Newton City Band took place at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening with an audience of five or six hundred persons. In spite of the inclement weather, it had been arranged to give the concert out of doors but the weather prevented this in part and the concert was played in the gymnasium and lobby of the building. A pleasing program was rendered under the direction of Mr. Charles G. Whitcomb who has been the leader in organizing the band. The Boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. did quite a business in selling ice cream, candy and cold drinks.

POP CONCERT

The annual Pop Concert and dance of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club was held Wednesday evening at the Club house on Chestnut terrace. The grounds and building were most attractively decorated with the national colors and various other flags, and with the illuminations made a beautiful scene. Canvases were laid over one of the tennis courts and provided a place for dancing, while ices and cold drinks were served at a hundred or more small tables which surrounded the courts. An interesting feature of the program was an exhibition dance by Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

MR. C. M. GODDARD
Who Addressed the Newton Board of Trade on Fire Prevention.

$175,000; its fire department costs a little over $300,000.

Chicago's fire loss is $5,000,000 and its fire department costs over $3,000,000 although its population is only about two thirds that of Berlin.

New York City spends $10,000,000 on its fire department, not including $3,000,000 more on its high-pressure service; yet its fire loss runs up to $10,000,000.

Statistics similar to these might be multiplied a hundredfold, and the above are sufficient to emphasize two important facts:

1st. The fire waste in this country is certainly of such proportions as to merit earnest consideration.

2nd. The comparison with European fire losses clearly shows that the enormous figures in this country are unnecessary, and also goes far to explain why the insurance rates in this country are many times the rates abroad.

It is claimed by those best fitted to form an accurate opinion, that more than fifty percent of our fires are due to what may be properly classed as "easily preventable causes"; in other words, are attributable to carelessness.

It was dollars that made the old building in Newark, N. J. a better investment to rent or buy; it was dollars that crowded the Asch Building and locked the doors; it costs dollars to give the employees time for fire drills, and it costs dollars to erect properly protected stairways and efficient fire escapes; in fact it is all a question of dollars.

The American people mean well, but they have acquired the habit of thinking in dollars instead of lives, of thinking in dollars for to-day instead of in thousands of dollars for the future.

We are not a people who are taught by startling examples. The effect of these is transient. Our teaching must be by education which makes for permanent character.

New York City rebels against political misrule for a time, but it does not last long. It costs too much, in time and money and inconvenience to keep it up.

Only a few years after the Collingwood School disaster, Boston decides to change the school building regulations from strictly fire-resisting to standard fireproof. It costs too much to give absolute protection to her school children.

Less than two weeks after the Bangor conflagration the Massachusetts General Court killed a bill prepared by experts and recommended by the Mayor, to lessen the conflagration hazard in Boston by requiring fire-resisting roofs, fireproof party walls and open spaces between frame buildings in the tenement and apartment house district.

The lumber interests, which were so active in opposing the bill, may have used I cannot say, but I know that in the fair field of open argument they were completely overthrown and left without a single plausible excuse for their opposition." Here again the action of the lumber interests was due to the question of dollars being placed above lives.

Shortly after 1908 I was obliged to send an expert to appear before the Aldermen of a City which adjoins Chelsea to argue against the repeal of an ordinance which prohibits shingled roofs. One might have thought that the Chelsea conflagration, which was largely due to shingled roofs, would have outweighed the influence of the builders who build simply to sell, for it was from that class that the proposition for repeal apparently originated.

A slate roof costs but little more and in the long run is cheaper than shingles, but in a cheap house built to sell the builder cares nothing for the long run and everything for the first cost.

I should only partly fulfil my errand to you if after placing before you a subject of such great importance, I did not give to you some suggestions which my twenty-five years connection with fire prevention work had shown to me were possible of fulfillment by every business man in the reduction of the fire waste and try and leave behind me some hint as to your part in the work.

You can be careful; careful to keep the cellars clear of rubbish, careful of your heating apparatus; careful of how you keep and handle explosives and inflammables; careful of how you temporarily trim and decorate your windows with a mixture of cheese cloth, tissue paper and gas lights or incandescent lamps nested in cotton batten or some equally combustible stuff. Careful in a hundred different ways, as careful as you would be if you should find some day your insurance had expired and could not be renewed for twenty-four hours.

You can throw your influence on the side of proper ordinances and regulations even if it does cost the privilege of exercising your own sweet will for the good of the whole and require you to cover your roof with a safe covering when for some reason best known to yourself you prefer to jeopardize your neighbors as well as yourself by using tinder under the name of shingles, or possible require you to cart away the leaves and rubbish from your yard when you would prefer to burn them on the spot surely to the disadvantage of your neighbors' comfort and weekly wash, and possibly resulting in a call for the fire department because it has gotten away from you.

You can accept the rulings of your building commissioner and the Metropolitan Fire Prevention Commission cheerfully remembering that they don't delight in abusing you and thwarting your desires but are simply carrying out the provisions of laws and ordinances drawn for the benefit of the whole and based on the expert knowledge of those who have made the subject of safety from fires a life study, laws and ordinances which always fall far short of the requirements which we know they ought to contain just because of your unwillingness to be restricted.

You can study the recommendations of your fire chief and see that he has the means to protect you and your families from fire, he knows what fire is and I know that no fire chief ever dared to ask his City authorities for half what he feels the safety of the city under his care really needs.

You can see that your legislatures pass laws for the safety of the citizens as a whole when presented and are not unduly influenced by the commercial interests of some few as represented by some particular branch of trade.

There are a thousand and one ways in which you can do something in the cause of Fire Prevention and the most efficient thing you can do is to become familiar with what a curse this waste is, how unnecessary it is, what a responsibility to his fellowman every one who has a preventable fire incurs, because when you thus come to realize these things neither I nor any one else will need to urge you to action for you will fight the waste of your own volition as you now would fight the yellow fever, small pox or any other scourge of the kind.

There is just one way in which we may effectually and permanently put a stop to the appalling loss of life and property by fire, and that is by educating public opinion so that we will look upon the unnecessary loss of life and property through someone's carelessness or neglect as we do on manslaughter and stealing, as a crime rather than as a misfortune. Our laws and building codes will then be enforced because we all wish it rather than be fooled or corrupted by the building inspector. Law alone without the public opinion will not accomplish the result.

Cities will still discover that almost every known law as to theatres is evaded as soon as the spasm of public horror at the Iroquois disaster has subsided.

Courts will acquit men like the proprietors of the Triangle Shirtwaist Co. in the face of conclusive evidence that violations of the law caused the death of 148 human beings, because, forsooth, it could not be proved that the violation was the actual cause of the death of the poor girl specifically mentioned by name in the indictment.

People will still plead for the shingle roof from aesthetic and commercial reasons in spite of the fact that it is admitted by all experts and every fire chief to be one of the most flagrant causes known for spreading fires and producing conflagrations.

Notwithstanding the fact that hundreds of lives and millions of dollars are annually lost through fires from strike-anywhere matches, men will offer to Massachusetts Legislators as a reason for the sale of other than safety matches should not be prohibited, that the carrying of a box of matches in the pocket would disfigure the symmetry of the outlines of a man's dress suit, and still not be hooted from the Committee room, and items such as recently appeared in the "Cleveland Plain Dealer" announcing that five babies were burned to death in that city from match fires inside of three days will still adorn our daily papers.

It has not been my intention to speak to you this evening simply as the representative of the fire insurance interests. No man can call his life a success who uses his chosen vocation simply as a means of getting the dollars which buy his daily bread and never draws lessons from his work which may assist him in being of benefit to someone besides himself. What I have said has been with the idea of emphasizing the necessity of arousing public opinion, a lesson that comes to me whether I wish it or not in my daily contact with the effects of fire, most useful when our servant, most cruel when our master.

May we not, everyone of us, go back to our daily tasks with the determination that none of the responsibility for the fire curse of this country shall rest on us, and that in so far as in lies we will do our part toward hastening the time when our cities and towns shall be so built, so protected and so cared for that we may point with pride instead of shame to our fire record when compared with that of other nations.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Newton High Ball Team Best in Triangular League

The Newton High School ball team won the championship of the Triangular League on Wednesday afternoon when it defeated its old time rival, Brookline High by the score of 3 to 2, in a play off of the tie which had been caused by the double defeats which each team had given to Cambridge Latin, and by winning one game each from the other.

Newton High earned to of her three runs, while two errors, coupled with two hits, made it possible for Brookline High to tally twice in the sixth. For six innings the game was a pitchers' battle between Dick Comick of Newton and Chester Arthur of Brookline, with the honors slightly in the former's favor. Kendrick replaced Arthur at the start of the eighth inning, when the teams were tied with two runs each.

Comick never pitched better ball than he did this afternoon, only four hits being made off his offerings. Two of the four were garnered in the sixth, one in the second and the other in the ninth.

Much credit belongs to Comick for the victory, for besides his good pitching, he came across with three hits, making two of the five obtained off Arthur. Comick retired 10 on strikes and issued only one pass.

Christopher Vachon, who made the timely hits that won the game with Boston College High and also the recent Somerville High game, was a factor in the victory, as his Texas leaguer in the eighth sent Bryson across with the winning run.

Both of Brookline's runs were charged to Vachon and Bryson, who made errors in the sixth which were followed by two hits.

The game was replete with spectacular fielding, especially by the Newton High players. In the first inning, Lally hit to Harris in third and the latter made a wide and low throw to first on which King made a great catch.

Arthur, the third Brookline hitter in the same inning, drove out what looked like a sure hit, but Stickney, the home team's shortstop, made a left-handed stab and got the ball, throwing the runner out at first. King made another good play in the sixth, when Lally attempted to sacrifice Leonard to second, grabbing the ball in the air.

In the ninth, Strain of Brookline hit a rouly fly on which Harris made a nice catch after a long run close to the tennis courts. O'Hearn's playing at first base, Strain's catching and hitting, and Cushman's ground covering were the features for Brookline.

The first run for Newton came in the third, after two were out. Dalton was safe on Leonard's error and scored on Bryson's triple to left.

In the last of the sixth, Brookline started her rally. Johnson was safe on Bryson's error, but was out at second on Leonard's fielder's choice. Lally died out to King on an attempted sacrifice hit. Prendergast hit a long fly to left, which Vachon got both hands on, but dropped, Leonard scoring. Chester Arthur singled to left, sending Prendergast to second and Strain singled, scoring Prendergast. Kendrick closed the inning by striking out.

In the eighth, with Kendrick pitching, Bryson, first up for Newton, walked. On an attempt to catch him off first, O'Hearn allowed the ball to go through him to the bleachers and Bryson went to second. He took third on a passed ball and scored on Vachon's hit to right field.

FESSENDEN SCHOOL

Graduation exercises of the Fessenden School were held Saturday morning in the school at West Newton.

The program included music by the school orchestra and the singing of the school song, "Hail to Thee, Fessenden," of which the music was composed by Douglas S. Moore, a member of the class of 1907. Hoto, Kiss, '11, and Yale, '15. The words are by Mrs. S. H. Moore. Rev. Albert Parker Fitch, D.D., president of the Andover Theological Seminary, addressed the graduates and Frederick J. Fessenden, headmaster of the school, presented diplomas to twenty-four seniors, among whom were the following boys from this city.—Lloyd H. Fales of West Newton, Roger Hale of Newton Highlands and Ralph E. Stuart of Newton Centre.

Wreaths for the Victors.

In classic times successful warriors, athletes, poets and singers were sometimes crowned with bay. It is sometimes written that they were crowned with myrtle wreaths. These leaves came from a tree which botanists call "laurus nobilis."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The General Federation Magazine for June makes a feature of the Massachusetts State Federation devoting two pages to brief sketches of the officers, together with several short articles and considerable space given up to the departments and their work. The program for the annual meeting to be held at Marion on June 24 and 25 is given in full.

Those who go down on Wednesday afternoon will find the Round Table Conferences that evening of practical help and the added opportunity for sociability will be well worth while. A feature of much interest for Wednesday evening will be a short talk by Prof. William Jay Hudson of the University of Missouri, on Constructive Peace, while the Misses Fuller will give a group of peace songs.

The convention opens at ten o'clock on Thursday morning with the reports of officers of the Nominating committee and followed by the reports of the special committees. In connection with the report of Public Health there will be an address upon The Fight against Cancer. The polls will be open between twelve and two-thirty o'clock. In the afternoon the new clubs will be presented, after which will come the reports of three more committees and an address.

In the evening the delegates will be tendered a reception by the Sippican Club of Marion, the hostess of the occasion. The second day will be devoted to reports of departments, presentation of resolutions and two short addresses, one on Unemployment Insurance and the other on Prison Reform and any concluding business.

Delegates should note important changes in the train service to Marion. Trains leave Boston at 7.10 A. M. (instead of 7.35) and at 1.33, 4.37 and 5.38 P. M.

BAKER—MACLURE

A notable June wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening in Grace Church, when Miss Ruth MacLure Wellesley '14, daughter of Rev. D. and Mrs. Laurens MacLure of Newton, became the bride of Mr. Hollis Siebe Baker, Michigan '10, son of Mr. Siebe Baker of Allegan, Michigan.

More than 800 guests assembled at the church to witness the ceremony which was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, the rector. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion, and as the official party approached the altar, a Wencesley March was played by the organist, Mr. Hambleton, and as a recessional, he played the Mendelssohn Wedding March.

The natural attractiveness of the bride was enhanced by an exquisite wedding gown of georgette crepe and white satin, trimmed with Pointe lace, a gift of her grand-mother, with court train of white satin. She wore her mother's bridal veil, and a necklace of diamonds and platinum, the gift of the bridegroom. Her veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley.

She was attended by Miss Helen Murdock Bates of Philadelphia, Pa., as maid of honor, who was gowned in pale pink, and carried a bouquet of lavender orchids and white sweet peas.

Mr. Richard Douglas Davis of Ashland, Kentucky was best man, and the ushers were, Edward T. Horan and Leon Chichester, Harvard '16 of Allegan, Mich.; Dr. Henry Lee Wenner, Michigan '10 of New York city; Mr. Richard Comstock MacLure, Harvard '15, a brother of the bride, of Newton; Mr. Howard Stevens of Malden; and Mr. Richard Hodge, Williams '15 of Toledo, Ohio.

A brilliant reception followed the ceremony at Grace Church rectory. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated in a scheme of yellow and white and the receiving party stood before a mantle banked with palms, ferns and daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. MacLure and Mr. and Mrs. Siebe Baker.

Miss MacLure and Mrs. Baker were both gowned in black lace over white and carried lavender sweet peas.

The bride's table was in white and gold with shaded candelabra, and an orchestra was in attendance and played during the reception and for the dancing which followed, the bride and bridegroom leading the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker left on a motor trip to the Maine coast. White Mount, N. Y.; Miss Edith Ryder of Rochester, N. Y.; Miss Alice Hoeltz of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Miss Almeria Bailey of Hampton, Virginia; Miss Alice Cosco of Syracuse, N. Y.; Miss Katherine Mayo of Southport, Penn.; Mr. Richard Hodge of Toledo, Ohio.

Making It Personal. It is sad to see family relics sold at auction, but the most painful thing under the hammer is generally your thumbnail.

NORUMBEGA PARK

An excellent holiday vaudeville program is meeting with much favor this week at Norumbega's famous open air theatre. Next week a new musical comedy of Broadway proportions will be the attraction and gives promise of much popularity. Sunday evening, the usual splendid sacred concert will be presented. Orchestra concerts are given here every afternoon and evening. Canoeing is more popular than ever. A great favorite with the patrons, is the Zoological Garden with its great collection of wild animals. Of especial interest are the baby inmates who keep the crowd in roars with their antics. A host of other attractions are ready to amuse.

Onion's Good Properties.

From the best authorities we learn that colds are caused by three things—a chill, a germ and a uric acid tendency which provides a soil for the germ's growth. The pungent oil of the onion neutralizes and destroys the germs that infest the mouths of us all, even of those in good health.

CARPENTER—PHILLIPS

The wedding of Mr. Charles Hamilton Carpenter of Richardson street, Newton and of Vineyard Haven, and Miss Leonie Phillips, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Phillips of Falmouth took place Tuesday noon at the First Congregational Church at Falmouth, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Frank H. Baker.

At just 12.30 P. M., the bridal procession entered the church through the main entrance to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march and the groom escorted by the best man advanced through the side entrance, meeting at the altar the bride who was accompanied by her father, the maid-of-honor, brides-maids and ushers.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white peonies and fox-gloves and the altar was completely banked with ferns, palms and other potted plants.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white liberty satin, real lace veil in bouquet and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride's roses, sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Elizabeth C. Hamlin of Falmouth wore pink chiffon taffeta with trimmings of pink rosebuds, carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Misses Clyde and Elizabeth Carpenter of Newton, Mass., sisters of the groom and Misses Charlotte P. and Florence Sweeney of Bay-side, New York, cousins of the bride, were attractively attired in blue chiffon taffeta and chiffon, trimmed with pink rosebuds and wore large legions hats trimmed with pink roses and black velvet.

Mr. Lawrence G. Odell of Akron, Ohio and Newtonville, Mass., acted as best man and Mr. Richard Jacobs of Auburndale, Mass., Mr. Richard Watson of Roxbury, Mass., Mr. Clarence Stewart of Elmira, New York and Mr. H. Donald Kemp of Roxbury, Mass., were ushers.

Following the ceremony at the church the guests were conveyed in automobiles to the beautiful home of the bride's parents where a reception was given.

The decorations at the house proved an exquisite creation of art, the beautiful flowers harmonizing perfectly with the charming costumes of the usual party.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carpenter.

Immediately following the reception a bountiful wedding breakfast was served.

The bride is well known in the social sets about Boston, having been a student at the Prof. Sargent School and has studied art extensively.

The groom was a graduate in the class of '08 at the Newton High and also was an honor graduate of '12 class of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He is Treasurer and General Manager of the Buzzards Bay Electric Company, Vineyard Lighting Company and Oak Bluffs Street Railway Company and treasurer of the New England Refrigerating Company, having recently succeeded his father, Mr. Eugene Carpenter in the different companies. He is also a member of the banking firm of Carpenter and Company of Newton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, among them being table silver from the bride's parents and a silver punch bowl from the groom's parents who also presented to the bride a cottage and large lot of land on Marthas Vineyard.

What Gives Milk Its Color.

Recent experiments show that the color of milk is chiefly due to the presence of carotin, a coloring matter found abundantly in green plants, especially in grass. The yellow pigments of our bodies also consist of carotin, which is probably derived chiefly from our food.

gregational Church at Waban and the author of "The Easter Hope" and other books.

Not a Full Explanation.
The manifestation called heat is with humans and most other animals a sensation indescribable. From the time of Democritus and Epicurus, and far back of that, the mystery of the source of heat was hotly discussed.

As time flew on and on the mystery was segregated into learned words, and Sir Humphry Davy explained it all by saying that heat was merely the vibration of corpuscles of the body.
He did not tell of the origin of the corpuscles or why they vibrated.

He Had It.
In honor of a visit to his plant by the governor of the state an automobile manufacturer once had a complete car assembled in something like seven minutes. Some weeks later, after this feat was heralded in the daily papers, the phone rang vigorously. "Is it true that you assembled a car in seven minutes at your factory?" the voice asked. "Yes," came the reply. "Why?" "Oh, nothing," said the calm inquirer, "only I've got the car."

Good and Evil.
We often try in vain to cut up our errors by the roots, to fight evil hand to hand on its own ground, where it has us at a disadvantage, whereas our most sure way to victory is by developing and fortifying the good that is in us. We have but a certain measure of strength and activity; as much of this as is added to the good is taken from the evil.—Mine Swetchnine.

Quiet Shoes.
To make nice sick-room shoes in which you can step about softly, cut from old felt hats sole and heel pieces. Glue these on and you have a quieter shoe than those sold as nurses' shoes. The pattering of little feet, so hard on some people's nerves, is easily deadened by the same method, also helping to keep the little feet warm when playing on a cold floor.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

INEXPENSIVE CAKES.

CAKES are an indispensable part of the bill of fare. According to some authorities, their rich ingredients are required to round out the dinner if no other dessert is served.
Some suggestions for cakes that are inexpensive are given here.

With Sugar and Spice.

Spice Cake.—Take two cupsfuls of brown sugar creamed with half a cupful of butter, two eggs, a cupful of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in milk, two and a half cupsfuls of flour, half a teaspoonful of allspice, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of cloves and the same amount of grated nutmeg.

To make icing for this beat the white of an egg very stiff. Cook a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of water until it threads, add to the white of the egg and beat until thick. Flavor with vanilla.

An Economical Recipe.

Gold Cake.—Take three eggs, one and one-quarter cupsful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two and three-quarter cupsful of flour, one-half cupful of butter,
two teaspoonfuls of baking powder,
one teaspoonful of flavoring. Cream sugar and butter. Separate eggs and add beaten yolks to butter and sugar.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and sift again. Add milk, flour and stiffly beaten whites in order given. Stir until smooth. Bake in loaf.

Dried Apple Cake.—Take two cupsfuls of dried apples, soak overnight in enough water to cover them. Later chop fine as raisins and cook until candied in two cupsfuls of New Orleans molasses. Make the usual cake mixture; then add the cooled molasses and apples.

For the Coffee Klatch.

Coffee Cake.—Take one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, two eggs, one tablespoonful of molasses, one-half cupful of cold boiled coffee,
one and seven-eighths cupsful of flour,
two teaspoonfuls of baking powder,
one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one-half teaspoonful of mace, three-quarter cupful of raisins, three-quarter cupful of citron, cream butter, add sugar, molasses and beaten egg yolks. Mix and sift dry ingredients three times; add alternately with the coffee to butter and sugar.
Beat well, add all of the fruit (dried);
then fold in white of eggs, beaten stiff.
Line cake pan with greased paper to prevent the cake cooking too rapidly.

CHEAT WEATHER PIES.

MEAT pies are popular in England. They are made with any meat and often have a crust of pastry. Those made with beef are the most popular.

Baked Meat Pie.—Take one and a half pounds of beef, a quart of potatoes, half a cupful of cut onion, half a cupful of finely cut carrot, two tablespoonfuls of finely cut parsley, a teaspoonful of salt, one-third teaspoonful of paprika and a tablespoonful of flour.
Wash the meat, cut in small pieces, put into a saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil slowly for two and a half hours; then add the onion, carrot, potatoes, salt, paprika and boil for half an hour. There must be a pint of gravy. Mix the flour with a little cold water, add and boil a few minutes.
Line bakepan with crust, pour in the meat and vegetables, cover and brush the top with cold milk and bake for twenty minutes, or until light brown.

Macaroni In This.
Italian Beef Pie.—Take one pound of cooked beef, six ounces of macaroni, one pound of canned tomatoes, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, two tea-spoonfuls of chopped shallot, one and a half ounces of butter, half a pint of stock or water, half an ounce of flour,
a tablespoonful of worcester sauce, salt and pepper to taste. Melt butter in frying pan and put in the chopped onion and flour and brown them carefully. Add stock and stir till it boils.
Then add sauce. Slice or chop the meat and put in a buttered pie dish a layer of macaroni, meat and parsley.
Put tomatoes on top with a bit of butter. Bake for about half an hour.

With Stew Beef.
Beef and Vegetable Pie.—Take about a pound and a half of lean stew beef, a cupful of diced carrots, one-half a cupful of cut onion, a quart of small potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of salt, eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper,
two tablespoonfuls of cut parsley, Wipe the meat, cut in small pieces, put in a boiler, add two quarts of boiling water and boil slowly for an hour.
Remove four cupsful of the beef stock for a broth; then add carrots and onion. Boil thirty minutes, add potatoes and seasoning. Boil twenty-five minutes and add parsley. Line bake dish with crust, which has been rolled thin, pour in meat and vegetables, cover top with dough, brush with a little milk and bake in moderate oven.

WHEN YOU SERVE BACON.

BREAKFAST MENU.
White Grapes. Cereal.
Fried Eggs With Bacon.
Toast. Coffee.

BACON would be more popular were it served in a greater variety of ways. It may be cooked alone or combined with other foods with success.

Cooked With Eggs.

Fried Eggs With Bacon.—Take four eggs, four slices of bacon, four sprigs of parsley. Put the bacon in a hot pan, keep turning all the time and remove the drippings. When the bacon is crisp remove from pan and put in the eggs, reducing the heat. The eggs must fry slowly. When done on one side or both sides put on hot platter.
Garnish with bacon and parsley.

A Tempting Dish.

Bacon and Egg Balls.—Have some hot fat in a deep pan. The temperature should be that necessary for fritters. Stir it until it whirls around quickly. Now break an egg into this miniature whirlpool and keep the fritter turning with the stick till the egg is of the consistency of a poached one and quite round; then lift it out and lay it in a hot dish. Let the dish lean toward the fire to keep the eggs hot.
Do as many more as you require in the same way. They will keep hot and soft in the dish before the fire for quite half an hour. Serve either on a square of fried bacon placed on a fried crouton or on a dish with little curls of fried bacon between.

Delicious With Cream.

Creamed Bacon on Toast.—Take half a pound of thinly sliced bacon, a cupful of milk, a tablespoonful of flour, four pieces of toast, four sprigs of parsley. Put the bacon in a hot frying pan and fry until crisp. Drain off nearly all the drippings, sprinkle with flour and mix. Then add the cold milk slowly. Boil three minutes slowly.
Stir quite often. Serve on toast garnished with parsley.

Served With Sauce.

Fried Bacon With Cream Sauce.—
Slice bacon thin and put into hot frying pan, keep turning until brown, but not hard. Remove, put on slices of toast. Put a tablespoonful of flour into the pan with bacon fat, mix until smooth, put over fire. Add a cupful of cold milk and boil two minutes, adding a little pepper and salt. Stir until smooth and creamy. Pour over the bacon and garnish with a little chopped parsley.

authorized the Building Fund Committee to pay for the same.

The first subscription towards the Building Fund of the Church was by an Easter offering in 1909, at which time the cash and subscriptions amounted to about $37,500.

At Easter in 1910, another effort was made, which netted the Fund about $12,500.

At Easter in 1911, pledges were obtained, payable during the next three years, which amounted to $40,000.

Besides these there were a number of individual contributions to the Fund, several of which were from members of other churches, and at the time the Church contract was let the Fund had accumulated until it amounted to over $130,000. This, it was considered, would be sufficient, with accumulations, to build the Church with a Tower and Spire. The funds to take care of these latter, $16,324, are being raised at this time, June 13, 1915.

The ladies of the parish have within the last few years accumulated a fund of about $10,000, for furnishings—more than one-half of which was the proceeds of the "County Fair" held in the fall of 1913.

The Sunday School has raised for a baptismal font the sum of $600 and a fund for pictures.

The Organ for the Church is to be the gift of the late Frank A. Day, of Newton, in memory of his father and mother who lived in West Newton and attended this Church about fifty years ago.

From the start this project has been marked with the most perfect harmony, the heartiest co-operation and wonderful generosity. Today we asked you for $9,010 to complete the cost of the Tower (the cost of the Spire, $7,324, having been pledged conditionally upon the full amount for the Tower being raised). The subscription which culminated in today's offering amounted to $9,751.81. This subscription was made up of one hundred and seventy-seven pledges and checks, besides the cash offering, so that it is safe to say that at least two hundred and fifty people had a part in it, and this is a fair sample of all former subscriptions.

Prayer was offered by Rev. T. P. Prudden, D.D., pastor of the Church from 1894 to 1907, and another hymn was sung.

The contents of the sealed copper box was read by the Clerk of the Church, Mr. Charles A. Wyman, and included:

Cement was then laid by the employees of Messrs. Norcross Bros., the builders, the stone was lowered into position, and the metal box deposited into the rectangular hole cut in it for that purpose, and sealed with cement by Mrs. Henry J. Patrick, whose husband now deceased, was pastor of the church for 33 years, the placing of the stone being done under supervision of Mr. Charles Collins one of the architects of the new church.

After the Doxology was sung, the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. J. Edgar Park.

The first service of the church was held in West Newton, in 1760, and the first building of the church erected in 1764, about where the city hall now stands, part of its timbers now being embodied in the present city hall.

TOM THUMB WEDDING

The second performance of the Tom Thumb Wedding, which was repeated by request on Tuesday evening, took place at 7 o'clock in the Sunday School rooms at the West Newton Congregational Church.

The floral decorations were very artistic and greatly admired, and the little folks were not in the least bewildered, and played the parts assigned them in an exceedingly pleasing manner.

One of the most amusing features of the wedding was the ceremony read by the minister which was as follows: "Dearly Beloved, we are gathered together in the presence of this assembly of fair ladies and brave men to join together in the spirit of friendship these two before us."

If therefore, any member of this assembly can show any just reason why they may not pledge their friendship let him now speak out or forever remain quiet.

To the man:

Tom Thumb, wilt thou have this fair lady to be thy playmate, and to play always in peace? Wilt thou protect her, serve her, share thy candy with her, let her win your best marbles, help her cut out paper-dolls and never tease her pussy-cat? Ans. I will.

To the woman:

Jennie June, wilt thou have this brave man to be thy playmate, to play together during childhood? Wilt thou always close thine eyes to his faults, and open thy lips every day in praise of his virtues? Wilt thou carry string and nails for him when his pockets are full, play out in the rain with him, help him shovel snow from his front walk and cheerfully put squirming worms on your own hook when you are invited to go fishing with him? Ans. I will.

Minister to father:

Who gives this fair lady in the spirit of friendship to this brave man?

The father:

I do.

Join hands and repeat after minister.

I, Tom Thumb, take thee, Jennie June to be my playmate from this day forward and thereto I give my word and honor.

I, Jennie June, take thee, Tom Thumb, to be my playmate from this day forward, provided you play dolls with me and allow me to play marbles with you and take me sliding and skating every winter, and thereto I give thee my word and honor.

Tom Thumb:

With this rose I thee pledge and with all my toys I thee endow. Forasmuch as Tom Thumb and Jennie June have consented to be pledged with a rose and thereto have pledged their word and honor, and have made assurance doubly sure by joining hands, I do pronounce you a jolly pair. May your shadows never grow less and may you each be happy forever.

This very successful affair, which was for the benefit of the Red Banks Society of the Congregational Church, was under the direction of Mrs. Walton Spencer Redfield, assisted by Miss Dorothy Hartel.

SUFFRAGE RALLY

There was a well attended open air meeting of the Newton Equal Suffrage League in West Newton Saturday evening with Miss Margaret Foley of Boston as the principal speaker.—Miss Foley said in part:

What women are asking for is the right to consent to the laws under which they live. Wherever the ballot, which is the official means of such consent, is denied them, women are still in respect to their social rights under the regime of force, and society goes limping along with one member rejecting in the freedom of democracy and the other still swathed in the restraints of feudalism. The vote is merely the approved instrument for registered social consent. The people as a whole can have no affairs to which all the people are not equal. The ballot either written or oral, is the most ancient means of expediting business. It is present today in large bodies, composed exclusively of women, who meet in convention, conduct important financial operations and make laws for the control of widely-separated organizations. Women vote. The only question before the public today is whether they shall be permitted to vote in the matters that most immediately concern them. It is the use of the ballot in the least important issues of society that has taught women its value as an instrument in the field of human achievement. For centuries men have been regarding participation in public business as a kind of divine right, a privilege of wealth or birth or sex, and in as many years women have seized upon it as a means of getting something done, a new power with which to make a cleaner sweep of their business.

SONG RECITAL

An informal song recital was given Tuesday evening by Miss Grace Leonard, assisted by Master Donald Fleming and Miss Gladys Siebert, piano pupils of Miss Elsa Leonard. Miss Glennys Pollard also assisted with violin. The program included three Gipsy songs by Dvorak, "My Star," by James Rogers, "The Pine Tree," "Salute," "The Owl," Barnes, "Es Schrie Ein Vogel," Singing and "Psyche" Paladilke. The piano selections were Chopin's "Nocturne in B major," Elgar's "Salut d'Amour," Dvorak's "Humoresque," also "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven, "Improvisation" Macdowell, "Dans le Style Ancien" Chaminade. Miss Leonard also responded to a request for two of Miss Elsa Leonard's compositions and sang, "Alas that Spring should Vanish with the Rose," and "The Shadow."

would add to the value and attractiveness of your home. We have a beautiful prepared roofing with the permanence of a tile roof at a fraction of its cost. This is COLORED

RUBER-OID
MADE IN U.S.A.
COSTS HALF AS MUCH AS OTHER ROOFING

The distinctive colors are permanent—built into the roofing. Time and weather only add to their pleasing tones.

Colored RUBER-OID possesses all the enduring qualities of the gray RUBER-OID, which has been more than 20 years of constant service without repair.

When you put on RUBER-OID you put an end to roof troubles. Our customers tell us that other roofings cannot compare with it.

Come in and let us show you Colored RUBER-OID (Kaiser-oid). Examine it carefully. Note the color. Note the toughness of the fabric. Note that it contains no coal tar, asphalt, paper stock, wood shavings, or other cheap stuff. Let us tell you what those who have used it think of it.

We are local distributors of RUBER-OID Roofing. The genuine has the "Ruber-oid Man," shown above, on every roll.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Interesting Program Given at Central Church, Newtonville

An interesting event for the Sunday School was the Annual "Children's Day Service," which was held Sunday morning at Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

There was a large attendance and the order of service was exceptionally well arranged. It opened with an Organ Prelude followed by a procession of "Fling Out the Banner," by all departments of the Sunday School. Rev. A. J. Muste, the minister, offered prayer, after which there was a baptismal service. The children baptized were Helen Alma Ingram and Charles Kipley Lynde, Jr.

"Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us," was beautifully rendered by the choir, and there was a presentation of Bibles to the following Sunday School pupils: Howard Bradley Allen, Lucy Lyman Allen, Ruth Faxon Baker, Richard Field Hunt, Jr., Richard Lewis Leonard, Luther Samuel Moore, Philippa Charles Patey, Elizabeth Porter Stocking, Wallace A. White, Margaret Paul Young and Katherine Shelton.

The Kindergarten children sang "Jesus Loves Me, This I Know," and the Offertory March was played by the Central Sunday School Orchestra.

An interesting and pleasing feature of the service was the arrival of members of the World Family and Reception by the "World Mother," Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden.

The delegates were represented by the following children from the primary and junior departments, in nine groups: "United States," represented by Dorothy Hall and Lisbeth Leighton; "Canada," Richard Hall, "Indians," Roger Salinger and Gerald Lackey; "Mexico," Prescott Winslow Hartford; "Sweden," Fredrick Burnham; "Edwin Leonard; "Scotland," Harriet Patey; "Italy," Elizabeth Bennett; "Greece," Alfred Bennett; "Holland," Philippa Patey; "Egypt," Helen Sheldon; "Armenia," Katherine Baker, Robert Hutchinson; "Turkey," Frank Cookley; "Persia," Mary Eames; "Syria," Donald Frail; "India," Winslow Auryansen, Eleanor Richmond and Dorothy Frail; "Micronesia," Lucy Allen and Howard Allen; "Japan," Ruth Baker, Veda Leonard, Ruth Williams, Eleanor Martin, Olive Beal and Arline Keith; "China," Evelyn Sheldon, Marjorie Tucker and Jeanette Martin.

"We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," was sung by the Sunday School and Choir, after which Mr. Muste gave an inspiring address, "An Important Message to All Boys and Girls."

The service closed with the presentation of diplomas to the primary and junior departments. Those of the primary department receiving diplomas were: Howard B. Allen, Lucy L. Allen, Muriel Bassett, Henry E. Brown, Frederick A. Burnham, Richard F. Carr, Florence A. Cox, George A. Eddy, Edgar P. Hills, Dorothy G. Hughes, Morton F. Ingraham, Henry S. Leonard, Richard C. MacLeod, Marjorie Nichols, Emily M. Paul, James R. Paul, Kenneth J. Schafer, Harry R. Smith, David P. Whitehall, Annie T. Young. The junior department, included Katherine Baker, Olive Beal, Mary Eames, Dorothy Frail, Dorothy Hall, Richard Hall, Alfred Hemming, Gerald Lackey, Edwin Leonard, Jeanette Martin, Helen Sheldon, Marjorie Tucker and Constance Vose.

READ FUND PICNIC

The annual Read Fund Picnic for the children of Newton Corner will be held next Tuesday at Norumbega Park. It is expected that about 1000 children will be present. The picnic is held under the provisions of the will of the late Charles A. Read, who left $40,000 to the city of Newton to be used for various purposes.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Closing Exercises and Presentation of Diplomas

The graduating exercises of the Parochial School connected with the Church of Our Lady at Newton were held last Sunday evening with solemn vespers in the church at 7.30 o'clock before a large gathering of friends of the graduates. Rev. James F. Kelly was celebrant, and was assisted by Rev. Ambrose Gallagher and Rev. Joseph Burke, former graduates of the school. Rev. A. S. Malone was master of ceremonies and the sermon was given by Rev. Fr. O'Connor, O. P. on the subject of Education.

The diplomas were presented by Rev. Fr. Kelly to the following graduates:

FLAG NIGHT

Order of Hibernians Hold Enthusiastic Meeting in Nonantum Hall

Nonantum Hall was crowded to its doors and hundreds were turned away on Wednesday evening at the Flag Night held under the joint auspices of Division 35, A. O. H. and Division 22, Ladies' Auxiliary of Newton.

The hall was most attractively decorated with streamers of the national colors, forming a tent, and there was a profusion of flags of various sizes on the platform and walls. In addition every person entering the hall was presented with a small flag, on a stick pin, so that there was no excuse for a lack of patriotic sentiment. The audience was enthusiastic from the beginning and greeted the various speakers and incidents of the evening in a most hearty and inspiring manner.

Mr. T. L. Murphy proved a most effective chairman and has unremitting efforts to make the affair a success and his happy presentation of the speakers of the evening, were evidently highly appreciated.

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston was the orator of the evening and spoke on "The Flag." Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Mr. P. Sarsfield Cunningham of Watertown and Rev. Fr. Murphy of Oak Square and Rev. L. C. Jordan of Newton Centre also spoke. The musical portion of the program included selections by King's orchestra, singing by a male quartet composed of Mr. John J. Maloney and the Katigan Brothers of Watertown, singing by Miss Bessie Hogan of Cambridge, and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," and "America," by the ladies' auxiliary. Miss Agnes Campbell gave a recitation which was well received.

The most impressive feature of the evening, however, was the unveiling of the flag by Miss Margaret Finnigan and the military salute given to the colors by a detail of Co. C, Fifth Regiment who were present.

The affair was a great success and reflects great credit on the committee in charge.

GRADUATES OF NORMAL SCHOOL

At the closing exercises of the State Normal School at Framingham held on Wednesday, the following residents of this city were awarded diplomas for completing the regular academic course for two years.—Miss Laura H. Baker, Ruth C. Commons, Gertrude P. Cutler, Mary O. Duval, Helen M. Eustis, Margaret A. Leahy, Claudia E. McDuff, Catherine D. Neary, and Annie R. Toombs.

EDITORIAL

The recently amended regulations of the "jitney" question by which would settle the "jitney" question by requiring a permit from the city government, has been evaded by one operator at least, who, with a license from Waltham, carries passengers between Newton and that city, by taking them free to the Waltham line and charging them a nickel for the remainder of the distance. The fare the other way, being collected in Waltham. It is said that this scheme does not conflict with the present regulations in this city.

The "jitney" question has at least two conflicting phases. On the one hand it offers a convenient, rapid, and often satisfactory method of transportation, is more flexible than the present trolley car system, and, in pleasant weather, appeals to the large class of people. Its principal fault is its irresponsibility, the danger of careless or incompetent operation and the lack of financial accountability. Newton has not yet, and probably will not, be a fruitful field for this class of business. It is probable that one or two bus lines in parts of the city not now served by the trolley may prove profitable, and certainly would be a great convenience. Our city government can be depended upon, however, to meet this question and to solve it in the most satisfactory manner, even though they may not suit the schemes of automobile owners from other cities.

CHINA WEDDING

More than 200 guests assembled on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William U. Fogwill on Greenough street, West Newton, the occasion being a celebration of the 20th Anniversary of their wedding.

The reception room was attractively adorned with June roses, and Mr. and Mrs. Fogwill were assisted in receiving their guests by their daughters, the Misses Susan and Hazel Fogwill, and by Mrs. Susan Fogwill, Mr. Fogwill's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Fogwill were showered with congratulations, flowers and beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served in a large tent on the lawn, and the tables were tastefully decorated with white roses and peonies.

Hamilton's Orchestra of Cambridge, was in attendance and furnished music during the reception and for the dancing which followed. Mr. Fogwill was born in England and Mrs. Fogwill was born in Waltham, Mass.; they were married June 20th, 1895 at Mrs. Fogwill's home in Waltham, by Rev. Dr. Gardiner of Cambridge.

There were guests present from Atlantic, Acton, Cambridge, Allston, Dorchester, Boston, Provincetown, Waltham and the Newtons.

The Boynton Lodge, No. 20, United Order of Independent Odd Ladies, of which Mrs. Fogwill is a member, was well represented.

Included among the guests were, Rev. Dr. Gardiner of Cambridge, Rev. Harry Beal and Mrs. Beal of Auburndale, Mrs. Clarke and daughter of Atlantic, Mr. John K. Fogwill and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pope, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dow of Wintrop, and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Beardsley and family of Auburndale.

BRAE BURN CLUB

A Tea Damsel will be held Saturday afternoon from 4 until 7 at the Club.

Mrs. S. E. Howard and Miss Pauline Howard are guests this week at Brae Burn.

Mr. W. R. Cordingley of Chestnut Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. James Richard Carter of West Newton are registered at the Club for a short stay.

Arrangements are being completed for the annual Fourth of July celebration, the gala event, which "winds up" the summer festivities at Brae Burn.

MRS. DONALD

Mrs. Mary Donald, wife of William Donald of 398 Centre street, died last Thursday at her late home, after an illness of eight weeks. Mrs. Donald was sixty years of age and had resided in Newton for forty years. She is survived by her husband and six children. Funeral services were held Saturday morning with a requiem high mass at the Church of Our Lady at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. A. S. Malone, assisted by Rev. Fr. James F. Kelly, sang the mass. Interment was held in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Waverley.

The graduating exercises at the Peirce school in West Newton were held last evening in the assembly hall of the school, and there was a large attendance. The principal event in the program was the speaking contest for the Peirce school medals. There were eight contestants for each medal, one for the boys and one for the girls. The judges were, Rev. J. Edgar Park, Mr. Franklin S. Hoyt and Mrs. William L. Garrison and they awarded the prizes to Marie Lafie for the girls and Marshall Foster for the boys. The cantata "Barbara Freitchie" was given by the graduating class. The class gift to the school was a statue of Venus.

WHEN USING LAMB.

LUNCHEON MENU.

Casserole of Lamb With Vegetables.
Boiled Potatoes.
Celery Salad.
Cocoa. Brown Betty.

RECIPES for lamb, served in ways suitable for luncheon and tea, are suggested here:

Casserole of Lamb and Vegetables.—Take two pounds neck of lamb, one ounce butter or drippings, one onion, stock, one teaspoonful green peas, one dozen small carrots, two or three turnips and seasoning. Melt the butter in the casserole and fry the onion slightly. Cut the lamb into neat pieces and fry these also. Cover with stock and allow to simmer for one and a half hours. Add the vegetables the last half hour. These should be cut into neat cubes and strips. Thicken the gravy just before serving with a tablespoonful of flour smoothed free from lumps with a little cold water. Sprinkle the top with a little chopped parsley and serve in the casserole.

This For Luncheon.

Lamb In Aspic.—Prepare an aspic jelly in the usual manner. Pour a portion of it in the bottom of a plain mold and decorate the bottom and sides with evenly cut slices of hard boiled eggs, sprigs of parsley and slices of lamb; then fill the mold with the remaining aspic and set on ice until firm. Turn out on a chilled platter and surround with lemon cups filled with new peas moistened with French dressing. Stuffed Lamb.—When buying a leg of lamb ask the butcher to remove the bone so that a pocket is left to stuff. It does not roast so dry as the shoulder and is in many ways a better cut of meat. A good stuffing is made as follows: Take stale bread and moisten with hot water until it is soft, pouring off the water. Add a well beaten egg, salt, pepper and sage to taste. Fill the cavity and sew it up. Bake for an hour or two according to size.

A Novel Stew.

Lamb Stew With Vegetables.—Take two pounds of lamb, two quarts of canned string beans and one pound of canned tomatoes. Take beans and cut in four pieces along section and cross section; cut the meat in small pieces, wash it first and then put in your cooking pan and add four glasses of water and cook until it is half done; then put your string beans in it and four good sized onions cut into small pieces; then cut your tomatoes and put in; put on enough hot water to cover and let cook until well done; you can salt to suit taste. When cooked mix and serve.

BANANA DESSERTS.

BANANAS make convenient winter desserts. They are easily prepared and delicious. The addition of lemon juice, oranges, grape fruit or the fruit flavors from canned fruits make it possible to vary the desserts to suit the taste.

These Are Tart.

Lemon Bananas.—Take four large, ripe bananas, slice in a glass dish and squeeze the juice of a lemon over them. Then add one gill of water and a half cupful of sugar. Let stand half an hour in a cold place before serving. Sliced Bananas With Cranberries.—Take two bananas, one cupful strained cranberries, one-fourth cupful sugar and one cupful of water. Boil sugar and water for five minutes, add cranberries, remove from the fire and cool. Skin, scrape and slice the bananas into ice cream glasses or a glass bowl and strain the cranberries over top.

Bananas and Grapefruit.—Slice and chill bananas. Then place in tall glasses, cover thickly with powdered sugar and pour over them the juice of grapefruit. Let them stand an hour or more before serving if possible. No cream or lemon will be required with this dessert.

Flavored With Fruit Juice.—Banana Cream With Raspberry Sauce.—Peel and crush two large bananas, add two teaspoonsful lemon juice and two-thirds cupful of powdered sugar. Beat thoroughly. Beat white of one egg until light and fluffy. Add one-third cupful of grated coconut, fold in one-half pint of heavy cream beaten until stiff and serve cold.

To make the sauce, thicken one cupful of raspberry juice with one teaspoonful arrowroot and sweeten to taste.

Bananas Filled With Cream.—Remove one section of the peel from as many bananas as are to be served. Take out the pulp and force through vegetable ricer. For six bananas allow one cupful powdered sugar, one cupful of thick cream, one-third cupful of sweet milk beaten together and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Fill the banana skins and put on the section that was removed. Set the stuffed fruit in a tin pail, put on cover and pack in equal parts salt and ice. After being packed one and one-half hours they will be ready to serve.

THE OLDEST TRUST COMPANY IN BOSTON

JITNEYS HERE

Operating Between Nonantum Square and Waltham Without Permission

The war which the jitney bus company in Waltham has been waging against the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company in Waltham and waterworks has been laid aside for the time being by the bus line, and it has entered into a quiet agreement with the city of Newton, changing their field of operations to the Garden City, where it has not yet received a license to operate from the Newton Board of Aldermen.

The Newton police department is unable to stop the running of the cars, even though the line has no permit to run, for the company, the Waltham Auto Bus Company, is evading the law by not picking up passengers in Newton and by not collecting fares until the city of Waltham is reached. Chief of Police E. M. Mitchell of Newton claims that as long as this is done he is powerless to stop the machines. In going from Waltham to Newton, the buses do not stop after the city line is passed, and all fares are collected before that point is reached, returning passengers are picked up at Newton Corner, and no stops are made until the city line is reached, and no fares are collected until this point is reached.

Chief Mitchell says that if any passenger enters the car at Newton Corner, and desires to be let off before the Waltham line is reached, whether or not his fare has been paid, and the driver refuses to stop, the driver is liable to prosecution for kidnapping. As things stand at present, a test case of this nature seems to be the only means of bringing the matter to an end.

President Daniel Tickton of the bus company charges that the Newton aldermen are using dilatory tactics, with the intention of holding up the permits, and that this delay is instigated by Alderman Cox, a member of the franchise and license committee, who is also the general manager and vice-president of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company, competitors of the jitney line.

Senator Nathan A. Tutts, counsel for the bus line is convinced that the company is within its rights in operating as it is, and he says that if any trouble arises he will take the matter to the Supreme Court. President Tickton claims that the steps which have been taken are to force the issue with the Newton city government and to find out just where the company stands.

Steel vs. Iron.

For some purpose iron is to be preferred to steel and vice versa. To easily distinguish one from the other, make a bright spot on the metal with a file or sand paper and apply a single drop of nitric acid. Allow it to remain for one or two minutes and wash or wipe off. If the spot has a pale ashy appearance it is wrought iron; if it is a brownish black, it is steel; if a deep black, it is cast iron.

The Fishing Banks.

Newfoundland would be nothing without the great submarine plateau known as the "banks," on which all the fishing is done. At a small station within the edges of the great bank the cod loves so well the sea is quite smooth. It is usual for vessels fishing on the banks to inquire from those that have arrived from the open sea as to what sort of weather it is.—Exchange.

Made Slavery Hereditary.

The first formal recognition of negro slavery in Virginia was March 1, 1661, when the assembly declared that "negroes are incapable of making satisfaction for the time lost in running away, by addition of time," and slavery was made hereditary in Virginia in 1662 by an act of the assembly that the issue of slave mothers should follow their condition.

Dancer in Waiting.

Just because an Oregon scientist declares that old men do the best work is no reason, of course, why young fellows should put off contemplated achievements until the arrival of declining years. It may be that the man who accomplishes little in his early maturity will make up for the lack when he starts down the western slope of life. It doesn't sound reasonable however.

Taking No Chances.

At a Scotch watering place one summer, Macpherson was found stretched in a contented mood on the sands, puffing his old pipe. "Come on, Mac," said his companion, who had just come from town, "let's go for a sail." "Na, na," replied Macpherson, slowly shaking his head, "I have had a guldinner at the coast 'o three and saxepee, an' I'm takin' no risks."

Loyal to Aunt May.

Aunt May was the favorite aunt of little Ellen. One day the former said to her, naming three other aunts. "Which do you like best, Aunt Anna, Aunt Emily or Aunt Palmer?" Little Ellen looked thoughtful a moment and then said, "Why, I like Aunt Anna better than Aunt Palmer, but I don't like anybody best what isn't you."

Incognita

By F. A. MITCHEL

It so happened that King Caspar of Walkaria and Queen Bertha of Zingeland inherited their kingdoms when very young. Their domains joined, but they had never met, for during their childhood their fathers had been at continual warfare. When these two kings died—about the same time—the cabinets of both countries decided to make a match between the young king and the young queen.

Queen Bertha would not consent to the match without some acquaintance with the man she was to marry. She therefore insisted on their meeting in one of her palaces near the border line between the two kingdoms, the king to be attended by three men and the queen by three women. To this the king gladly assented.

Before leaving for the rendezvous the queen said to a maid of honor, who was also her bosom friend: "I wish you to exchange places with me at this meeting, you to personate me, I to personate you. This will be easy, for I have purposely limited the number of my attendants so that there are only two besides ourselves to be in the secret."

When the king met the substitute queen, whose name was Catherine, he was well pleased with her, for not only the queen herself, but her attendants, were beautiful women. Bertha had charged Catherine to treat her with some severity lest by her accustomed deference she betray the secret. During the first interview Catherine spoke to Bertha somewhat sharply, and the king's notice was turned from the spurious to the real queen, who bore the reproach with becoming meekness. Indeed, King Caspar was charmed that the maid showed no temper whatever, while the reproach, which seemed to be uncalled for, prejudiced him against her supposed mistress.

Queen Bertha had gone to the meeting with no other object than to overlook her future husband incognito. But from the moment she saw him she was much smitten with him and resolved to win him if possible. She directed Catherine to lose no opportunity to show her severity while in the king's presence. Catherine, who was an excellent actress, played her part remarkably well. Did she order the queen to do her any service, no matter how speedily the duty was performed, the spurious queen would reprimand her. At such times the real queen would cast down her eyes, bearing the injustice with angelic sweetness.

One morning Catherine sent Bertha to the royal garden for some flowers and when she returned scolded her for not getting the kind she wished. Nevertheless she handed several of the choicest to King Caspar, whose brows were knit at the harsh treatment of the maid of honor. Taking the gift, he selected the most beautiful flower, a rose, and handed it to Bertha.

As might have been expected had the play been a reality, Catherine after this, with the queen's concurrence, redoubled her harshness to Bertha, who availed herself of the opportunity to show herself an angel of patience. This excited the king's sympathy and admiration for the poor maid to such an extent that he resolved to break off the negotiations.

When Bertha considered the fruit ripe for plucking she contrived to meet the king in a corridor in the palace as if by chance. He stopped her and, despite her pretended efforts to get by him, forced her to chat with him. This she did with her eyes bent upon the floor in well affected modesty. While they were together a door opened and Catherine came out into the corridor. With fire in her eye she ordered Bertha to her room, then said to the king: "If this is a sample of your majesty's constancy I think we had better go no further in this matter."

"As your majesty pleases," replied the king with a formal bow.

Thus was the king turned from one woman to another. Queen Bertha and her maids of honor returned to Zingeland and King Caspar to Walkaria. But the king did not remain there long before he took a step which he must take with great care, since his failure to marry the queen of Zingeland had made him unpopular in both kingdoms. He sent a confidential friend to Zingeland to learn if he could marry one whom he supposed to be the queen's maid of honor.

King Caspar had no hope that he would be permitted the woman of his choice. The queen had shown herself, indeed, jealous of her maid of honor, and would doubtless refuse his request with some harsh accompanying message. During his messenger's absence he walked the floor impatiently and with anxiety, waiting for his answer.

His emissary returned with a surprise, announcing that the maid was the queen and the queen was the maid. Without losing a moment the king mounted his horse and, summoning his escort, rode night and day to the capital of Zingeland and appearing before Queen Bertha bespattered with mud from his quick ride, knelt before her and kissed her hand. When he looked up he saw her face bent down upon him filled with merriment.

Turning his eyes to a maid of honor standing by the queen, he saw Catherine looking at him with the same amused expression.

And so it was that the two kingdoms were united and there were no more wars.

Thomas King, '15, has been selected by all of the Boston newspapers for the first baseman on their Scholastic Baseball nine. Captain King has shown up well all season on the initial sack. Newton's best pitcher, Dick Comick, was chosen for that position on most of the papers' second teams. Comick won the Triangular League, and pitched Newton to victory against Boston College High. It is not clear to some of us how it was that Harris was not given a position. Harris played consistently throughout the year. He batted well, for a good while heading the list with the highest average on the Newton nine. Harris was a wonder at chasing high, and seemingly impossible fouls, and getting them. It was Harris who started a good number of the batting rallies that landed games for Newton.

As the season of 1914-15 has come to a close, we print here a list of those who have won their "N's": For Hockey: L. C. Kepner, L. Jackson, E. Stickney, D. E. Putnam, R. LaCroix, H. Carley, R. W. Buntin, G. Fiske, and E. Burkhardt. The football players awarded "N's": F. Dorney, Bray, T. C. Nathan, Hoar, Vachon, Cormick, Harris Bryson, Caverley, Burkhardt, Fay, Turner, A. Turner, Mellor, King, and Hughes, the winners of "N's" in Track: C. H. Banchoff, C. F. Gilman, Jr., H. F. Mitchell, P. S. Kelley, M. Bruner, F. G. MacNamara, A. S. Roberts, W. E. Wheeler, W. H. Mitchell, J. McGovern, T. F. O'Brien, C. Rogers, J. Litchfield, R. Adams, P. Newell, Hayes, H. C. Pierce, and L. S. Woodworth. The baseball men who have won their "N's" are as follows: Tom King, Elliott, Stickney, William Dalton, Dick Comick, Charles Bryson, Harris, John Keilar, Vachon, Philip Newell, and Gilman. In Field Hockey, the following girls won their "N's": Misses Eleanor Shumway, Eleanor Edwards, Mary Buckley, Susan Fessenden, Caroline Fisher, Hilda Jones, Marion Lyons, Rosamond Huntress, Emily Howard, Helen Woodward, and Winifred Whitely. Through Girls' Basketball, the following secured their "N's": Misses Hilda Jones, Eugenie Brown, Nora Gulian, Laura Williams, Catherine Tyler, Ruth Alexander, Dorothy Leach, Ruth Polly, and Margaret Considine. Fifty-three boys gained the privilege of wearing an "N," while twenty girls are wearers of that much coveted letter. Elliott Stickney and Edgar Burkhardt are the only boys who acquired the honor of being three-letter men this year. Miss Hilda Jones, captain of the Girls' Basketball team, is the only two-letter girl wearer.

The Girls' Glee Club this year instead of following the usual custom of learning five or six songs, decided to learn an operetta. The choice fell on "The American Girl" composed by Charles Vincent. Under the able instruction of Mr. Walton, the Club feels that its year's work has been a success.

The High School Golf team is composed of McGovern, Uller, W. Daley, Cockran, and E. Daley manager. The team has had a very good year.

The School was represented by a Relay Team this year which was "all most as good as last year's." Adams, Litchfield, Banchoff, and MacNamara made up this team. The team was victor in all but one of its races. It was the Relay team that scored Newton's point and a half in the B. A. A. meet. The team beat Somerville, Dorchester, and then, for the second time, triumphed over Brookline. The only defeat came at the hands of Boston College High. Many think Newton could have won in its own gymnasium.

The Midlet Relay Team had a very successful year. Burrows, Dudley, Palmer, and Marshall composed the team. The Newton Midlets beat the Huntington School at the B. A. A. Schoolboy Meet, this was the climax to the season.

BROWN-DABOLL

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Daboll, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Daboll of Walker street, Newtonville, and Mr. Wendell Stimpson Brown of Providence, R. I., took place last evening at the Church of the New Jerusalem, which was attractively decorated with roses and peonies in a color scheme of green and pink. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. John Goddard, the pastor, assisted by Rev. George Wheeler of Providence, R. I., the bride party entering the church to the strains of the familiar Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mr. Horace B. Blackmer of Malden, a friend of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and her sister, Miss Jeanette G. Daboll, wearing pink and carrying pink roses was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids, who were also dressed in pink and carried bunches of maiden hair fern were the Misses Eileen McCarthy, Katherine Sewall, Genevieve Preble, and Miss V. Burkes of Waltham and Miss Mary Daboll, a sister of the bride, of Newtonville.

Mr. John A. Anderson of Providence was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Clinton B. Willey of Cambridge, and Charles H. S. Brown, Roy Stimpson, John Hodgerson and Irving Saul of Providence. A pleasing innovation in the service was the singing of the anthem "O Thou Wilt Show Me the path of Life" by the bridesmaids, just before the benediction.

A reception followed the ceremony in the parlors of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside at 176 Pawtucket avenue, Edgewood, R. I., where they will be at home after August first.

VAN BUSKIRK-KNIGHT

Mr. John Inglis Van Buskirk and Miss Bertha Louise Knight of New Bedford were married at Providence, R. I., a former home of the bride, Wednesday, June 16th.

Mr. Van Buskirk is a well-known Newton man and his marriage will be a surprise to his many friends. Mrs. Van Buskirk has been Probation Officer at New Bedford, Mass., where she is held in the highest esteem.

The wedding which was held at the Episcopal Church was a quiet affair, only immediate relatives being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Buskirk will make their home in New Bedford.

N. T. H. S.

Miss Preston is to be transferred next year from the English Department to the Commercial department where she will teach bookkeeping and correspondence. Miss Gladys Bigelow a graduate of Simmons and a trained librarian, will assume charge of the library. Miss Bigelow intends to start reading clubs amongst the younger students for the purpose of helping them acquire the appreciation of, and the desire to read, good books.

Last January six Senior girls and four from the class of 1914 took the Massachusetts Civil Service examination for stenographers. Having spent several weeks in making preparation for this examination, they have awaited the returns from the Examining Board with great expectations. The long-delayed marks were received just as school closed, and indicate that these girls have exceeded all previous records of our graduates in Civil Service Examinations. Inasmuch as these examinations are for the purpose of securing a list of highly efficient stenographers for the public service, inexperienced stenographers seldom attempt them and the record of these school girls is the more remarkable. The highest speed dictation that was given was at the rate of one hundred twenty words per minute. Miss Mary Bradley, '14, got the highest mark at this speed, 95 per cent, while Miss Grace Bowen, Miss Alice Klockner and Miss Mae Lannigan, all of the class of 1915, also received marks of over 90 per cent. Miss Caroline Beckwith, '14, also made above the excellent mark of 90 per cent. The other Newton contestants, Miss Hilda Bennett, P. G., '15, Miss Helen Marsh, P. G., '15, Miss Margaret Barry, '14, Miss Margaret Farmer, '14, and Miss Viola Doyle, '14, also did well in the examination.

The annual luncheon, given by the three lower classes of the Fine Arts Course, to the Fine Arts Seniors took place last Friday after school. Mr. Palmer and the following teachers were present and made a few remarks befitting the occasion: Mr. Kidger, head of the History department, Miss Wetherbee, a member of the English department, Miss Fiske also an English teacher, Mr. Wingate, head of the Mathematics department, Mr. Daniels, the well known drawing teacher, Miss Gregory, also a drawing teacher, and Miss Rice. Three graduates were also glad to be there: Miss Louise Drew, '14, who is attending the Museum Fine Arts School, and Misses Ethel Trussell, '12, Constance Boswick, '14, who are at present, both pupils in the Normal Arts School in Boston. After eating some of the delicious food, the gathering was ready to hear from the Junior toastmistress, Miss McCarthy. The next thing on the program was the presentation of white roses to the Seniors by Miss Adams who said an original poem as she did it, in which the roses were spoken of as the emblem of the Senior class standing for industry, devotion and purity. Miss McCarthy then read a very well written prophecy for the Senior class composed of the unlucky number seven. These seven who are graduates of the Newton Highlands Improvement Society last week Thursday, were: Misses Metellina Maxim, Dorothy Eames, Mary Clifford, Jessie McDonald, Edith Bartlett, Margaret Hinkley, and Wilbur Noyes. One lone boy, but he has distinguished himself by his work on the editorial staff of the "Dynamo," and as the designer of the covers for that paper. Dancing ended the afternoon to the music of Stuart Daniel. Victor, Miss Mary Clifford also did good work as a member of the "Dynamo" staff, and she was Senior class vice-president. Miss Maxim was active in school socials, being a member of the Glee Club, also on the committee which has charge of the Class Party. Miss Bartlett is known for her excellent themes, both oral and written. Miss Hinkley is the Senior class poetess for the Class Party. These last sentences have been to show how, although small in number, the Seniors of the Fine Arts division have been very active in school activities.

COMMUNITY DAY

A portion of the program for the Community Day held under the auspices of the Newton Highlands Improvement Society last week Thursday, was postponed until Saturday afternoon on account of the inclement weather. The postponed events included the field sports in the afternoon on the playground and the band concert, illumination and dance held in the evening on the Crane estate on Crystal Lake. There were a large crowd of interested spectators at the sports of the afternoon and the winners were as follows:—

50 yd. dash for boys 15 and under, 1st, Joseph Green; 2nd, Robert Garrity; 25 yd. dash for boys under 12, 1st, Walter Chase; 2nd, Walter Dunphy; 25 yd. dash for girls 15 and under, 1st, Catherine Holmes; 2nd, Daniel Hughes; 25 yd. dash for girls under 12, 1st, Rosamond Jones; 2nd, Elizabeth Woolley; 3 legged race for boys under 16, 1st, Robert Garrity and Payson Jones; 2nd, William Melia and S. Sullivan; Potato Race for girls (15 heats being run off), 1st, Margaret Sullivan, 2nd, Elizabeth Hill; Sack Race for boys (15 heats being run off), 1st, Payson Jones, 2nd, Arthur Hughes.

The stout men's race was the fastest race of the afternoon and was easily won by the able chairman of the executive committee for Community Day, Mr. E. C. Johnson, 2nd, Mr. Simpson. The baseball throwing for girls was won by Ruth Alexander, 2nd, Rosamond Jones. Mrs. Newton won the ball throwing contest for women. Mrs. Call brings a close season.

The prizes were presented by Mayor Childs. All the winners received suitable cups and the seconds were awarded Community Day pennants.

The band concert and illumination attracted a large crowd in the evening and the music and lights made a most attractive scene.

NEWTON HIGH ELECTS COMICK

The members of the Newton High School baseball nine met Monday afternoon and elected Richard Comick of Newton Highlands captain for 1916. Comick has played with the nine for two years, pitching and playing the outfield. He was a big factor this Spring in bringing the Triangular League championship to Newton High.

The diplomas were presented to H. Stanley Woodward, Ruth S. Erickson, Carl F. Reichert, C. Roy Morgan, J. Ralph Marchant, Charles F. Gilman, Jr., Hjalmar N. Nelson, William A. Collier, Albert L. Gray, Jr., Willis L. Gray, Dorothy E. Hackett, Elin M. Peterson, Walter F. Smith.

DEATH OF MR. STONE

Mr. Edwin T. Stone passed away at Newtonville on Thursday, June 17th. A widow and one son, Mr. Ralph R. Stone of Northfield, Mass., survive him.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at his late residence on Page road. An impressive service was conducted at 2 o'clock, by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the First Unitarian Church at West Newton.

There were very many beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the family lot at Woodlawn Cemetery.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

A full account of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs which is being held at Marion yesterday and today, will appear in next week's issue. Abstracts of a few of the reports given on Thursday follow:

Report of Clerk.

Today completes twenty-two years of earnest work along the lines laid down by the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, the aim of which during the past year has been always toward that goal for the betterment of the home and community life.

During the year the Federation meetings have been held, the Autumn meeting, as guests of the Norwood Women's Club in the Civics Association Building on November 4th and the Mid-winter meeting on February 26th by invitation of the Somerville Women's Club.

Two President's Conferences have been held during the year; the first on Education at Mechanics Building on Oct. 24 at the time of the Pure Food Exposition through the courtesy of its management the second on March 25th with the Thought and Work Club and the Salem Woman's Club.

One of the most interesting gatherings of the entire Federation year was that which occurred in Springfield with the Springfield Women's Club on January 22nd. At this meeting, forty clubs from the Western part of the State were invited to send delegates, and of this number, twenty-eight were represented.

1st, What is the most interesting work your Club is doing at the present time? 2nd, What specific work would you like to do for your Club or community? 3rd, Mental Diseases.

In order to give you a concrete idea of the work done by the Federation during the twelve months, I will report twenty-five Department Conferences, nineteen Council Meetings, eight regular and three special Board Meetings.

With this review of activities, your Clerk wishes to express her thanks for being permitted to have served for two years, and to extend to the Federation best wishes for its continued growth along lines suited to the needs of all clubs.

Belle R. Clark, Clerk.

Report of the Corresponding Secretary

This year the membership of the Federation has been increased by the addition of ten Clubs and one City Federation, as follows: Georgetown Woman's Club, Norfolk Neighborhood Club, Woman's Economic Club of East Bridgewater, Maiden Women's Civic League, Research Club of North Adams, Westfield Woman's Club, Rockport Woman's Club, Harvard Woman's Club of Boston, Browning Club of South Easton, Civic League of Lee, Worcester Equal Franchise Club, Springfield Equal Franchise League, Florence Nightingale Club of Somerville, West Village Woman's Club of North Reading, Chatham Woman's Club, Merimac Woman's Club, West Medford Woman's Club, Wednesday Club of East Walpole, Quincy Federation of Women's Clubs. Three Clubs have withdrawn. The Federation is now composed of 284 clubs and 3 City Federations, with a total membership of 65,485.

The following amounts of stationery have been distributed to officers and Department chairmen; 6,400 letter sheets, 4,850 note sheets, 14,510 envelopes and 2,272 postal cards. The Bulletin which came into being during the past year will undoubtedly lessen the amount of stationery used, if its present success policy is continued. Your corresponding secretary has sent out 475 letters and 75 postal cards. She has distributed about $9,000 tickets for Federation meetings. Cards of invitation have been sent to past presidents of the Federation for all meetings, and to presidents of other State Federations for the annual meeting.

Grace Vose Hibbard, Corresponding Secretary.

Report of the Assistant Clerk.

The responsibilities of your assistant clerk for the past year have materially increased.

The material for the Manual was collected and compiled during the summer and in September twelve hundred copies were published. The preparation of the Manual is impeded by the failure of many clubs to return the list of questions correctly answered at the specified time.

In January the Executive Board decided to try the experiment for the remainder of the year of issuing a monthly Bulletin, containing announcements of all conferences and meetings to be held during the month. The assistant clerk has served as a member of the Publication Committee, her duties being to collect the material and attend to the distribution of the Bulletin.

Mabel R. Lufkin, Assistant Clerk.

Report of General Federation Secretary

During the past year the New Century Club of Needham and the West Roxbury Community Club have been admitted to membership in the General Federation; the Current Events Club of Hyde Park has been readmitted, and the International Kindergarten Union has applied for membership and been received, through the State of Massachusetts. Two clubs have withdrawn, the Boston Business Woman's League and the Boston Parliamentary Law Class.

The General Federation has gained during the last year 125 new clubs, all fine active organizations, living up to the highest principles of federation ideals. The Biennial Meeting next year will be held in New York City. The Local

Although Massachusetts has a large number of clubs in direct membership with the General Federation, yet there are still many that have not associated themselves with the national body. The strength and vigor of this national body depends, of course, on the number and vitality of the clubs composing it. Just as our State Federation depends on the value of the individual club.

It is from these great national meetings, we might say international meetings, where leaders in the woman's club movement from all parts of our own country and representatives from abroad gather to confer, to give out the benefit of their experiences, and to plan for greater action, that the delegates gain inspiration, courage to meet the home problems, and a breadth of vision which takes us out of our natural New England conservatism. We need this contact and the General Federation needs us. See if it can't be presented to the clubs for the consideration and let us have at the beginning of next season a long list of clubs eager to associate themselves with the great national organization of club workers in a movement, the like of which the world has never known.

Your Secretary would repeat the advice given by her predecessors: If any club is hesitating about joining, because of dues, so change your constitution as to add ten cents to your annual club dues, as General Federation dues, thus making the tax a true per capita tax.

Please bear in mind the fact that, according to the constitution of the General Federation, a club desiring membership and the right to be represented by delegates at the Biennial must have its application in the hands of the membership committee at least two months before the first day of the Biennial convention.

Lella C. Pennock, General Federation Secretary for Massachusetts.

Settlement Work

The Summer Settlement School which the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs has, since 1905, been carrying on in a remote little valley in the Big Smoky Mountains, opened for the Summer of 1914, the first of June. The teachers, under the leadership of Maryville College, Tenn., were, as usual, warmly welcomed by the people. The Social Service work of the Settlement has been a great blessing to the people. The teachers have visited in every home, however remote, and have entertained the people in the little three-room cottage built for their work. The homes, the school, the Sunday School and Church, they have been friends and helpers of all.

Four of the young people of the Valley have been at school at Maryville, having scholarships given by friends at the North. Two of the young people have taught public schools during the year in the Tennessee mountains. The school closed the middle of September.

Sara T. S. Leighton, Chairman.

Hospital Relief Work

On January 7, Dr. Brown-Landone of Paris, France, presented to the Executive Board of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs the great need for surgical dressings and anesthetics in the small hospitals of Northern France. A committee of three was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Royal Whiton, chairman; Mrs. Donald M. Blair and Miss Sophie M. Friedman. On January 16, plans were formulated with the result that fifty clubs volunteered their assistance. The committee received from the clubs $165.32, with which they purchased 400 pounds of chloroform, 200 packages of typhoid serum, 75 packages of tetanus antitoxin. The headquarters were open from January 16 to April 8, during which time the committee made and received from the clubs: 2,706 fracture pads, 1,472 dress or made the dressings, 3,596 "T" binders, 113,385 sponges, 5,144 inch bandages, 6,444 four inch bandages and 94,600 wipers.

These dressings with packages of absorbent cotton, absorbent gauze, old handkerchiefs, old napkins, blankets, etc., filled 36 cases containing 234,706 pieces. In five of these cases were sent sets of surgical instruments which were known would be most useful. These were contributed by club members. In each case was sent a personal note to the surgeon or nurse in charge of the hospital with words of sympathy from the Massachusetts club women, signed by the committee.

Everything necessary was sterilized, one of the clubs doing their own sterilizing, but much of it was done through the courtesy of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital and the Boston City Hospital.

The following suggestions are presented for consideration: The Prevention and Control of Tuberculosis may be greatly assisted by consulting the local and aiding in their enforcement, and by encouraging the District Nurse to treat the cases. By looking after the milk supply of your town and encouraging the mothers to have prenatal care are important agencies for the reduction of Infant Mortality. Co-operate with your school authorities so as to place all of your schools on a perfect sanitary and hygienic basis. Remember that the campaign of Social Hygiene is for the purpose of restricting the spread of social diseases among the innocent; that the great obstacle to prevention is ignorance. Hold meetings or classes for the instruction of parents, remembering that the home is the place for the

The cases were shipped April 8, by the Metropolitan Steamship Co. to New York City to Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, Chairman of the Surgical Dressings Committee, who looked after them from New York and sent them via S. S. Rochambeau to Paris, France, to the American Relief Clearing House, which distributed them to the hospitals.

Ella C. R. Whiton, Chairman.

Bureau of Information

This year the calls upon the Bureau of Information have increased nearly three times over those of last year, coming from as far west as the Connecticut Valley and as far east as the Maine Coast, not mentioning the other states in correspondence.

Clubs desiring assistance in framing by-laws may have the "By-Laws Guide" for five cents a copy. "The Outline Studies" of many countries are still available and also "The Old Day State Outline Study." Mrs. Adamowska of Cambridge has prepared an "Outline Study of Poland" her own country, which may also be obtained upon application.

All facts obtainable in regard to the women's club houses of Massachusetts have been collected and placed on file for the use of any club desiring them.

The Bureau appreciates the Year Books that have been sent and thanks the clubs for "programs that can be recommended" that were sent in response to the request published in the Bulletin.

Mrs. George F. Salisbury, Chairman.

Public Health

The activities of the Department embrace many phases of human welfare and it is its aim to offer suggestions and supply material for constructive work among the clubs in the prevention of disease and the promotion of health in their communities. Accordingly, early in the season a circular letter was sent to all Presidents of Federated Clubs, classifying working suggestions on the seven subdivisions of the subject, and in response to this letter 55 clubs report activity in one or more lines. The growing interest in the establishing of tuberculosis and school nurses is a most encouraging feature of the work. The committee strives to sustain in its preventive measures by either meeting with the clubs in conference or by furnishing speakers of authority on health subjects. Many clubs devote one meeting to a health program. During the year two Sectional Conferences and one State Conference have been held, the object of which is to promote a sane public opinion on matters of health and morals. Here distinguished physicians and sanitarians have treated their subjects from the viewpoint of community co-operation in preventative measures.

The work in Social Hygiene so earnestly supported by the Public Health Committee during the past eight years, has continued. Dr. Young has been engaged in educational and propaganda work among the women and girls of the state and has, in addition to many lectures before the clubs, given numerous courses of lectures in several private schools where young women are in training for teaching or for the duties of the home. There is every evidence to warrant the statement that this phase of education is to be incorporated into all school courses. The committee is in the practical training of young people.

An outline for a study course on the "Welfare of the Child from Birth to Six Years of Age," and on the child from six to fifteen was submitted to our department from the General Federation. This was printed and sent to all public health chairmen.

And now a word from the field. Nothing is more appreciated in the department than the replies received stating the work of the clubs. School nurses and school physicians have been installed. Baby clinics held each week have reduced infant mortality. Open Air School rooms have been established for 7th grade children followed by a demand for 6th and 8th grade rooms. Dental inspection is given and reduced prices for dentistry. Clubs which show constructive work report co-operation with Board of Health in protecting foods from disease carrying insects in stores where food is handled. Health talks which are open to the public have been given and care has been given to the babies whose mothers could not attend these lectures. Slides showing local health conditions were shown in two Moving Picture Theatres. Several clubs which have reported "No Activity" in the past are showing excellent work. We hope to place many on the Honor Roll the coming year and we recognize the commendable work which you have accomplished.

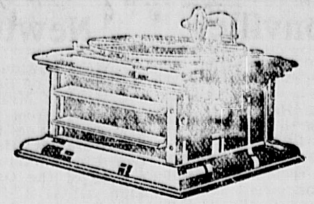

The Travelling Health Library, a collection of 60 books and over 100 pamphlets relating to Health, Sanitation, Right Thought, and Pure Thinking, has been on its mission of education in three of the Public Libraries of the State. It has been revised, new books and photographs have been added, and is ready for circulation.

Clubs are urged to devote at least one meeting during the club year to health subjects. Speakers of authority may be secured by applying to the Department.

The following suggestions are presented for consideration: The Prevention and Control of Tuberculosis may be greatly assisted by consulting the local and aiding in their enforcement, and by encouraging the District Nurse to treat the cases. By looking after the milk supply of your town and encouraging the mothers to have prenatal care are important agencies for the reduction of Infant Mortality. teaching of sex hygiene. Study the causes, prevention, and care of the mentally defective. Co-operate with your local and national agencies which are working to secure good moral condition both in cities and towns. Study the needs of your community for the prevention of disease. It is the sincere wish of the chairman that through the close connection which is being made between the Public Health Department and chairmen of clubs, that we may have an "esprit de corps" that will make for effective co-operation and lasting benefit.

Cupid's Sherlock Holmes.

A prominent alienist was presumed to put love on a scientific basis. He has issued a formula by which a doubting swain may ascertain without fall the name of his closest rival for "her" affections.

Here it is:
Carelessly hold "her" wrist, as if caressingly. Craftily place your forefinger on "her" pulse. Then name over in casual conversation the rivals you fear most. When you name the right one "her" pulse will jump scendalously. If it increases something like 100 beats you might as well quit the race.

To offset this mean betrayal the alienist has issued some hints to the fair sex on how to avoid nervousness.
"Scorn gossip," he says, "and don't attend to other persons' business or worry over their troubles and you will be all right."

But he doesn't say a word as to how Dulcinea might have kept the fatal pulse jump from giving her away.—

Grecian Food For Dreamers.

Hasheesh, the strange drug which has given our language its word "assassin"—a man so frenzied by the drug that he accomplishes murder—is used by the Persians, Turks and Egyptians.
It is the product of a plant growing in large quantities in the Peloponnese (southern Greece), in the district about Tripolitza. The plant grows to a height of about four feet, and its branches are thickly covered with small leaves and studded with tiny seeds. The entire plant, stalk and branches, is cut within a few inches of the root and laid out in the sun to dry.
The branches are then rubbed to separate the seeds, and these in turn are ground into a fine powder, which constitutes the drug. The drug has the power of inducing sleep and producing pleasant and fantastic dreams. Continued use of hasheesh renders its devoted reckless and results in a wreck of their mental and physical constitution.

Fame of a Tailor.

The name of Captain Kenney has a secure niche in history as the founder of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company. He was a merchant tailor and had been a member of the Honorable Artillery company of London, and his Boston company had to overcome the opposition of Governor Winthrop, who feared the establishment of a Pre-torian guard. Perhaps Kenney would have failed entirely had he not been "distinguished for his piety and benevolence." In the practice of his art as a tailor he ran foul of the laws for the regulation of business and was fined $200 by the great and general court for exacting more than sixpence in the shilling profit on foreign goods. He died in Boston March 23, 1656, and his will, in which was a substantial bequest to Harvard, is one of the longest on record.—New York Sun.

A Dyak War Yell.

I was anxious to hear a Dyak war yell, and I asked the rajah to get a native to give vent to one of these sounds of gratification, heard when heads are taken by Dyaks without loss to themselves. A curious falsetto sound is issued from his lips. It went higher and higher, louder and louder, something between the crowing of a cock and the whistle of a steam engine, and then it died down into a whisper. Two or three times he repeated this performance, which greatly interested me. It was not so terrible as I had imagined it must be, but the rajah explained that when heard in a chorus of thousands of men, all yelling at once, as he had heard it after successful skirmishes with the pirates, it was a most terrifying experience, and froze the blood in one's veins.—Wide World Magazine.

An Old Time Joker.

It happened that Dean Swift, having been dining at some little distance from Laracor, his residence, was returning home on horseback in the evening, which was very dark. Just before he reached a neighboring village his horse lost a shoe. Unwilling to run the risk of laming the animal by continuing his ride in that direction, he stopped at one Kelly's, the blacksmith of the village, where, having called the man, he asked him if he could shoe a horse with a candle.
"No," replied the son of Vulcan, "but I can with a hammer."

Lingering Leave Taking.

The visiting lady had kept her hostess at the open door fully half an hour saying goodby. Finally an irate masculine voice indoors called out:
"Say, Maria, if you're going out, go;
if you're staying, stay, but for heaven's sake don't ooze out!"—Harper's Magazine.

Ought to Have Leaked Out.

"Isn't it strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"
"Yes, but it's stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the men who discovered it must have told it to their wives."—Philadelphia Press.

Just So.

"Do you think that marriage is a lottery?"
"Can't say I do. Still, everybody who marries takes a chance."—Kansas City Journal.

Idleness is many gathered miseries in one name.

The Greater Courage.

Men have offered up their lives by the thousands upon the field of battle, but in the struggle for existence woman is continually offering up her life for man. If there is a mission of mercy to perform she undertakes it. If there is suffering or distress to succor her willing hand is always ready. If wretchedness and misery need a comforter she is present. The faintest whisper of pain brings her as a pilgrim to its couch, and in the chamber of death she takes her place, assuming the hopeless sufferer with the comforting assurance that there is a home beyond the grave free from the agony of pain.
She suffers herself without a murmur or complaint, and the man that would in the slightest degree add to it and increase the anguish that it is her lot to bear is beneath the level of the brute.
If she should happen to possess defects and faults, which every human being has in a greater or less degree, let him compare them with her virtues,
and especially with her vices, and every impulse of his better being will prompt him to overlook them and make due allowance therefor.—Isidor Rayner.

Belgium's Postman.

A Belgian who has money owing to him often hands the account to his postman, who passes it through the office, to be presented to the debtor in whatever locality the latter may reside, and if payment be made the creditor receives it from his postman on the following day, with but a trifling deduction for commission.

As to newspapers, almost all regular subscribers to a journal pay their money to a postman, and two or three days before the subscription expires that official presents the notice for the renewal of the subscription during a fresh term.

All this makes of the Belgian postman a kind of ambulating general agency and bank of deposit, and the man is obliged to have a desk slung in front of him and to carry a locked and chained portfolio under his arm for valuables, but he gets through his work satisfactorily, because his rounds are short.—Pearson's Weekly.

Why Do Seals Swallow Stones?

No nature student seems yet to have discovered for what reason seals swallow stones, though the fact is a well established one. Certainly the stones are not taken in for ballast, for the empty seals keep down as easily as the others. They are not swallowed for the purpose of grinding up food, for they are found in the stomachs of nursing pups. They are not taken in with the food because they are found in the stomachs of both young seals and in those that live in the open sea and feed on squid. Yet it is evident that these things are not swallowed haphazard, but are selected with considerable care from the articles strewn along the shore, and that a preference is exhibited for rounded objects. This is shown by the fact that, as a rule, only articles of one kind are found in any one seal's stomach.

The Night Writers.

Writers who habitually work at night,
and all night, frequently get strange nervous fancies. Huxley said, "When I am working at night I not only hear burglars moving about, but I actually see them looking through the crack in the door at me!"

Wilkie Collins was a habitual night worker until he was frightened out of it by the appearance of another Wilkie Collins, who sat down at the table with him and tried to monopolize the desk.
There was a struggle, and the ink-stand was upset. When the real Wilkie Collins came to himself, sure enough, the ink was running over the writing table, proof enough of a struggle.
After that Mr. Collins gave up night work.

On Business Bent.

"Can you make me a sheet iron mandolin?"
"I might, but it wouldn't have much tone. What do you want of a sheet-iron mandolin, anyhow?"
"I'm trying to serenade a girl, and they have a bulldog. I've busted several instruments on him. Next time I smash him I want to smash him good."
—Kansas City Journal.

Oh, That's Different!

"I thought you told me that you would not contract any new debts without my knowledge," howled Mr.
Gabb as he tore up a bunch of dunning letters.

"I haven't, my dear," replied Mrs.
Gabb. "I merely expanded some of the old debts."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Cherry Wood.

Cherry is the wood most used as a backing for the metal plates from which illustrations are printed in magazines and periodicals. It is chosen above all others because it holds its shape, does not warp or twist, works smoothly and does not split.

Handicapped.

Dr. Curren—You will find your dyspepsia greatly alleviated, Mr. Peck, by cheerful and agreeable conversation at your meals. Mr. Peck—That's good advice, doc, but my income will not permit me to eat away from home.—

Mr. William H. Rice, chairman of the school committee announced that the scholarship of $150 given by the Newton Centre Woman's Club had been awarded to Miss Madeline C. Everett of Newton Upper Falls and the George H. May scholarship of $250 at the Mass. M. I. T. had been awarded to Mr. Walter C. Roberts of Chestnut Hill.

After the benediction the boys of the class gave the school cheer for the various teachers and for the school. After the graduation exercises the senior class were entertained in the school gymnasium at a spread given by the juniors.

The annual class party was held last evening on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden on Albemarle road, West Newton.

The beautiful estate was attractively illuminated with Japanese lanterns and there were games and dancing. The class prophecy was read by Miss Priscilla Williams and Mr. Clarence Chapin gave the class statistics.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Next Sunday afternoon, June 27th, at five o'clock, there will be an open air service on the Y. M. C. A. grounds to which all are invited. Rev. Abraham J. Muste of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, will speak and special music will be rendered by an orchestra from the Methodist Church, Newton, under the leadership of Mrs. A. S. Flinn. If a good crowd attends other meetings will be held.

The baseball team plays on Saturday, June 26th, at three o'clock. All the games have been close and very interesting this year. Chairs are provided for ladies and gentlemen. A charge of 15 cents is made to help pay the expenses of getting good teams to come to Newton. If those interested in good baseball games will attend the games and help in the expenses teams playing first class baseball will be brought here.

The first round of the Tennis Tournament has been played. The survivors are Hutton, Smith, Chase, Ellison, Cadbury, Lewis and Kepner. A business men's tournament will soon be started. In the Boys' Tournament P. Horn and E. Woodworth will meet in the finals this week.

The courts, which are in fine condition, are used almost constantly. In the early morning the dormitory men play from five to seven. The younger members play in the morning and early afternoon. The business men begin at five and play till dusk.

Many boys and young men are learning to swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool. Private instruction is given where desired but daily practice makes perfect and ability to take care of oneself in the water is an art which may enable you not only to save your own life in case of accident but to help someone else out of danger.

CHILDREN'S DAY EXERCISES

The Children's Exercises on Sunday afternoon in the Newton Methodist Church completed one of the best years of Sunday School work, in the history of the church.

The auditorium of the church was entirely filled and the excellent program was under the direction of Mr. Frank G. Barber, superintendent of the Sunday School, assisted by the School Orchestra under the direction of Miss Clemens Pollard and the Boys' Choir under the leadership of Mr. Bertha Carter Flynn.

The exercises opened with an organ prelude, "Barcarolle," and song review, followed by the Invocation by Rev. G. Charles Gray, the minister. An anthem, "Praise Ye the Father," was sung by the Boys' Choir.

The exercises by the primary department included, "Welcome," by Alfred Allen, Jr.; "We Will Sing and We'll Praise Him," by Elliston Bell, Jr.; "Kingsley Church and Arthur Clarke, 'Happy Day is Here Again,' by Dorothy Curran; "One Better," by Olive Clarke; "This is Children's Day," by Edith Hawkins, Elizabeth Whitcomb and Doris Reed; "The Best Day of All," by Wilfred Wetherbee; "Flower Bells," by Jean MacLennan; Chorus, "Little Birds, Sweet Carols Sing," "Children's Day the Best," by Arthur Clarke; "We'll Shine Our Brightest," by William and Elizabeth Sweet; "Little Lamb," by Phyllis Allen; "Recitation," Earle Wallace; Solo and Chorus, "We Will Follow All the Way," solo by Eloise Barber; "As I Pass Along," by Herman Thompson; solo, "I Think When I Read that Sweet Story of Old," by Donald T. Cunningham; "A Garland of Flowers," by Mrs. Leonard's class; contralto solo, "Sancta Maria," by Mrs. Bertha Carter Flynn. Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., gave an interesting address, and the program closed with the Organ Postlude, "Chorale."

PLEASANT SURPRISE

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Littlefield were pleasantly surprised on Tuesday evening when a party of Newton friends called on them at their home in Dorchester. The friends were equally surprised to learn on their arrival, that Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield were receiving congratulations on the recent birth of a daughter, Grace Eleanor Littlefield.

It proved a very enjoyable social occasion and refreshments were served by the hosts. Mrs. Littlefield was formerly Miss Ethel Payzant and was employed at the W. B. Wolcott office on Elmwood street, Newton.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT ELIOT CHURCH

A service of special note was held Sunday at the Children's Day celebration at Eliot Church, Newton, at which the Seventieth Anniversary of the Sunday School was also observed. The order of worship opened with the Organ Prelude "Aspiration," by Mr. Everett E. Truette, organist and choirmaster at the church, followed by the Processional Hymn, "Honor the Lord," was rendered by the quartet, composed of Miss Josephine Knight, soprano; Mrs. Adelaide Griggs Bowman, contralto; Mr. J. Garfield Stone, tenor and Mr. Frederick W. Cutter, bass, after which there was a Baptismal Chant and the following children were presented for baptism: Robert Osborn Fernald, William Dana Follett, Jr., Margaret Howes, Doris Rivett Lockwood, Bessie Lee Orr, John Powell Orr, Isabelle Powell Orr, Isabella May Pelton, Walter Francis Pelton, Adelaide Pelton, James Lyle Spates, Marian Eva Spates, Caroline Gwynholme Stewart, Harvey Vincent Williamson, Helen Van Buskirk, George Edward Van Buskirk.

Prizes for committing Bible verses were awarded to Margaret Fitts, Kindergarten; Mabel Williamson, primary, and Muriel Bowes, Main School. Bibles were presented to Joseph Malcolm Briggs, Virginia Chapin Emery, Ralph Harwood Hayes, Mary Ruggles Heard, Stanley Currier Marchant, Bessie Lee Orr, Isabella May Pelton, James Lyle Spates, Helen Spurrier, Elizabeth Miller Woodbury and Sarah Rennison Wright.

Miss Josephine Knight sang a soprano solo, and songs by the primary department followed the presentation of diplomas. The following children received diplomas: Dorothy Louise Allen, Gliman Angier, Lois Winchester Cone, Floyd Gordon Cormack, Howard Porter Fitts, Nelson Welan Gallagher, Beatrice Jenkins, Kenneth Everhard Kepner, Elizabeth Huse Leeds, Robert Thayer Person, Charlotte Frances Towle, Ella Gertrude Wilder and Robert Eugene Worden.

A very interesting address entitled, "Seventy Years of Eliot Sunday School," was given by the pastor, Rev. H. Grant Person, and the service closed with the Organ Postlude, "Fantasia in C Minor."

An especially attractive program was printed for the occasion by the Newton Graphic Press, which contained a Historical Sketch of great interest, pictures of the church; the first meeting-house dedicated July 1, 1845 and costing $7,791. It was burned Oct. 8, 1873. The second meeting-house dedicated April 4, 1861, and built at a cost of $50,900, which was also destroyed by fire on January 16, 1887. The present handsome edifice, which cost $187,967, and was dedicated May 30th, 1889. The program also contained lists of the various ministers installed at Eliot Church since 1845, and superintendents of the Sunday School.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mrs. Willard L. Sampson entertained a company of guests on Friday evening at her residence on Tremont street, Newton, the occasion being an informal celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Atkins of Newton.

The rooms were very attractively decorated with June roses, and Mr. and Mrs. Atkins were showered with congratulations, gifts and beautiful flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkins were married at Troy, Massachusetts, on June 18th, 1865, by Rev. Dr. A. H. Newton, and they have been residents of Newton for many years.

The affair was delightfully social, and guests were present from Boston, Somerville and the Newtons.

CLOSING EXERCISES

The Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association held its closing exercises on Thursday afternoon, June 17th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max H. Haase on Walnut street, Newtonville. A program of exceptional excellence was presented by the students, which included works by the noted composers, Wagner, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Lischitzky, Bach, Beethoven and Grieg. A prize for the highest average was presented to Miss Hazel Cunningham, who has been assistant to Miss Douglas for the past two years. To Miss Mary Barry and Miss Ruth Parlin were awarded the prizes for the second highest average. Honorable mention was made of the Misses Helen Dodge, Harriette Patey, Wallace Richmond, Elsa Haase, Eleanor Martin and Esther Stiles.

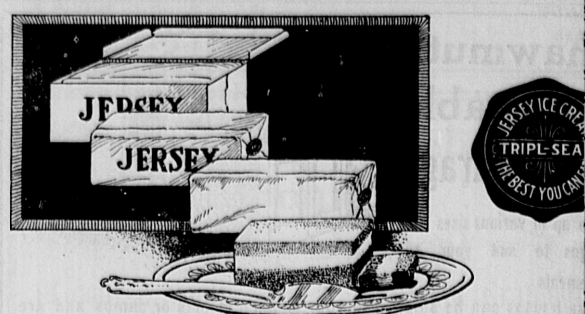

Musical games followed the program; they were planned by the Social Committee, Mrs. Haase, Miss Douglas, Miss Barry, Miss Gertrude Barry and Elsa Haase.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Haase and Miss Douglas. There was a large attendance and the afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The Young Musicians Club voted to send their money to the Floating Hospital and Mrs. Parlin and Miss Ruth Parlin were chosen to take it to the office.
